Big Air Force Voted By Senate Unit, 16-1; Floor Action Today

Truman Overriden On 3.1 Billion Program to Build U. S. War Planes

By John G. Norris
Post Reporter

Backers of an all-powerful Air Force won a crucial victory on Capitol Hill yesterday as the Senate Appropriations Committee approved a $3,198,100,000 plane - building program.

By a vote of 16 to 1, the group overrode the recommendations of President Truman and Defense Secretary Forrestal and accepted the full sum allowed by the House for modernization of American air power.

It will provide funds for some 4200 Air Force and Navy warplanes and tool up aircraft factories for further production of new-type airplanes.

Ultimately, by the early 1950s, the fully expanded 70-group Air Force program indorsed by the group will cost about 7½ billions annually—2½times present USAF appropriations.

The big aircraft spending bill will be sped to the Senate floor today. Unless some Senator objects, it will be called up immediately.

Speedy Action Planned

Chairman Styles Bridges (R., N. H.) said the measure will, in effect, give Congressional approval to the 70-group Air Force program and start modernizing our existing plane squadrons.

Senators, he said, carefully considered the prospect that Congress may soon receive a big military lend-lease program for Western Europe, but voted the additional planes anyway.

"We considered them essential," he said. "In view of the critical international situation, we decided we could not afford to gamble with the safety and security of the country."

Backers of the plane program hope to obtain Senate approval today and rush the bill to the White House early next week. If President Truman approves it, orders for new jet and other aircraft can be launched immediately.

Senator Green Opposes Plan

Only Senator Theodore F. Green (D., R. I.) voted against the additional 822 million dollars to start building the 70-group air program. That was the sum added by the House above the President's budget estimates for plane procurement.

Mr. Truman and Secretary Forrestal had opposed the extra 822 million dollars in contractual authority now on the ground it was starting a huge aircraft building program—the ultimate cost of which might upset the economic condition of the Nation.

Congressional air power advocates—backed by Air Force Secretary W. Stuart Symington and USAF chiefs—argued it is vital to start building an all-powerful air armada now. Otherwise, said Symington, it will not be ready by the early '50s when Russia may have the atomic bomb.

Truman Accepts Compromise

Earlier in the day, President Truman announced he had accepted the compromise Senate plan blending the draft and universal military training—as reported yesterday morning in The Washington Post.

The President revealed that he is going along with the modification somewhat reluctantly, but is indorsing it as the best tplan to build trained reserves that can be hoped for at this time.

Mr. Truman has been a staunch backer of the full UMT program, which would train all teen-age youths in special military camps for six months. Thereafter they would enter the National Guard, ROTC, or other reserve.

But Congress has not viewed the

Safeguards Promised for Witnesses On Gambling

Names of Those Appearing Before Grand Jury Will Be Kept Secret

By Murrey Marder
Post Reporter

Special efforts will be made to safeguard the identity of witnesses who go before the grand jury which will be impaneled May 17 to probe Washington gambling.

United States District Attorney George Morris Fay, who called for the investigation of what he described as a 100-million-dollar-a-year racket here, said, "We will do everything we can to protect witnesses."

Names of witnesses summoned before the special grand jury will not be disclosed, said Fay. This has been the practice in some past grand jury probes.

The District Jury Commission today will draw the names of 100 persons from its jury lists. From this venire of 100, 23 jurors will be selected on May 17 when the probe begins.

Fay said yesterday that he could not disclose any other aspect of the investigation beyond what he announced on Wednesday. Commenting on one report yesterday that there may be attempts to keep the names of the jurors secret, he said that would not be possible.

Members of Police Lieut. Roy Blick's vice squad yesterday afternoon made their first numbers raid since the grand jury probe was announced, arresting three men, one a Maryland resident.

Police said that undercover men placed numbers bets in a grocery store at 1526 15th st. nw., using marked money.

Later, at 2 p. m., three members of the vice squad entered the grocery while two customers were making purchases, and arrested Kenneth W. Lawson, 38, of 1429 52nd ave., Hillside, Md., Oscar Whitfield, 27, of 1513 Church st. nw., and David Lewis, 35, of 219 Upshur st. nw.

Lawson was described by police as a "pick-up man," and Lewis was said to be the owner of the grocery. All three were released in $1500 bond for appearance in Municipal Court today.

Police here have maintained that headquarters for the gambling rackets are in Maryland and Virginia. The special grand jury will have power to summon witnesses from both these States.

Fihelly's Auto Number Pays Off Wednesday

Wednesday's payoff in the numbers racket—on 760—had ironic interest for Assistant United States Attorney John W. Fihelly. It's his license number. No, said Fihelly to reporters with a smile, he hadn't played it.

Truman Expected To Ask Arms Aid For ERP Nations

By the United Press

President Truman will ask Congress in a special message early next week for limited shipments of American arms to the 16 Marshall Plan nations, informed sources reported last night.

He will ask Congress to indorse a limited program of lend-lease shipments for countries now participating in the European Recovery Program, including the five powers who recently signed a "western union" mutual defense pact, it was said.

Contents of the message are a closely guarded Administration secret.

First reports were that the program, described as "military insurance" for the huge ERP investment, would pledge American guns, planes and tanks for the "western union" of Britain, Frace, Belgium, Luxembourg and the Netherlands.

But authoritative sources said later that other ERP countries would be included.

During Taft-Hartley Deba...

Supreme Court Calm Shaken By Clash With U. S. Lawyer

By Dillard Stokes
Post Reporter

Supreme Court debate over the Taft-Hartley Act wound up yesterday in an angry clash that left the audience gasping with surprise and shock.

Justice Frankfurter charged the Justice Department with conniving to rush the case before the high court. Chief Justice Vinson cut Frankfurter off in the middle of a question, by telling CIO Counsel Lee Pressman his time was up.

It was not clear whether Frankfurter meant to charge the Justice Department with pulling its punches, or just with rigging the case to get a decision when there was no real dispute. But Prosecutor Jesse Climenko of New York understood he was being accused of one or the other.

As Pressman turned away from the bar, Climenko leaped to his feet. He was pale and quivering.

"Your time has expired," the Chief Justice told him.

"I wish to say a few words, . . ." Climenko began, in a cold, tense voice.

The Chief Justice began to redden. He leaned forward.

"Your time has expired, sir," he said again.

Climenko drew himself up.

"I deplore the accusation . . ." he began.

Bang!

The Chief Justice brought down his gavel, which he almost never uses.

"Your time has expired," he said a third time.

Climenko shrugged, and turned away. Others of the Justice Department staff hurried him out of the courtroom.

As they withdrew, Vinson called the next case, a Government appeal of an antitrust ruling involving the Columbia Steel Co. Counsel in this case made their way to the bar, and things calmed down.

Such scenes do not happen every day in any court. In the solemn Supreme Court, they are practically unheard of. Few who saw the outburst yesterday ever had seen anything like it there.

Climenko still was trembling 10 minutes later. He told The Washington Post that what he wanted to say to the justices was this:

"I deplore the day when such a suggestion can be made, the suggestion that the Justice Department has been a party to any kind of prearrangement. We worked unstintingly to prepare for this case. We worked around the clock. And the Justice Department has proceeded in this case in the ordinary way."

The case that touched off the clash yesterday began last June 23,

Oleo Repeal Facing Bitter Senate Fight

Foes Hope to Shelve Bills in Committee; Farm Bloc Split Seen

By John W. Ball
Post Reporter

Repeal of taxes on margarine, which passed the House Wednesday, 260 to 107, is heading into a bitter fight in the Senate, early skirmishing indicated yesterday.

In the face of demands by dairy interests that the bill be referred to the Agriculture Committee, proponents of repeal yesterday were preparing to insist upon its going to the Finance Committee.

A bill identical to the Rivers bill that passed the House was introduced early in the session by Senator J. William Fulbright (D., Ark.). It was referred to the Finance Committee. Last December Chairman Eugene D. Millikin (R., Colo.) reported to Fulbright that because it was a tax measure his committee could not act on it until the House had taken action. All revenue measures must originate in the House.

Other Measures Filed

Other measures to repeal margarine taxes offered in the Senate by Senators Burnet R. Maybank (D., S. C.) and Olin D. Johnston (D., S. C.) also were referred to the Finance Committee.

Supporters of repeal will argue that a precedent has been established for consideration of such measures by that committee. They fear that if the Agriculture Committee gets the measure it may table it as the House Agriculture Committee tabled the original Rivers bill. The House got to vote on the measure only through the unusual procedure of obtaining the necessary 218 signatures to a petition to discharge the Agriculture Committee from consideration of the bill.

Meantime farm leaders expressed concern over the wide-open split the fight on the margarine bill has caused in the farm bloc in the House and fear a similar result in the Senate.

Fear for Farm Legislation

They fear that this split may endanger other farm legislation. They foresee the bitter butter bloc among Northern Republicans joining city members to cut price supports on cotton and peanuts, both ingredients of margarine, in retaliation.

If such a development should

Bill to Admit 200,000 DPs Sent to House

Judiciary Committee Approval Ends Long Deadlock on Measure

A melting pot bill that would let 200,000 displaced Europeans come to the United States was approved by a House committee yesterday and sent to the House for action.

The Judiciary Committee vote broke a long deadlock over the issue. At one point it considered a bill supported by President Truman to let in 400,000 in four years.

Yesterday's measure would admit 200,000 over a two-year period and charge them to future immigration quotas in their native countries.

It also would also 15,000 displaced persons now in the United States to stay here permanently.

The new immigrants would be broken down into three priority classes:

1. Farm laborers; doctors and dentists; medical nurses; household, construction, clothing and such workers; or persons possessing educational, scientific or technological qualifications.

2. Aliens who are blood relatives of American citizens or aliens who have been lawfully admitted to the United States.

3. All other eligible aliens.

The resettlement program would be managed by a $10,000 a year coordinator and an advisory board to be named by the President later.

The Senate Judiciary Committee has approved a bill to admit 100,000 DPs in two years.

Dutch Reported To Have Created Eight New States

Lake Sucess, April 29 (AP). The Dutch were reported today by a responsible delegation source to have created or started eight new states in the Netherlands East Indies.

He said this was in violation of the Renville truce agreement, arranged under United Nations auspices in January.

This source said the Dutch hope to control the whole area through these small states, which could outvote the republic of Indonesia in the proposed United States of Indonesia.

Earlier in the day the Republic of Indonesia charged here that the Dutch are violating the agreement.

Jaffa Truce Halts Battle For Parley

British Arrange Conference Today After Attack on Jewish Invaders

Jerusalem, April 29 (AP).—A cease-fire agreement halted fighting in Jaffa tonight after British artillery and planes counter-attacked Jewish warriors who had driven into the all-Arab city.

British District Commissioner W. W. Fuller proposed the truce to initiate a meeting between the Jews and the British for Friday morning. The cease-fire order is to continue in force until 9 a. m.

[The United Press said 20 Jews were known to be killed and at least 60 wounded in the last few hours of fighting at Jaffa. The United Press quoted an official police report as saying 26 Arabs were killed and 94 wounded. A United Press correspondent said, except for the violent fighting at Jaffa, events were following the same pattern that won Haifa for the Jews—attack, truce and victory.]

British Pound Manshieh

Until noon today British six-pounders and mortars hammered Jaffa's riddled Manshieh quarter, which was taken by the Jews yesterday after four days of fighting against Arabs.

During the shelling, the Jews, members of Irgun Zvai Leumi, gave every indication that they were determined to hold the ground they had won in their drive from neighboring Tel Aviv. Irgun brought up fresh troops and had its men dig defense positions.

The British also called reinforcements, sending in a battalion of Irish Fusiliers to back up their previously announced pledge not to allow the Jews to take Jaffa, a city of 95,000.

A Haganah commander said the British also convoyed armed Arab reinforcements into the city.

A high Jewish authority said the British military now was inclined to favor withdrawal of British forces from the city if the Jews content themselves with gains already made. The informant said the Palestine government, on the other hand, was insisting that Jews be cleared from all Jaffa.

Jewish Militia Balks

The Jewish militia, Haganah, rejected Irgun's suggestion that it advance its former gunpost line and take up new positions in the captured Manshieh quarter.

The planes which the British sent into today's fighting apparently were employed on reconnaissance missions. There was no indication they had dropped bombs or fired.

Arab countries were reported continuing preparations to invade Palestine with regular army troops.

Regent Abdul Ilah of Iraq said in Amman, Transjordan, that Iraq troops had started to move

Engineers Join in Rail Strike Call

Truman, Federal Mediators Hope To Ward Off Tieup Scheduled May 11

Chicago, April 29 (AP).—The vital engineers' union joined in the May 11 Nation-wide railroad strike call today as Federal mediators moved to ward off a paralyzing transportation tie-up.

The Brotherhood of Locomotive Engineers held aloof yesterday when two operating unions—the firemen and enginemen, and the switchmen—announced the strike call. Leaders of the Engineers' Brotherhood said they had not yet decided "when and if" they would call a strike.

Late today, after the National Railway Mediation Board had held two conferences with the unions, J. P. Shields, vice president of the Engineers' Brotherhood, announced the strike plans.

Will Act Jointly

The three unions, Shields said, will act jointly. Notices were mailed immediately to all general and local chairmen of the three unions. Workers were instructed to leave their jobs at 6 a. m. (local time), May 11.

"I have no doubt that the dispute can be settled without a strike, but that depends on the other people," Shields told newsmen. "There has been no change in our demands."

The Engineers Brotherhood claims 80,000 members, the Brotherhood of Locomotive Firemen and Enginemen, 100,000, and the Switchmen's Union, 10,000.

Working against time, Chairman Frank Douglass of the Mediation Board plunged into a round of conferences he hopes will bring about an eleventh hour compromise.

Truman Voices Hope

Expressions of optimism came from two quarters:

President Truman told a news conference in Washington he thought and hoped the wage dispute could be settled without a strike.

The Chicago parleys appear to be the last remaining hope for averting a work stoppage that could bring much of the Nation's economy to a standstill in a matter of hours.

The unions and railroads have exhausted all other peace steps provided by the National Railway Labor Act. The Taft-Hartley Act, which provides the Government can seek injunctions to halt economy-threatening strikes, does not apply in railroad cases.

Seizure Powers Expired

President Truman moved to have the Army take over operation of the railroads during a two-day tie-up in 1946, but his wartime seizure powers since have expired.

Douglass, after two separate meetings with the unions, said "the time spent has been very productive of opportunities out of which we finally may get a settlement." The unions, he said, were "very conciliatory in discussing their problems," but added that both sides are "hard traders."

The board chairman will meet tomorrow with representatives of the railroads.

Medical Society Report

Children's Home Described As 'Black Hole of Calcutta'

Children aged 12 to 17 live a drab, laughterless life in a "black hole of Calcutta" at the Children's Reeciving Home, the District Medical Society declared yesterday in a scorching report.

It said all inmates, ranging from infants to 18, are housed in a "fire trap." They have a poor diet and inadequate medical care, staff, educational facilities, and recreation. Segregation of delinquents from innocent children is practically nonexistent, the report declared.

The committee of physicians noted that "incredible as it may seem," inmates appeared "reasonably happy and contest, simply but adequately clothed, clean and orderly," but many also "appeared rather subdued and frustrated."

The inspection was made March 10. At that time the home had a capacity of 60 children and 131 occupants. Last night it had the same capacity and 100 inmates. It is located at 5200 Little Falls rd. nw.

Particularly shocking to the investigators were conditions among the adolescent children aged 12 to 17. One member described it as the "black hole" because 50 to 60 milled around one room 30 by 30 feet whcih was used for recreation. Last night there were 42 in that building.

Commissioner Guy Mason, upon receiving the report with photographic evidence, declared conditions are "better than two years ago."

Mason said that conditions would be ameliorated by completion of the new receiving home which is being built at Mount Olivet road near Corcoran st. ne. The building will house 43 children and is expected to be completed July 1. Occupancy is expected in August.

The committee declared the small staff under Superintendent William Stavsky "is doing a credible job with inadequate tools in an environment apparently devoid of enthusiasm and handicapped by lack of clear-cut objectives."

Typical of what they found was among one group of 14 infants, aged two and three, who "sat on a bench or wandered about more or less aimlessly" during the inspection. There was "very little noise, crying, laughter or the commotion usually associated with a group of healthy children." They were being cared for by an adolescent girl, a delinquent.

A 10-year-old boy was found digging a gutter with an oversize shovel. He "was quite satisfied" with life at the home. That, he explained, was because he gets "plenty to eat" and "enjoys the food."

Apparently the happiest children were three boys shovelling coal. "They laughed and talked with more spontaneity than the Committee had observed among others during the tour."

It was the first inspection by the committee recently organized to examine medical care in Washington institutions. Others are to be made soon. Chairman of the Committee is Dr. Maurice A. Selinger. Others are Drs. Leslie H. Franch, A. Clagett Gray, James N. Greear, jr., Carolyn H. S. Pincock and J. Ross Veal.

President Signs DST Bill

District and Most of Area To Set Clocks Ahead Sunday

The District will go on daylight saving time at 2 a. m. Sunday.

Alexandria and Arlihgton in Virginia and Montgomery and Prince Georges Counties in Maryland will adopt DST simultaneously. Fairfax County, Va., is expected to go on fast time after a county board meeting Wednesday.

The Commissioners ordered the change for the District late yesterday afternoon after President Truman signed the DST bill passed by Congress Wednesday. It authorizes daylight time here only for this summer.

Clocks will be advanced one hour at 2 a. m. Sunday, the city heads ordered. DST will remain in effect until September 26, when clocks "shall be returned to the standard time now applicable to the District of Columbia," they said.

R. N. Loughborough, Fairfax County executive secretary, said no action on DST has been taken by the county but that the county board of supervisors is expected to approve fast time at a meeting Wednesday.

Vice Mayor George K. Bender of Alexandria, Va., said the city will make the switch simultaneously with the District as provided in a resolution passed by the city council Tuesday.

In Montgomery County, County Superintendent I. G.McNayr said DST will go into effect there at 2 a. m. Sunday. The county commission adopted a formal resolution several weeks ago to that effect.

William A. Carson, chairman of the Prince Georges County Board of Commissioners, said the county will "follow through" on a resolution adopted Tuesday to adopt DST whenever the District does.

Arlington County also will follow suit, as voted at the last county board meeting, County Manager A. T. Lundberg said. Official verification will be obtained from the District Commissioners today, he said.

CIO Textile Union Opposes Wallace Party

Resolution Follows Murray Charge That Reds Were Founders

Special Dispatch to The Post

Atlantic City, N. J., April 29.—CIO United Textile Workers, who yesterday heard the charge that Communists founded the third party, today approved a resolution opposing the presidential candidacy of Henry Wallace.

The resolution said that Wallace would not carry a single State, but that his candidacy might insure the election of a reactionary Republican President and an antilabor Congress.

Yesterday, CIO President Philip Murray stated flatly to the Textile Workers convention that the third party movement was inaugurated at a Communisty Party meeting in New York City, in October 1947.

He said the Communist Party was "directly responsible" for the third party movement. He declined to give further details.

Murray, who returned to his Pittsburgh office today, could not be reached for an expansion of his charge. But a close associate of his there, asked to comment on his remarks, said:

"Phil wasn't guessing."

The conviction today heard the CIO's political action director, Jack Kroll, cast aside President Truman as well as Wallace as a candidate.

Kroll said the CIO is looking

UPWA Is Hit By House in Anti-Red Rider

Pay Barred to Union Members if Officers Haven't Signed Oath

By the United Press

The House yesterday voted $969,050,000 for the Federal Security Agency for fiscal 1949, but tacked on a rider barring pay to any employe belonging to a union whose officers do not sign anti-Communist affidavits.

The roll call vote was 271 to 35.

The anti-Red rider was admittedly directed at the United Public Workers of America (CIO), and in particular at its chief, Abram Flaxer. It is the one big union of Government workers whose leaders have refused to sign non-Communist affidavits under the Taft-Hartley law.

Representative Frank B. Keefe (R., Wis.), author of the rider, said he wanted to force the union members to change their leaders.

The measure, which now goes to the Senate, also orders a merger July 1 of the United States Em-

No Compromise on Full-Term Atomic Officials, Truman Says

By Alfred Friendly
Post Reporter

President Truman yesterday committed himself to a strong "no compromise" policy on the long-term reappointments of the five Atomic Energy Commission members.

At the same time, he inferred that Senate opposition to the confirmation of the commissioners was a piece of Republican politics.

Mr. Truman's views on the matter were issued at his news confeernce in a sharply worded statement. He acted after opposition developed to the reappointments which he sent to the Senate on April 20, and after suggestions were made there that the law be amended so that the commissioners' present terms be extended only one or two years.

"There must be "no uncertainty in the continuity of the experienced leadership" in the American atomic energy work, he said.

Failure to confirm the present commissioners in new, staggered, one-to-five-year terms, would "restore the pall of uncertainty" which once marked atomic affairs, he declared.

The reference was to the period from the surrender of Japan until the spring of last year when the Senate, after bitter controversy, confirmed the present members in their initial appointments. These expire next August 1.

Since the commissioners have been in office, Mr. Truman said, they have been "diligent" in performing their work and made "real progress" in all phases of the program.

The idea of revising the law to give the five-year men new appointments for only one or two years "would have an adverse effect on the urgent business of pushing ahead our knowledge and

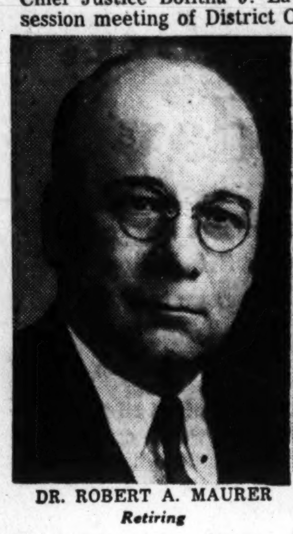
Attorney Steinem to Succeed Dr. Maurer As Member of D. C. Board of Education

Albert E. Steinem, local attorney, yesterday was named to the Board of Education to succeed Dr. Robert A. Maurer, who resigned because of ill health.

The appointment and resignation were announced by Chief Justice Bolitha J. Laws following a general term session meeting of District Court justices.



DR. ROBERT A. MAURER

ALBERT E. STEINEM
Appointed

Long Experience Made Maurer Valued Member

Dr. Robert A. Maurer, who resigned yesterday from the Board of Education, was a teacher and a principal before he became a member of the board nearly 13 years ago.

He brought to his position as vice president of the board and chairman of its personnel committee the practical and technical experience of nearly 20 years in the public school system and more than 20 more as a professor of Constitutional law at Georgetown University.

Because of this experience he frequently was called upon by Board President Mrs. Henry Grattan Doyle to head special committees.

In 1935, he headed a committee investigating communism in textbooks and during the past several years has been chairman of the committee which approved private schools and on the job training for veterans. He also headed the committee which picked Dr. Hobart M. Corning as superintendent of schools.

He was the board's most outspoken defender of the loyalty of District teachers and during the past year engaged in spirited debate with fellow board member Adelbert W. Lee on this question.

The 68-year-old educator led opposition to Congressional legislation that would outline the course of study in American history. Dr. Maurer maintained in his arguments both before Congress and the board that this was the job of educators not legislators.

A native of Wisconsin, Dr. Maurer received his bachelor's degree from Wisconsin University and his law degree from Georgetown University.

He was appointed a teacher of history at Central High School in 1905 and two years later was promoted head of the department of history in the white schools. In 1919 he was named assistant principal of Centural High School and the following year principal. He resigned in 1923 to teach at Georgetown.

Dr. Maurer, who lives at 2029 Park rd. nw., is the father of four sons who during the war saw active service in the Pacific as Navy officers.

He is the author of two law texts and coauthor of the book, "The Constitution of the United States," used in he high schools.

New Board Appointee Local Schools' Product

Albert E. Steinem, the 55-year-old lawyer appointed to the Board of Education yesterday, is a native of Washington and a product of the local schools.

His father, Emanuel Steinem, was a Washington jeweler. Steinem was graduated from old Business High School and the Georgetown University Law School.

The law practice, which he started here in 1914, was inteerupted during the First World War for a tour of duty in the Navy. He served as an ensign in the supply corps at Norfolk, Washington and New York City.

During the most recent war he was a volunteer worker on the home front, serving on the Selective Service Board of Appeals.

His only knowledge of education, Steinem says, comes from his own schooling and from an interest in Parent-Teacher Associations when his son, Everett, now a 25-year-old insurance agent, was attending school.

Steinem, who lives at 3821 Kanawa st. nw., will be the third practicing attorney sitting on the board. Since the board is an autonomous body in its operation of schools, the legal training of its attorneys is frequently called upo nduring board deliberations.

Steinem, an active member of the Chevy Chase Citizens Association, also is a member of the National Press Club, the American Legion and the Woodmont Country Club.

A one-time ardent golfer, the 5½-foot tall attorney, who is said by friends to resemble Churchill, now keeps his hand in the sport as secretary of the District Golf Association.

Miner Arrested In Death of Son; Poison Suspected

Charleston, W. Va., April 29 (AP). The arrest of an Alum Creek miner for questioning into the death of his 12-year-old son and the critical illness of another, 10, was reported by State Trooper W. S. Webb today.

He identified the miner as Andrew Fred Gillespie, 48.

Webb said the younger boy told officers that the father had given both boys medical salts early today and made them follow it with beer.

Eugene Gillespie, 12, died after a relative had discovered him and his 10-year-old brother, Jerry unconscious at their home. The father was at work.

The boys' aunt, Mrs. Helen Whitten, summoned an ambulance but Eugene died before it arrived. The younger boy was rushed to a hospital and is expected to recover.

Coroner Max Goldman said earlier that he believed both boys were "victims of poison."

Dr. Goldman added that the boys had been admitted to a hospital three months ago and that they appeared to be suffering from poison then.

Independent Alcohol Clinic Is Opposed

Commissioner Guy Mason said yesterday he favors placing the District's alcoholic clinic under the Health Department instead of making it an independent department as recommended by a Citizens Advisory Committee.

He told members of the committee, at a meeting in District Building yesterday, that the Commissioners didn't have "the time to run an alcoholic clinic."

Commissioner John Russell Young told the group that Mason's opinion would carry great weight with the other two Commissioners because the clinic will be his administrative responsibilty.

The Commissioners' Advisory Committee on the Alcoholic Clinic recommended January 29 that the clinic should be set up independently with a $10,000-a-year director responsible directly to the Commissioners.

Colonel E. Goring Bliss, chairman of the six-member committee, said its members had not changed their attitude on the subject.

All members of the committee supported the recommendations in their original report.

Health Officer George C. Ruhland said if the clinic, authorized under the Hebert Bill last year, were made independent, it would lose the benefits of three years clinic experience in the Health Department.

Final decision by the Commissioners is expected next week.

'Lost Memory' Case Is Solved

Richmond, Va., April 29 (AP).—A woman who told Richmond police two days ago she had lost her memory was identified today as Mrs. Alvin Joseph Seburn, 28, of Denbigh, Va.

Her identity was established when Seburn saw his wife's picture in a Richmond newspaper. The picture was published after Mrs. Seburn sought police aid Tuesday and said that she had been in Fredericksburg that day but was unable to remember her name.

She said she came to Richmond because she found a return trip bus ticket from Fredericksburg to Richmond in her purse.

Seburn, accompanied by two brothers of Mrs. Seburn, came here last night and was taken by police to the Richmond city home where his wife had been quartered since Tuesday night.

Md. Filing Station Holdup Nets $41.77

Glen Burnie, Md., April 29 (AP).—Two men who stopped at a filling station here to borrow a jack today took $41.77, Anne Arundel County police said.

Attendant Melvin Knight told police the pair walked up and asked to borrow a car jack to fix "a flat tire up the road."

A minute later, Knight said, one stuck a gun in his back, the other took his money.

"Don't open your mouth or I'll slug you," Knight said he was warned as the pair strolled away.

Police Guard Grocery Looted 22 Times

Baltimore, April 29 (AP).—Police Inspector M. Joseph Wallace today ordered "additional protection" for Aaron H. Pavsner's grocery store. Grocer Pavsner figures it's about time.

Pavsner has been asking for the extra police guard for some while. Last Saturday he stepped up his efforts when thieves broke into the store for the twenty-second time in four years. Loot to date, according to Pavsner: $2500 in cash and merchandise.

300 Discuss Tuberculosis

More than 300 persons discussed new techniques and equipment for the treatment of tuberculars at the spring session of the Metropolitan Washington Tuberculosis Conference yesterday.

The all-day meeting, held at Gallinger Hospital, heard a plea from Dr. Norvin C. Kiefer, senior surgeon of the Tuberculosis Control Division, U. S. Public Health Service, for increased appropriations for rehabilitation of patients.

He pointed out that unless rehabilitation succeeded in placing a worker in a proper position, the years of hospitalization and diagnosis spent in curing the patient would be wasted.

Earlier, Miss Mabel C. Zachary, administrative supervisor of the Chesapeake & Potomac Telephone Co. medical department, said the firm "never dropped an employe from the payroll because of tuberculosis," but instead placed him on leave, returning him to light, then heavier duty, as his condition improved.

Other speakers included Dr. Alvin R. Sweeney, Gallinger superintendent; Dr. Howard M. Payne, Freedmen's Hospital, conference vice president, and Miss Elizabeth Ulrich, member of the School of Nursing Education faculty, Catholic University of America.

Meanwhile, the Washington chest X-ray survey officials announced that a portable unit will be placed in operation in the Goldenberg Department Store Monday to check store personnel and the general public in the mid-city area. Other units will be placed in other areas previously by-passed during May and early June.

Grants Liquor Permits to 12

Twelve permits for sale of beer, wine and liquor were approved yesterday by the Prince Georges County Board of Liquor Commissioners, one over the protests of community groups.

Two other applications were rejected at a public hearing in Upper Marlboro as the result of protests from neighborhood residents, while action on two other requests was deferred until May 27.

One permit, issued to Mrs. Yetta Schrier, for sale of beer at the Kaywood Market, 2114 29th st., Mount Rainier, was granted over the objections of three groups, which presented petitions bearing about 250 signatures.

The objectors, representing the Women's Civic League of Mount Rainier, the First Baptist Church and the Mount Rainier Methodist Church, based their protests on "spiritual, moral and physical grounds."

A letter from the Mount Rainier Town Council informed the board it did not object to the license.

Tenants' Cut Plea Counters Hike Request

Approximately 60 tenants of Wayne Terrace, large Southeast Washington housing development, yesterday countered the owners' request for higher rents with a plea for reductions.

They told Examiner James G. Tyson that the 153 garden-type units, built during the war, were "folding up." They maintained the $61.50 to $62.50-a-month rates set by Rent Administrator Robert F. Cogswell when the development was completed in 1944 were too high, Tyson said.

Ask $10.18 Increase

The owners, Wayne Terrace Apartments, Inc., asked a straight $10.18-a-month increase to cover higher operating costs, taxes and water rents. They said flimsy wartime materials were being replaced as rapidly as possible, Tyson revealed.

The development is located in the 100 block of Mississippi ave., the 3800 block of 2d st., and the 100 block of Wayne pl. se.

Tyson took the case under advisement but indicated the tenants had not proved their case for rent reduction. A final decision will not be made, however, he said, until the owners submit additional figures.

A hearing on proposed rent hikes at the Chesapeake Apartments, 4607 Connecticut ave. nw., went into its second all-day session before Examiner Denis K. Lane yesterday and lasted until well into the night.

Lane recommended average 6.36 per cent boosts for 120 units of The Lombardy, 2019 I st. nw., in a decision yesterday. The owners had asked a 20-per-cent increase.

D. C. Rent Control Bill Signed

President Truman yesterday signed the bill to extend District rent controls through March 31, 1949.

The President's action came on the eve of expiration of the existing District rent control law.

The new law takes controls off transient hotel accommodations and nonhousekeeping rooms in private homes with no more than two paying guests.

Also decontrolled are new housing accommodations reaching the market after March 31, as a result of either new construction or reconversion.

Assembly of Koreans Banned by U. S. Officers

Kobe, Japan, April 29 (AP).—United States occupation authorities today forbade assembly of more than nine Koreans to ward off disorders such as the riots of last weekend in Kobe and Osaka.

Army officers said questioning of prisoners had strengthened belief that Communists sponsored the riots.

Park Site Donated By Newlands Heirs

Military Road Tract, Accepted by D. C. For Neighborhood Use, Honors Senator

Washington inherited a new park site yesterday.

A small tract on the north side of Military rd. between 28th and 30th sts. nw., formerly the estate of Senator Francis G. Newlands of Nevada, has been donated to the city by his heirs with their suggestion that it become a neighborhood park.

The National Park and Planning Commission yesterday transferred the site to the National Capital Parks system at the request of the District Commissioners. It will be known as Francis G. Newlands Memorial Park.

The Park and Planning Commission yesterday also:

Examined a site selected on the Dalecarlia Reservation where Army engineers plan to study effect of beach erosion.

Asked instructions from the Army on new construction on the site of the old Patterson School. The new building is on a line with a Bolling Field runway and can be only 20 feet high.

Announced settlement on condemnation of 4000 square feet on unopened 32d st. se., near Branch ave., for the new Fort dr. The settlement leaves only three small parcels yet to be condemned to clear the drive right-of-way.

Ad Ban Urged as Methodists Map Fight on Drunkenness

Boston, April 29 (U.P.).—A ban on liquor fadvertising should be the first blow in the fight against the "so cialcancer of drunkenness," the quadrennial Methodist General Conference was told tonight.

Dr. Louie D. Newton of Atlanta, Ga., president of the Southern Baptist Convention, keynoted the Methodist Church's temperance day session with a sharp attack on the liquor industry, "the shrewd and alert promoters of drunkenness."

He said the first steps toward prohibition should be temperance education and a ban on the "hourly flow of propaganda through the press and radio into our homes."

Newton said liquor manufacturers who "are boasting that half of the population indulges in alcoholic beverages do not boast of the fact that they have made total alcoholics of 750,000 men and women in the United States."

Factor in Broken Homes

He quoted judges as saying that of the 500,000 broken homes in this country, more than 50 per cent of them resulted from drunkenness. He said 81 per cent of all American homes have at least one drunk.

Earlier the communicants of the church were urged to be total abstainers an dfight against racial intolerance.

Rev. G. W. Blakely of the African Methodist Episcopal Church of Little Rock, Ark., said democracy must "crack the color eye to compete against Communism (which) appeals to people who have been exploited by other forms of government."

Fourteen committees, meanwhile, worked on proposals that would become "church discipline" if adopted. Besides increased control of liquor, these included unification of Christians all over the world into one church, defeat of universal military training, defeat of Communism and church participation in labor problems and disputes.

Additional Synods Back Plan for Church Merger

Johnstown, Pa., April 29 (AP).—The number of synods of the Evangelical and Reformed Church which favor a merger with the Congregational Christian Church was brought to 11 today.

The Pittsburgh synod, meeting here, approved the merger 112-16 shortly after the Lancaster synod, meeting at Millersburg, approved the action unanimously.

There are 34 synods in the Evangelical and Reformed Church. All votes so far favored the merger.

The Evangelical and Reformed Church has 700,000 members and the Congregational Christian Church 1,300,000.

Bill Would Authorize Alexandria Half Dollars

Representative Howard W. Smith (D., Va.) yesterday asked the House to authorize coining up to 50,000 half dollars to mark next year's 200th anniversary of Alexandria's founding. The coins would be issued through the Alexandria Bicentennial Commission, during 1949, and could be disposed of either at par or at a premium to help finance the bicentennial. The proposal was presented in a House bill and sent to the House Banking and Currency Committee.

29 Injured As Train Hits Bumper Block

The jolting stop of a Pennsylvania Railroad special against a Union Station bumping block yesterday injured 29 women, six of them seriously enough for hospitalization.

The injured were among 797 members of the Delaware County, Pa., Federation of Women's Clubs coming into Washington for a day of Capital sightseeing.

The uninjured, but thoroughly shaken, members went ahead with the tour schedule, which included an afternoon visit with Mrs. Truman at the White House. They left Washington early last night, leaving six of their group still in Casualty Hospital. None is in serious condition.

Blames Brake Failure

Engineer J. E. Cavanaugh of Philadelphia, was quoted as saying the brakes failed to work as the long special rolled into Union Station. He said he immediately applied emergency brakes, but the engine rammed into the bumper block at the station end of the tracks.

Women who had been standing in the aisles waiting to get off were thrown to the floor in a crushing mass. The jolt was severe enough to dislodge a glass light shade which fell from the ceiling, shattered and cut one woman's hand.

Three Ambulances Answer Call

Three ambulances answered the call, 9 persons were taken to Casualty Hospital, 12 to Emergency and 8 others were treated at the station by five doctors and a nurse. Many of the injured went to hospitals in taxis.

Station Master W. H. Morris said a "thorough investigation" is under way in an attempt to fix responsibility.

Anti-Lynch Bill Debated All Day By Senate Group

By The Associated Press

Senate Republicans began clearing the way yesterday for a showdown fight over civil rights.

The Judiciary Committee, after a closed session, studying anti-lynching legislation, failed to reach agreement.

Chairman Wiley (R., Wis.) then called an afternoon session. He said the committee was bogged down in a debate over constitutional law. A final vote went over until next week.

1 Plane Crash Probed, 2d Ship Sought

The Air Force yesterday investigated a crash which killed three Bolling Field fliers and sought a second plane which has been missing since Tuesday.

Dead in the wreck of a twin-engine, C-45 Beechcraft which plunged into swampy woods near Prince Frederick, Md., at 4:45 p. m. Wednesday are:

Col. Leland G. Fiegel, 34, of 2990 S. Columbus st., Fairlington, Va., the pilot, a veteran of 32 months in the European air war and assistant executive to the director of Air Force training and requirement.

2 Enlisted Men Killed

Tech. Sergt. Malcolm J. Miller, 29, of Wilmington, Del., son of Col. Clifford L. Miller of Fort Oglethorpe, Ga.

Sergt. Ottist D. Stiller, 32, of Salisbury, N. C.

Funeral services for Colonel Fiegel will be held at the Fort Myer Chapel at 3:30 p. m. today and burial will be in Arlington Cemetery. He leaves a wife, two children, John, 4, and Richard, 18 months; his parents and two sisters.

Their plane, en route to Washington after a training flight to Mitchel Field, N. Y., dropped an engine and then plunged into the ground, witnesses said. The inquiry board seeks to determine, among other things, why the craft was off course. Prince Frederick is about 35 miles southeast of Washington.

D. C. Man Missing

Missing aboard the single-engine advanced training plane, which was en route to Bolling Field from Chicago, was another Washington man—Col. Richard A. Warner, 42, of 445 Argyle dr., Alexandria, Va., and Lieut. Edward Jay, Air Force Reserve pilot, of Chicago.

Despite low ceilings, Air Rescue units put search planes in the air yesterday from Selfridge Field, Mich.; Westover Field, Mass., and Pope Field, N. C. Parachute rescue teams were standing by at Selfridge if needed, headquarters here said yesterday.

The Pennsylvania National Guard also had search planes teaming with the Air Force and search headquarters have been established at Elkins, W. Va.

Barnes to Have Full Control Of PM Policy

New York, April 29 (NYHT.)—As the new editor of PM, Joseph Barnes will have "complete editorial control" of the newspaper, Bartley C. Crum, San Francisco attorney who purchased controling interest in the tabloid with Barnes, said today.

Crum will be publisher of the newspaper, which will appear for the first time Saturday under its new owners.

The last issue of PM under the ownership of Marshall Field 3d, will appear tomorrow morning.

An agreement with the PM unit of the American Newspaper Guild, CIO gives the new owners a free hand to make staff changes for the next three months. Barnes said that he did not anticipate making changes in the newspaper itself until after that period.

Barnes, former foreign editor of the Herald Tribune, said PM will be "non-party, left of center and appealing to the uncommitted left." He indicated he may be interested in entering PM in the competitive field with New York's afternoon newspapers.

"Good, hard news" handled in a professional manner will be one of its goals, he said.

The guild agreement permits the management to discharge staff members from May 1 until August 1 without severance pay. All employes will be dismissed with full severance and vacation pay today, but may resume work tomorrow for the three-month probationary period.

May 1 Employment Day

For those who remain May 1 will be considered the day of employment. The agreement also provides that a new contract with the guild will be signed by August 1, with the old contract, with the agreed exceptions, applying meanwhile.

The publishers declared it "is not the intention of the new management to make any changes in staff for the purpose of cutting wages or minimum wage scales."

John P. Lewis, editor of PM under Field, will remain indefinitely, Barnes said. Crum, who has practiced law in San Francisco since 1924, said he would establish his permanent residence in New York.

Rep. Butler to Speak

GOP Group Seeks District's 3 Votes

A group which charges the District's Republican State Committee with being "a machine" is seeking control of it and its three votes in the national convention.

The group is something of a mystery to James C. Wilkes, State Committee chairman, who says it has captured precinct committeemen in "not more than five" of 30 precincts which had held elections up to yesterday.

The remaining 13 of the 43 precincts into which the Republican organization divides the District met last night or will meet today.

Paul J. Foley, public accountant and attorney, said his group had gained more than five precinct committeemanships, but would not say how many.

He described his group as "bonafide Republicans of Washington trying to dislodge the Wilkes-Colladay-McGarraghy machine which has kept the State Committee a family affair for the past two decades."

In addition to Wilkes, who has been State chairman since 1936, Foley referred to Joseph C. McGarraghy and Edward F. Colladay, both long-time Republican leaders.

Foley, who declined to name his associates, said his group was not committed to any presidential candidate.

Wilkes said the internal "issue is very clearly those active in the community versus those unknown. They have not volunteered their services or money or evidenced any previous interest."

Foley said his people "perhaps are not family friends of the Wilkes-McGarraghy-Colladay machine but they are bonafide."

They are local people and the group is not run from outside the District, as has been intimated, Foley said. He added that he had been a regular Republican contributor, had lived in the District 15 years, and was a graduate of George Washington University and Georgetown University Law School.

Foley charged the State committee had conducted its registration and precinct elections improperly.

6th District Pledges Hard Work

Democratic candidates from the Sixth Congressional District in Maryland last night pledged vigorous efforts to defeat the Republican incumbent Representative J. Glenn Beall in the general election this fall.

Addressing more than 200 members of the Silver Spring Democratic Club, Will Allen of Bethesda and F. Byrne Austin of Takoma Park also pledged to support the Democratic candidate who wins in Monday's primary.

Thomas P. O'Connell of Forest Glen and Dawson J. Horine of Meyersville, also candidates, did not appear at the meeting held at Indian Spring Country Club, Silver Spring.

Allen, a Washington labor reporter, declared that "Glen Beall's days are numbered and it will be a Democrat that will lick him."

Austin, for many years a Democratic worker in Montgomery County, promised he would stage the "hottest campaign ever seen in the Sixth District" if he is nominated Monday.

Society Woman's Death on Beach Laid to Illness

Middletown, R. I., April 29 (AP).—A examiner reported tonight the death of Mrs. George Eustis Paine, New York society woman, was caused by "immersion, shock and exposure," with illness a contributing factor.

Mrs. Paine's body was found Tuesday lying face down on a beach a mile from her Newport home.

Dr. James C. Callahan said laboratory reports made today by Rhode Island State Pathologist Dr. James T. Fallon showed that the 52-year-old matron "was suffering from hemachromatosis, a disease involving the metabolism of iron in the body."

"As the disease progresses," Dr. Callahan said, "mental disturbances and depression sometime occur, which would account for Mrs. Paine's strange disappearance from home and her wandering into the water of the beach."

Edwards to Manage Baltimore Symphony

Baltimore, April 29 (AP).—John S. Edwards, associate manager of the Pittsburgh Symphony Orchestra, has been named manager of the Baltimore Symphony, it was announced today.

Edwards takes the pos tof C. C. Cappel, who died recently. He is 35, a native of St. Louis and a graduate of the University of North Carolina.

A former staff member of the St. Louis Globe-Democrat, he became assistant manager of the National Symphony Orchestra in Washington in 1937.

Md. Congressmen In Primary Monday

4 Democrats Face Renomination Contests With Sasscer in Stiffer Test Than Usual

Annapolis, Md., April 29 (AP).—Maryland Congressmen will face their first hurdle on the road to re-election in major party primaries on Monday.

Observers in the State capital predict that public apathy after campaigns devoid of national issues will favor those candidates who can count on blocks of "machine" votes. A small turnout is forecast.

Of Maryland's six representatives, two will be nominated automatically. Republicans Edward T. Miller of the First District on the eastern shore and J. Glenn Beall of the Sixth in western Maryland are unopposed.

All four incumbent Democrats face primary battles in districts which have sent Democrats to Congress for the past decade. They are:

Representative Hugh A. Meade, second district.

Representative A. • Garmatz is Mayor Thomas D'Alesanodr's candidate in the third, or "Tommy's own" district, in east Baltimore.

Representative George H. Fallon, seeking a third term from the fourth district.

Representative Lansdale G. Sasscer of Upper Marlboro, Fifth District.

Tobacco land generally has preferred Sasscer 10 to 1.

This year he faces sterner opposition from George Sachse, Gen. Burnie lawyer and former general manager of the Maryland Tobacco Growers Association.

"Third parties" will not hold primaries. The Progressive Party of Maryland, with a Wallace ticket, and the Socialists have filed petitions to go on the ballot at the November general elections.

Town Elections Scheduled

Several town elections will be held along with the State primaries on Monday.

Each county will also elect as many delegates to the major party State conventions next month as it has members of the General Assembly. The State conventions in turn will choose delegates to the national conventions in Philadelphia.

In Prince Georges County, of the 11 candidates for the seven posts, four are for Dewey, one for MacArthur, one for Taft and the rest noncommittal.

In Montgomery County, four of the 12 Republican candidates say they would vote for Dewey, three for Stassen and one for either Dewey or Stassen.

In most places the polls will be open from 7 a. m. to 7 p. m., standard time. In Baltimore City, votes may be cast between 6 a. m. and 6 p. m., EST.

Upper Marlboro, Md., April 29 (AP).—Democrats outnumber Republicans approximately two to one in Prince Georges County, according to latest voting registration results.

Of 5200 new voters who registered Monday, 3644 were Democrats, 1352 Republicans and 204 declined to state party affiliations.

The County Board of Election Supervisors said Monday's registration brings the total number of eligible voters to 54,256, divided as follows: Democrats, 35,899; Republicans, 16,516, and 1841 who are independents or gave no party.

Taft Feels Stassen Will Lose, Seeks 2d Vote of Delegates

Toledo, April 29 (AP).—Senator Robert A. Taft said today he will continue his quest for Republican presidential delegates—even Harold E. Stassen delegates—after the Ohio May 4 primary.

The Ohio Senator didn't attach much "importance" to Stassen's victories in Wisconsin, Nebraska or Pennsylvania, and said he wants to receive the convention support of Stassen delegates "as soon as Stassen is out of the race."

"He'll be out of it, don't worry," Taft said at his news conference. The observation came after reporters laughed when Taft said he was going after second choice votes—of Stassen's delegates.

"I am just as interested in Stassen's delegates as I am in any other delegates," he said.

Taft said he will speak in Wisconsin May 8 and Hartford, Conn., May 13. He plans to be in New Jersey either May 19 or 20 to meet delegates already chosen and seek their second choice support. He indicated he might visit Stassen's home State to obtain second choice votes of the Stassen-pledged delegation there.

"I don't regard the Pennsylvania vote as very important," Taft said. "I understand 20 to 25 per cent of the voters wrote in names of candidates. Stassen's vote was the result of an organized campaign 'full of pep and lots of money' in the three large counties. On the whole it is not significant except to show he had an enthusiastic minority."

Taft said he was "very well satisfied" with the Ohio campaign. Asked if he would concede Stassen any Ohio delegates of the 23 which Stassen has entered in the State, he replied: "I'm not conceding anything."

Taft denied ever undertaking to make a deal with Gov. Tom Dewey of New York in attempting to "stop Stassen."

Tomorrow Taft will campaign in the Fourteenth (Akron) District.

Wallace Plans Speaking Tour In Far West

By the Associated Press

Henry A. Wallace decided yesterday on a major speaking tour of the Far West to further his third party presidential candidacy.

Between May 15 and June 3 he will make 17 speeches in California, Washington, Oregon, Idaho, Arizona, Colorado and New Mexico.

He will concentrate heavily on California where his party counts on polling a large vote in November. It also plans to enter candidates in several congressional races there.

Democratic leaders have made no secret of their fears about the California situation. They have made numerous trips there to see what could be done.

After a New York speech May 11, he will stop off at Detroit en route to the coast.

New Jersey Visit Pleases Stassen

Trenton, N. J., April 29 (AP).—Harold E. Stassen today talked with New Jersey's delegates to the Republican National Convention and then said, "It's a little overcast outside, but to me it's a bright day in New Jersey."

Stassen

Winding up a 24-hour bid for New Jersey's 35 votes, Stassen told newsmen his visit with the delegates was "the friendliest neutrality I've ever experienced."

He said a number of the delegates told him they would be for him at the Philadelphia convention.

"Some of them were even wearing Stassen buttons," he said.

Driscoll Complimented

He made it clear, however, that he, would not attempt to upset plans to present Gov. Alfred E. Driscoll's name as New Jersey's favorite son candidate on at least the first ballot.

At a morning news conference Stassen said in response to a question that Driscoll was among the ten or so "liberal Republicans" he looked upon as an acceptable running mate.

Driscoll, who was seated next to him, quickly said:

"Governor Driscoll is busy running the State government."

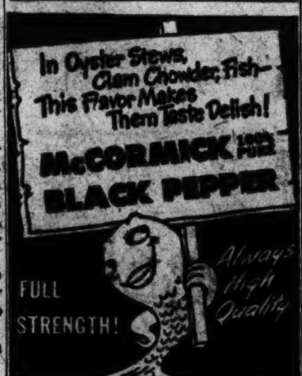
"I like busy men,, Governor," Stassen replied.

Commending Driscoll and GOP State Chairman Lloyd B. Marsh for the "excellent procedure" of inviting all candidates to New Jersey, he said:

"I'm not seeking promises at this time. We're seeking to build steadily—and it looks like a good building day."

Stassen, whose bid for votes has carried him to all parts of the country in a whirlwind drive, said his campaign was "not yet in high gear."

"We've been running along in second," he said.



Voters to Be Shaved To Stop 'Repeaters'

Panama City, Panama, April 29 (U.P.).—The national election board ruled today that each citizen voting in Sunday's municipal election will have a three-inch square shaved on the left forearm, as a means of preventing voting more than once.

Another three-inch square will be shaved off a week from Sunday, in the presidential elections, May 9. Ink used in previous elections turned out to be washable.

Veteran Delays Arrest Hour in Slaying Case

Adairville, Ky., April 29 (AP).—A Negro war veteran, described as mentally unbalanced, stood off officers more than an hour today before he was arrested on a charge of slaying Police Chief Rufus Barrow, 60.

The officer was shot with his own gun as he attempted to take William E. Downs into custody for removal to a mentall nstitution.

'GLASS WAX' NOW HERE TO BRIGHTEN UP CITY

CHEMISTS REVEAL

30 Kinds of Dirt Found on Windows

While developing "GLASS WAX", Gold Seal chemists collected and studied sample window panes from homes in every state in the union. Analysis revealed 30 different kinds of dirt and discoloration.

- Greasy soot streaks and salt water minerals dirtied glass in eastern mill towns.
- Sticky pollens, lime dust and tars dulled midwestern windows.
- Stubborn silica deposits robbed the gleam from southern and western panes.

Even minute amounts of certain rare minerals were found killing the sparkle of glass in some areas.

Gold Seal chemists found that "GLASS WAX" removed every one of the stubborn grimy films with one easy, streakless application!

Mirror Test to Show Speed of 'GLASS WAX'

Try this simple, easy test. It shows how "GLASS WAX" works at lightning speed.

Take a piece of hard soap, candle wax or crayon and mark up your mirror, where dirt shows twice (on the surface and its reflection). Do as thorough a job of it as a small boy does on windows on Hallowe'en.

Then (1) pour a small amount of "GLASS WAX" on a clean dry cloth; (2) wipe "GLASS WAX" over the marked-up surface; (3) wipe off with a second dry cloth.

Dirt Vanishes

You will be astonished to see that "GLASS WAX" has completely dissolved the disfiguring marks, has completely cleaned the surface and, most wonderful of all, has imparted to your mirror a diamond-like, sparkling brilliance.

WINDOW-CLEANING MARVEL OF THE AGE! Homemakers find window-cleaning is now a happy chore. "GLASS WAX" dissolves all dirt — cleaning quickly with just two easy motions; wipe it on, wipe it off—no rubbing—no streaks—and leaves sparkling, lasting brilliance.

Letters Laud 'GLASS WAX' As Miracle for Brass, Copper

Letters from many housewives tell the happy story—how "GLASS WAX" promoted from glass and metal cleaning in kitchen and dining room, proves a "miracle-working" polisher of copper and brass in the parlor.

There, they say, long-neglected copper and brassware comes gleaming in seconds too. Andirons, ashtrays, ornaments, candlesticks, lamp stands, handrails and metal flower pots shed tarnish when "GLASS WAX" is quickly wiped on with one dry cloth, wiped off with another.

New Duties All Over House

One discovery leads to another, so "GLASS WAX", once proved on brass and copper, finds new duties all over the house. Personal ornaments — copper buckles, buttons and jewelry—freshen brightly with "GLASS WAX".

Others say it's simple to remove burner marks, scorches, mottling and food stains from the bottom of most copper-clad skillets, kettles and other kitchen utensils.

In cleaning, brightening copper and brass pieces, no burnishing is necessary, for "GLASS WAX" cleans down to the gleaming metal itself. No "second application" either, because an amazing secret ingredient does the whole job the first time.

No Harsh Abrasives

"GLASS WAX" contains no acids or harsh abrasives—cannot harm the softest metal or most delicate plating. It leaves a crystal-clear film that resists thumb prints and smudges—makes the next cleaning even easier than the first.

Of all the qualities homemakers have found in "GLASS WAX", the speed and ease with which it does the job have been most appealing. It's just a matter of wiping the liquid on—then wiping it off. Takes just 30 seconds to remove 30 kinds of dirt.

For Cleaning Glass and Metalware

- No Rubbing or rinsing!
- Crystal clear film
- Safe for hands
- Non-inflammable
- Never streaks
- No disagreeable odor

There is only one "GLASS WAX"

Amazing Chemical Discovery by Gold Seal Company Gives Lustre to Glass and Silver

Friends Tell Each Other About This Amazing Chemical

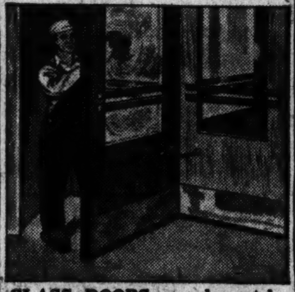
It isn't going to take long for the news of the remarkable cleaning power of Gold Seal's new product, "GLASS WAX", to get around town. Friends hurry to tell each other about this astonishing new chemical find. Then they trade new uses with each other.

STORES, OFFICES

Glass, Metal Polished Up in Seconds

It was a great day for store managers when customers came back to tell them the miraculous glass cleaning results obtained from "GLASS WAX".

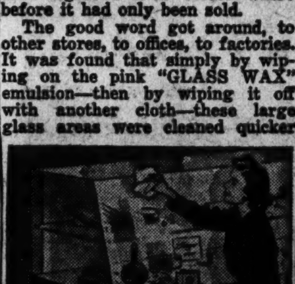
Store managers, looking around their own stores, saw acres of glass showcases, windows, mirrors, chrome and brass—a terrific cleaning and polishing task (not always too well done).



GLASS DOORS, smudge-catchers from both indoors and out, made crystal clear, longer, with "GLASS WAX".

Inevitably, "GLASS WAX" was used right in their stores where before it had only been sold.

The good word got around, to other stores, to offices, to factories. It was found that simply by wiping on the pink "GLASS WAX" emulsion—then by wiping it off with another cloth—these large glass areas were cleaned quicker and better than ever before. No pressure, no rubbing, no water, no muss—just easy wipe-off.



SHOW CASES made sparkling clear with "GLASS WAX" give better display to merchandise.

Offices with their many glass-top desks, glass partitions, doors and cabinets are kept lustrous bright with easy-to-use "GLASS WAX". Time and money are saved when the one and only "GLASS WAX" is used.

LIKE-NEW BEAUTY

'GLASS WAX' Brightens Up Porcelain, Tile

With "GLASS WAX" it's no work at all to wipe off wax and crayon marks, greasy smudges or stains from any porcelain or tile.

There's no harsh abrasive or acid to pit the surface, and the "GLASS WAX" invisible protective film keeps the finish clean longer. This wonder liquid lifts ugly blotches right out of the tiny pores of all vitreous finishes.

Refrigerators, stoves, bathtubs, lavatories—all gleam like new after the "GLASS WAX" treatment. That's because this great discovery actually dissolves stains—doesn't wear them away by tedious scrubbing.

The same easy method is used on porcelain and tile as on any other metal or glass surface. Just a few moments to wipe "GLASS WAX" on—a few moments while it dries—a few moments to wipe it off. A half minute does the trick.

Zips Stubborn Tarnish from Silverware

JUST 20 MINUTES to clean silver service for eight when you use "GLASS WAX"—that's the average time it takes to do what was formerly one of a homemaker's most tedious jobs.

'GLASS WAX' Brings Silver Bright Gleam—No Rubbing or Buffing

"GLASS WAX" does a sensational job on silverware—no matter how dingy and tarnished—without scratching or thinning the precious metal. No scrubbing or buffing. No slow, messy paste to fool with.

"GLASS WAX" simply wipes on with one cloth—wipes off with another. Off comes the staining tarnish—dissolved, loosened and removed like magic. And back comes the satiny sheen.

Working into the most intricate filigree and base relief on silver, this miracle cleaner brightens where no ordinary cleaner could ever reach.

Safe for Sterling or Plate

No silverware is too fine, too precious, to entrust to the gently thorough cleaning and polishing action of "GLASS WAX". This effortless formula substitutes safe, chemical action for old-fashioned burnishing.

Instead of using gritty compounds that wear and scratch the silver surface, just wipe on "GLASS WAX". Then watch that luxurious satiny sheen come back as you wipe off lightly with a clean, dry cloth.

Disappearance Of Passenger on Steamer Probed

Norfolk, Va., April 29 (AP).—Police probing the disappearance of a bay line steamer passenger said tonight he left an envelope addressed to Mrs. Henry D. Hatcher, 3501 Lucille ave., Baltimore.

Detectvie Leon Nowitzky said the envelope, contained $31 and two blank sheets of paper.

(The house at 3501 Lucille ave., Baltimore sources said, is the home of Henry D. Hatcher, manager of a Baltimore motion picture theater, who has been missing since yesterday afternoon.)

Capt. S. B. Chapman, skipper of the old bay line steamer City of Richmond, reported the disappearance of the passenger, registered as Harry Cohen of Baltimore, on the vessel's arrival here at 8 a. m. today.

Eccles Enigma Grows Tougher

Truman Silent on Delay in Naming Him Vice Chairman of Federal Reserve Board

By Edward T. Folliard
Post Reporter

The riddle of Marriner S. Eccles became more perplexing yesterday.

President Truman, in answer to a reporter's question, indicated that he was not ready to name Eccles as vice chairman of the Federal Reserve Board. No reason was volunteered for the delay and none was obtainable at the White House afterward.

It was reported that Eccles, during a recent White House visit, offered to release Mr. Truman from his promise to designate him as vice chairman. The Chief Executive, according to this report, declined Eccles' offer.

On January 27, to the astonishment of political and banking circles, Mr. Truman announced that Eccles, a New Dealer, would be replaced as chairman of the Federal Reserve Board by Thomas B. McCabe, a Philadelphia Republican.

In an exchange of letters, Mr. Truman urged Eccles "to accept the vice chairmanship so that the benefit of your long experience and judgment will continue to be available. . . ."

Two days later, at a White House news conference, Mr. Truman declined to say why he demoted Eccles. He said he had exercised his prerogative. It was his right, he said, and he added that he did not make the change at anybody's request or under anybody's influence. He said, finally, that there would be no explanation.

At yesterday's White House news conference, Felix Belair of the New York Times revived the three-month mystery.

"Mr. President," he said, "can you tell us when you plan to designate Marriner Eccles as vice chairman?"

Mr. Truman said that, no, he could not.

Enigma, Associates Say

Associates of Eccles said the whole thing was an enigma to them. They said they had expected Mr. Truman to name Eccles immediately after the new chairman, McCabe, was sworn in on April 22. All that was necessary, they said, was for the President to sign a simple order.

Eccles was in Utah on personal business, but a source close to him said that he probably was wondering why he was being kept on the anxious seat.

United Brethen Group Hits Draft and UMT

Baltimore, April 29 (AP).—Ministers and lay representatives from the 26 Evangelical United Brethren Churches in the Middle Atlantic States went on record today against a temporary draft and universal military training.

"We are disturbed by the persistent efforts to resume the draft and adopt universal military training," said a declaration adopted by the denomination's Atlantic conference.

"It is our judgment that this is a potential for war and not for peace, that it will say to the world that there is no way of reconciling the differences between nations save by force. Moreover, we do not feel that the military branches have demonstrated their ability to be entrusted with the moral care of our youth."

Union Chairman, Wife Arrive Today

Lord Wakehurst, chairman of the council of the English-Speaking Union in Britain, and Lady Wakehurst will arrive in Washington today for a week's stay as part of their six-week tour of the United States.

Lord Wakehurst

While in Washington they will be the guests of former Ambassador and Mrs. William R. Castle and Mr. and Mrs. George Maurice Morris. Former Representative Charles Dewey of Illinois is president of the Washington branch of the English-Speaking Union.

The guests from England will be honored by the local branch of the union Tuesday at a lunch at the United Nations Club, and Lord Wakehurst will be the guest of Washington Rhodes scholars at a cocktail reception Monday. Several dinners and luncheons are planed by Washington residents during the visitors' stay.

Lord Wakehurst is a former Governor of New South Wales and was for a number of years a Conservative member of Parliament. He served in the British Army in the Middle East during World War I and is an author and lecturer of note.

Labor Racket Jury Told of Financing

A former president of the Quantico, Va., local of the International Hod Carriers and Common Laborers union testified yesterday that his local had no bank account of its own and kept but sketchs financial reports in 1942.

The District court witness was Robert L. Bates. He is now financial secretary and business agent of the local at Quantico. He said that in 1942, $1000 was appropriated by the union to pay the expenses of two delegates to a Toronto, Canada, convention of the American Federation of Labor.

The testimony came in the labor funds conspiracy trial of five members of the Hod Carriers Union and a former builder. Charged with conspiring to loot the union treasury of almost $100,000, they are George Morgan, Joseph Speed, Evans Hamilton, Faust Moreschi, George Plummer and Isaac Weiner.

Mrs. Edna Hammett of Leonardtown, Md., former employe of the Southern Maryland branch of the union, Local 832, testified that during 1941-42 Leo Naszdin, financial secretary-treasurer there, signed 18 checks in blank. These were later used with the payees' names filled in, it was testified.

High Court Dignity Ruffled by Clash

when Congress passed the Taft-Hartley Act over President Truman's veto. The act says no corporation or labor union shall spend any money in connection with any Federal election, primary, caucus, convention or the like.

Within a few days, CIO President Philip Murray wrote, and the CIO published in its newspaper, The CIO News, an article urging Maryland voters to send Judge Ed Garmatz to Congress. Besides, the printing, the CIO spent money to send 1000 extra copies of the paper to Baltimore.

The defense claimed the law was against the Constitution. Federal Judge Ben Moore—who was sitting in the District Court here—agreed, and threw out the charges.

The Government at once filed the appeal which was argued yesterday.

Lively From Start

From the start the Supreme Court debate was a lively one. Every justice joined in questioning the lawyers. Frankfurter asked dozens of questions.

Prosecutor Climenko admitted in the District Court that the act did violate the first amendment—the guarantee of free speech and press—but he said this was authorized by the power given Congress to regulate Federal elections. Frankfurter brought this up.

One Will Be Queen of May

VIRGINIA TEETER — JEAN HANSON — JOANNE TURNEY

Candidates for George Washington University May Queen

A day early, George Washington University will crown its May Day Queen at exercises today at 8 p. m. in Lisner Auditorium.

The queen will be one of three finalists chosen from a group of 15 candidates by convalescent veterans at Walter Reed Hospital.

The finalists are Jean Hanson, 4120 Warren st. nw., 21-year-old senior majoring in sociology; Virginia Teeter, 19, of 1900 F st. nw., a sophomore majoring in art, and Joanne Turney, 1819 North Hartford st., Arlington, Va., 19-year-old junior majoring in psychology.

The veterans picked the winner but her name will not be announced until she is summoned to the throne to receive her crown.

The coronation is part of the school's spring festival at which seniors from local high schools will be guests. The program gets underway at 4 p. m. with registration of guests followed by a tour of university buildings and a buffet supper.

Mortar Board, honorary society for senior women, will tap 10 outstanding students for membership during the evening ceremony. Twenty-seven students listed in "Who's Who Among Students in American Universities and Colleges" will be presented certificates.

A carnival and dance at 9 p. m. in the school gymnasium will windup the day's festivities.

Foerster Gets Death

Gdansk, Poland, April 29 (AP).—The supreme national tribunal today sentenced Albert Foerster to death for arranging Germans seizure of the Free City of Danzig September 1, 1939. Forester was the Nazi gauleiter.

Photographers' Dance

The White House Photographers Association will hold its second annual spring dance at the National Press Club today. Plans call for a series of entertainment acts from Washington theater and night spot stages; music by an 18-piece band and refreshments.

CIO Poised to Quit World Trade Group

Threatens to Leave WFTU Unless Reds Stop ERP Sabotage

Rome, April 29 (NYHT).—James B. Carey, secretary-treasurer of the Congress of Industrial Organizations, hinted tonight he is ready to take the CIO out of the World Federation of Trade Unions unless Russian and other Communist trade union leaders discontinue efforts to sabotage the European Recovery Program.

The WFTU Executive Board assembled here for a meeting opening Friday, its most important session in 11 months.

Carey asserted he went to Moscow a month ago to ask the Russians a series of question on the Marshall Plan.

"I have come to get the answers," he added.

One of the main questions was just what the Russian-dominated WFTU proposes as a substitute for the Marshall Plan.

The Russians have indicated they do not want the CIO and other labor groups outside their part of the world to leave the WFTU. Informed sources said tonight the Russians might agree to let each national labor organization decide for itself whether it will back the Marshall Plan.

In New York Case

ITU Held Violating Labor Act

By the Associated Press

A National Labor Relations Board attorney formally charged the AFL International Typographical Union yesterday with continuing Taft-Hartley Labor Act violations in contract negotiations with New York newspaper publishers.

Allen Sinsheimer, the attorney, told reporters it was not his province to say if the alleged continuing actions violate a Federal Court injunction issued March 27 at Hammond, Ind., against certain ITU practices.

At the same time, Woodruff Randolph, the union's president, said in a statement that NLRB attorneys, in going into the current New York negotiations at hearings here, "are indicating they not only are desirous of preventing fair collective bargaining, but want to actually dictate the terms proposed by the union."

The ITU's New York local reached a tentative agreement with newspaper publishers there 10 days ago but the proposed pact was vetoed by Randolph and the ITU executive board.

Sinsheimer, when told of Randolph's charge that the NLRB was trying to "dictate" what the union should do in the New York negotiations, gave reporters this statement:

"Of course we are not, and have no intention of interfering with fair collective bargaining, and in fact desire that there should be such bargaining.

Randolph earlier said he would not approve any work contracts which would let newspapers hire nonunion foremen in their printing departments.

for a candidate who shows a "superlative type of leadership."

"It is Mr. Truman's misfortune to have succeeded Franklin D. Roosevelt and what he does suffers by comparison with that great President," Kroll said.

Emil Rieve, Textile Workers president, who called on President Truman earlier this week to eliminate himself as a candidate, "stated boldly the facts of the present situation," Kroll said.

Later he told newsmen the CIO probably would wait until July before announcing support of a candidate.

Kroll said the CIO's PAC is concentrating on congressional contests.

He called on the union to back CIO-PAC in dollar contributions and in electioneering.

A message from President Truman read to the convention said the "pressure of official business" kept him from accepting an invitation to address the gathering.

"I am sure the Textile Workers of America, as they deliberate the policies which will keep their union strong and provide for the greater welfare of their own members, are conscious of their role as responsible citizens of America," the message said:

"I know that, like all good Americans, they are aware of the dangers that threaten the growth of democracy in many parts of the world, and that they will join in the common cause of maintaining and strengthening our democratic institutions at home."

House Rider Hits UPWA

ployment Service with the FSA's Unemployment Compensation Bureau.

President Truman recently lost a fight to get Congress to let him put the USES into the Labor Department.

The anti-Communist provision was approved over opposition of a few Democrats and Representative Vito Marcantonio (ALP., N. Y.).

Marcantonio said it was unconstitutional. He added that Keefe was "blowing up another Communist balloon."

But Keefe said he would try to get the same provision into all future appropriation bills.

The House voted down an amendment to increase the funds for the USES and Unemployment Bureau by $22,650,000.

Several Democrats said the anti-Communist rider would hit non-Communist members of unions as hard as it hits left-wing leaders.

Keefe conceded there might be some "inequities." But he said his provision was aimed at Flaxer.

Representatives John E. Fogarty (D., R. I.), and Tobey Morris (D., Okla.), argued that the rider would hurt Government workers who merely hold cards in unions to get pension and health benefits.

Fogarty said if it were applied to all Government appropriations, it would bar Representative John D. Dingell (D., Mich.), from getting his salary because he holds a card in the International Typographical Union (AFL).

Representative Howard W. Smith (D., Va.), offered an amendment which he said would reduce the possible inequities. It would have specified that the unions involved represented only Government employes. The House turned it down, 91-21.

The $969,050,000 voted was $20,673,000 below the President's budget estimate. The House was unable to trim the largest item in the bill—797 million dollars for grants to States provided by law for aid to the aged, dependent children and needy blind.

It allowed 123 million dollars for grants to States for administering job-placement and unemployment insurance programs; $10,278,000 for mental health activities; and $700,000 to deal with emergency health problems in Alaska.

The bill also provides one million dollars to start a Nation-wide dental care program. The funds would be used to set up demonstration units to teach dentists and others how to apply sodium fluoride, a compound that retards dental decay.

Teacher Leaves Riddled Home

Gunfire Warns Teacher: 'Pass Us in Math'

New York, April 29 (AP).—A blast of gunfire was poured into a young Brooklyn schoolteacher's home last night after a telephone threat of violence "if she doesn't pass everyone in mathematics."

The teacher, Miss Margaret Jokiel, 24, an attractive blonde, continued to conduct mathematics examinations today and said sne would "fail those who do not receive passing grades."

Police meanwhile were questioning 165 of Miss Jokiel's students at Fort Hamilton High School.

Her uncle, Police Sergt. George J. Noell, was assigned to guard her at the school.

The phone calls were made to the Jokiel home last night while the teacher was away at a concert.

A feminine voice told Mrs. Esther Jokiel, the teacher's mother:

"If she doesn't pass everyone in mathematics tomorrow something will happen. She'll be pushing up daisies . . ."

As Mrs. Jokiel hung up, a fusillade of shots from automatic rifles rang out from a slowly moving automobile driving past the house, situated in one of Brooklyn's leading residential districts.

Police said 35 shots were fired in all. Seven penetrated the front of the Jokiel home and 16 went through windows.

Mrs. Jokiel and her husband, Paul Jokiel, were not harmed.

Miss Jokiel said "I'm not afraid" as she left for school today. She said "Fort Hamilton has the cream dents."

N.Y. Exchange Strike Ends After 30 Days

New York, April 29 (AP).—Striking financial workers returned to the New York Stock Exchange today on terms originally offered by the financial institution. There were 100 fewer jobs waiting than when they walked out a month ago.

The use of lie-down tactics to block the exchange entrance and a brief, but bruising, battle between police and pickets lifted the strike to national prominence.

The stock exchange functioned in near-normal manner throughout the strike despite some of the heaviest trading days in recent months.

Mayor William O'Dwyer's assurance to the members of the AFL United Financial Employes that he would investigate their wage situation brought a union vote to return.

The strikers gained wage increases ranging from $3 to $5 a week.

The union had asked weekly increases of $9 for employes earning less than $40 a week and $15 for those earning more.

The 100 jobs eliminated resulted from a streamlining of exchange operations to meet the strike emergency changes that exchange spokesmen said were based on more efficient operation.

Guild Official, Ball Clash on Pay Measure

By the United Press

An official of the American Newspaper Guild (CIO) clashed with Senator Joseph H. Ball (R., Minn.) yesterday on the latter's proposal to bar reporters earning more than $100 a week from the overtime provisions of the wage-hour law.

Sam B. Eubanks, executive vice-president of the guild, said the plan would lead to "exploitation" of newspapermen by publishers. Ball retorted that it signaled "the road to collectivism" when persons earning more than $100 a week need legal protection.

40-Cent Wage Hearing

The argument took place before a Senate labor subcommittee which is considering proposals to increase the 40-cent-an-hour legal minimum wage and otherwise change the wage-hour law.

A spokesman for small-town newspapers said any increases above the present 40-cent minimum would "have a tendency" to spread inflation. Ed M. Anderson, chairman of the legislative committee of the National Editorial Association, declared higher minimum wages would drive many small-town publishers to the wall in event of a business recession.

Argues for 75 Cents

Eubanks argued for an increase to 75 cents an hour. He said Ball's bill to fix the minimum at 60 cents was an "utterly callous approach."

Senator Allen J. Ellender (D., La.) remarked that one of the main reasons for the wage-hour law was to eliminate industrial sweatshops.

Eubanks contended newspapers had their sweatshops, too, where college graduates worked for nothing on an "on trial" basis.

Ball said he started in the newspaper field "for $15 a week." He said he remembered some college students who worked around the office for nothing. "That was about what they were worth," he commented.

Private Detectives Say 'Hired Killer' In Detroit at Time

Detroit, April 25 (U.P.).—Two private detectives who told officials of the United Auto Workers that a "hired killer" was in Detroit when President Walter P. Reuther was shot were held for police questioning tonight.

Harvey B. Kennedy, 45, a licensed private investigator, and Sam Henderson, 46, one of his "operators," were arrested yesterday after police learned that Kennedy rented a red Ford sedan only a few hours before the attempted assassination of the CIO union chief.

The would-be killer fled from the Reuther home in a red Ford sedan.

Chief of Detectives Jack Harvill said a lie detector "fluctuated violently" when Kennedy and Henderson were questioned last night. But Harvill said that "if they are telling the truth, neither of them could have been near the UAW president's house at the time of the shooting."

"This is the hottest thing we've had so far," Prosecutor James N. McNally said after taking a formal statement from Kennedy.

Nicholas J. Rothe, UAW associate general counsel, and union Vice President John Livingston, told police that Kennedy and Henderson appeared at union headquarters the day after the shooting and asked to be hired as investigators.

Rothe said the men told him "a certain professional killer" had been here several days before the shooting and "had something to do with it."

Kennedy and Henderson will appear before Circuit Court Judge Arthur Webster at 2 p. m. tomorrow for a hearing on their petition for writ of habeas corpus.

Van Horn Acts To Tie Up Coal Pension Fund

Ezra Van Horn, coal operators' [trustee], yesterday warned the [ba]nks holding the 34-million-dollar [mi]ners' welfare fund not to honor [any] checks drawn against it.

[Th]is move was a continuation of [a c]ampaign to prevent the opera[tion] of a pension plan agreed to b[y t]he other two trustees, John L. L[ew]is and Senator Styles Bridges (R., N. H.). Van Horn has filed a [su]it to have the plan thrown out as [u]nlawful.

[Ye]sterday he sent a copy of his co[urt] petition along with a letter to [th]e two banks where the fund is [on] deposit. They are the National [Sa]vings & Trust Co., here, and the Central National Bank of Cle[ve]land.

Cit[es] Legal Advice

[He] told them that legal counsel adv[ise]d him that under the Taft-Ha[rtle]y Act, it was necessary for both him and Lewis to sign all che[cks]. He pointed out that he had [vo]ted against the pension plan agr[eed] to by Lewis and Bridges.

[The]refore, he said, he was notifyin[g] the banks that any money the[y p]aid out without his signatur[e a]nd authorization would be at t[hei]r own risk.

A[s o]f last night, neither bank had [r]eceived Van Horn's letter. Bot[h d]eclined to comment.

I[n h]is suit, filed in District Court Apr[il] 21, Van Horn also asked that L[e]w[is] and Brid[g]es be held "per[son]ally liable" for any money they p[ai]d out on pensions for retired [mi]n[e]rs. He also sought an injunct[ion] against the whole plan. Lewis a[nd B]ridges have until May 10 to an[sw]er the injunction request.

[Va]n Horn's latest move came a da[y] after the other two trustees [to]o[k] the first steps to put the plan [in] operation. They hired Miss [J]o[s]ephine Roche as fund director an[d] went about preparing applica[t]ion forms and attending to other mechanical details. Van Horn voted against all such action.

He argues that the plan is un[la]wful on two grounds. He claims:

1. Under the Taft-Hartley Act, [th]e industry trustee, as well as the [la]bor trustee, must authorize any [w]ithdrawals from a pension fund.

2. As the fund is now proposed, [it] would pay benefits to some [m]iners who are not been employes [o]f coal companies contributing to [th]e fund, and some who are not "employes" because they retired a [y]ear or two ago. The law prohibits [b]enefits payments to such non-employes.

N. Y. Pier Boss Fatally Shot

New York, April 29 (U.P.). — A 30-year old waterfront boss was mowed down by a gunman today as he left his home for work. He [di]ed 11 hours later in Jewish Memorial Hospital.

His assailant leaped from a car, fired seven times with a .45 automatic and fled, hiding his face in a handkerchief. He escaped in a black sedan.

The victim, Thomas Collentine, was a hiring foreman at Pier 92, described by police as "the hottest pier on the waterfront." He was shot twice in the abdomen and once in the right thigh.

Probe Ordered Of Rule Barring GI Pallbearers

By the Associated Press

Chairman Hartley (R., N. J.) of the House Labor Committee yesterday ordered an investigation into what he said was refusal by union pallbearers of Union City, N. J., to permit Marines to serve as pallbearers at the founderal of a World War II Marine hero.

"This is one of the worst cases I ever heard of," Hartley said, "and believe me we're going right to the bottom of it."

Hartley named Representative Wint Smith (R., Kans.) to make an on-the-spot inquiry.

Hartley said he has received many protests over the incident which involved the reburial of Pvt. James J. Donnelly, jr., of Jersey City, after his body was brought back from the Pacific last week.

The union said it would comment tomorrow.

Loyalty Check Held Unnecessary Now

7-Man Commissioners' Committee Makes Interim Finding, Proposes Survey Later

By James E. Ficken
Post Reporter

There is "no necessity . . . at this time" for a general loyalty check of all District government employes, a seven-man Commissioners' loyalty committee said in a unanimous resolution yesterday.

"The committee recommends a survey be made by it of all District of Columbia agencies to determine if any positions or installations of these agencies could be declared 'sensitive' to national security," the resolution said.

The Commissioners approved the resolution, which was termed an "interim" report. "Further recommendations will be made," Special Assistant Corporation Counsel Daniel B. Maher, chairman of the committee, said.

Action was "deferred" on a Board of Education request that School Superintendent Hobart M. Corning be appointed to the committee, Maher said.

The Commissioners referred the Board of Education request to the committee Tuesday when they formally appointed the seven-man committee. The school board request was made contingent on the committee deciding to go ahead with the loyalty probe suggested originally by Commissioner John Russell Young.

The committee's decision was reached after a two-hour meeting in the District Building office of Charles Stofberg, Commissioner Young's special assistant. Stofberg is a member of the committee.

The committee was instructed by the Commissioners to "investigate, study and consider all phases of a loyalty program" and report its findings to the city heads.

Young proposed that the District set up its own loyalty check after the Civil Service Commission ruled it had no authority to include city employes in the Federal Government's loyalty program.

Young originally suggested that actual loyalty investigations be handled by the Metropolitan Police Department. When this suggestion drew some criticism, Young said using the Police Department was only "one of a lot of possibilities."

Heads of 19 key District Government departments gave their employes a clean bill of health when polled by The Washington Post Monday. All declared that they do not have any loyalty problem in their departments.

Jury Selected In 2d Movie Contempt Trial

Nine Government workers, two telephone men and a housewife were seated as jurors in the second movie contempt case here yesterday.

The 12 will decide whether Dalton Trumbo, film writer, refused to tell Congress whether he belonged to the Screen Writers Guild or the Communist Party. He was one of 10 Hollywood notables accused of refusing to answer such questions when asked by the House Un-American Activities Committee last fall.

All of the 10 were charged with contempt of Congress. John Howard Lawson, the first to be tried, was found guilty last week.

The Trumbo jurors were chosen after Justice David A. Pine upheld the District method of calling citizens for jury service. Defense counsel claimed the plan was unfair, and that the jury commissioners kept poor people and naturalized citizens off the lists.

utilization of atomic energy" for military as well as peaceful purposes.

He said the present members were appointed "without any reference to their political affiliations." He added that there should be "a vigorous nonpartisan" development of the program.

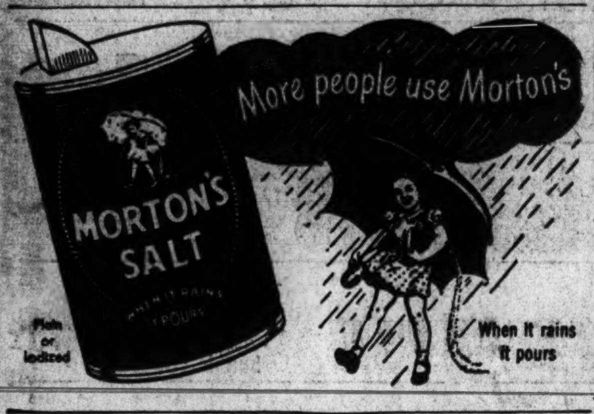
This was seen as an allusion to Republican sentiment that no further Democratic nominees be confirmed for long-term appointments. This would be in anticipation of a GOP election victory next fall and the desire to be free to name their own selections for important posts.

But under the President's schedule, set by the law, Commission Chairman David E. Lilienthal was reappointed for a five-year term and Sumner E. Pike for four years. These are the two members of the commission against whom there is the greatest Republican opposition.

Senator Bourke B. Hickenlooper (R., Iowa), chairman of the Joint Congressional Atomic Energy Committee, said he had no comment yesterday on the President's statement. He has been reported as the ball-carrier of the idea of one- or two-year terms.

Senator Taft (R., Ohio), GOP Senate policy leader, originally spoke out against the five-year term for Lilienthal, but said he was not opposed to a one-year reappointment. Yesterday, in Toledo, he said he will wait until he returns here next Tuesday before deciding whether to fight confirmation to the longer terms.

The opposition to them is by no means uniform in Republican ranks, especially among the field of contenders for the presidential nominations. Harold E. Stassen criticized Taft for the stand he took. And earlier this week, Governor Earl Warren of California announced he favored the reappointments as prescribed by the President.



Congress May Tie Up Funds of Commerce, Two Other Departments in Condon Dispute

By the Associated Press.

The fight between Congress and the White House over the loyalty files of Dr. Edward U. Condon threatens to tie up funds for the State, Commerce and Justice Departments.

The money, to finance the three big agencies during the year starting July 1, is carried in a single bill passed by both House and Senate but in slightly different form. That means a conference committee will have to try for a compromise.

But spokesmen for the House Appropriations Committee said there will be no move to hurry up the conference unless the Commerce Department retreats from its refusal to turn over the Condon files to the Un-American Activities Committee.

The House passed a resolution last week directing the Secretary of Commerce to surrender an FBI letter relating to Condon's loyalty.

Previously, an Un-American Activities subcommittee had called Condon, head of the Bureau of Standards, one of the weakest links in atomic security. It said he had associated with suspected Soviet spies. In support of the latter charge, it quoted from part of the FBI letter.

But it said it needed the entire letter to make a full inquiry.

Condon not only denied the charges but pressed for a full hearing.

Shortly after the House directed the Commerce Department to turn over the letter, President Truman indicated to a news conference that the letter would not be forthcoming.

An Appropriations Committee spokesman told reporters:

"If that's the way the Commerce Department and the President want to act about it, we'll see how they feel if we decide to hold up their money."

He added: "It is unfortunate that the other two agencies (State and Justice) may have to suffer also."

The bill as it now awaits conference carries $174,036,660 for Commerce, $205,985,477 for State and $116,655,700 for Justice. None of the money is for use until July 1, but the agencies generally start planning their spending programs as soon as the bill clears Capitol Hill.

"They can wait a while," the committee spokesman said.

from Baghdad in Trans-Jordan toward Palestine.

Trans-Jordan government sources said 30,000 regular army troops from Arab nations under the command of King Abdullah of Trans-Jordan "will rescue Palestine May 15," the date the British mandate ends.

Egyptian Forces Sent

Egyptian Communications Minister Dessouki Abaza Pasha said in Cairo that large Egyptian army forces have been sent to the Palestine frontier.

Sharp skirmishing occurred in the Jordan River valley near the Palestine-Trans-Jordan boundary.

The Jews claimed their forces captured Beisan, only three miles from the frontier.

The Arab Legion informed King Abdullah in Amman that it had occupied Gesher, near Al Majami, and killed hundreds of Jews. A Jewish Agency spokesman here said three Jews were killed in an Arab attack at Gesher.

Lebanese to Censor All Palestine News

Beirut, Lebanon, April 29 (U.P.). The Lebanese government will begin censorship of all news on Palestine matters, including military movements, it was reported today. Other Arab governments are expected to follow suit.

Arabs Oppose U. N. Sending Troops to Guard Jerusalem

Lake Success, April 29 (AP).—Arabs opposed today the idea of sending foreign troops under the United Nations flag to protect Jerusalem. This virtually killed efforts here to create an international police force for the Holy City.

Jewish representatives said "we definitely agree" to establishment of such a force.

Jamal Husseini, vice chairman of the Arab Higher Committee, told the U. N. Trusteeship Council that Arabs see no difference between foreign soldiers and foreign civilian volunteer police.

Roger Garreau of France, sponsor of the plan to recruit 1000 volunteers for the U. N. force, indicated he might withdraw it. He said both Arabs and Jews must cooperate if the plan is to work.

Husseini's stand caused speculation here over the fate of the U. N. cease-fire agreement for the old walled city in Jerusalem.

The Arabs have accepted the truce for the old city only; the Jewish Agency for Palestine representative here, Moshe Shertok, said he still was waiting for the agency to confirm the limited truce to which he agreed yesterday.

Other Palestine developments here:

1. Philip C. Jessup, United States, asked the Assembly's political committee to approve quickly the United States Trusteeship plan for Palestine. He also declared the delegation officially denied—published reports that the United States has changed policy on Palestine. The committee will discuss the plan at 9:30 a. m. (EST) Friday.

2. In the first concrete talk of trusteeship from the Arab side, Iraq suggested to the political committee that any Palestine trusteeship be limited to one or two years and that the question of Jewish immigration be held up until trusteeship ends.

3. The U. N. Truce Commission in Palestine advised the Security Council it had not been able to get the Arabs and Jews to meet because the Arabs refused to sit down with the Jews.

4. [The United Press said the Truce Commission had warned King Abdullah of TransJordan not to invade Palestine with his Arab Legion. Abdullah was told any warlike action "would be the cause of the gravest censure by the Security Council and the entire United Nations."]

5. Pablo Azcarate, a Spanish Republican who headed the U. N. advance party to Palestine and has just returned from Jerusalem, told the U. N. Palestine Commission here that partition of the Holy Land is an accomplished fact. He said it is impossible now to change the course of developments in Palestine.

[6. Two American colonels returning from Palestine told the United Press that if Haganah were allowed to buy arms and heavy equipment, the Jewish militia could go on the offensive within 24 hours and that all the Arab nations could not stand against a well-armed Jewish army. The statement of Col. Melvin L. Kiulewitch of the Marine Corps and Lieut. Col. Harry Henshel of the Army were denied by Arab sources.]

J. Fletcher-Cooke, British Palestine expert, said Jerusalem will have only 300 Arab and 300 Jewish police after May 15 unless an international force is created.

Fletcher-Cooke said conditions in Palestine and Jerusalem have deteriorated very rapidly in the last two days. He said only 23 British officers now are in Jerusalem and the British mandatory administration in effect was no longer in control.

Loy Henderson Engineered Palestine Switch, Editor Says

Lake Success, N. Y., April 29 (U.P.). The United States decided to kill the Palestine partition plan a few days after its passage by the United Nations General Assembly and weeks before serious fighting erupted in the Holy Land, the magazine "U. N. World" said today.

Ladislas Farago, senior editor of the privately owned magazine, accused a small but influential group in the United States State Department of seizing the opportunity provided by the intensification of the "cold war" late in 1947 to make the Administration renounce its pro-partition stand. He said United States oil companies also fought the partition policy.

The article named Loy Henderson, chief of the State Department's Near Eastern Division, as the blue-printer of the new American policy.

The Henderson plan, now official American policy, envisions a final Holy Land solution patterned after the socalled Morrison-Grady plan, Farago said. That plan, drafted some years ago by Herbert Morrison of the United Kingdom and Henry F. Grady of the United States, would grant a limited autonomy to a small Jewish area in a centrally controlled Palestine, about 1500 square miles, as compared to the 5000 they would control under partition.

Farago also said two British generals have agreed with Arab leaders to carve up Palestine among the surrounding Arab states. He named them as Brigadier Patrick Andrew Clayton, veteran "lone-wolf" British master spy of the Middle East, and General Glubb Pasha, British commander of the Arab Legion.

Reexamination of 10,000 Officers' Pensions For Disability Recommended by House Unit

By Marshall Andrews
Post Reporter

Action to require reexamination of some 10,000 Army and Navy officers now drawing pensions for disability was started yesterday in the House Armed Services Committee.

Representative Leroy Johnson (R., Calif.), chairman of a subcommittee, said he would call hearings "as soon as possible" on legislation to revise the entire pension system for officers. He said he doubted, however, that the subcommittee could complete its work at this session of Congress.

Johnson's announcement followed a recommendation by another subcommittee that reexamination of about one third of all officers now drawing tax-free disability pensions be ordered by Congress. The subcommittee, headed by Representative Elston (R., Ohio) reported that another 25,000 officers wounded in battle or otherwise permanently disabled should not be affected.

Meyers Case Started Probe

The investigation by Elston's subcommittee was started last December after it was revealed before a Senate committee that Maj. Gen. Bennett E. Meyers, former Air Force procurement officer, bad been retired with a $550-a-month tax-free pension. He later was convicted of persuading a wartime associate to perjure himself before the Senate committee and was sentenced to serve 20 months to five years in prison.

Elston's subcommittee reported yesterday that:

"Public criticism of physical retirements has become so intense that a serious reflection has been cast upon the integrity of the military services. We consider it imperative that affirmative action be taken.

"There appears to be only one possible course, and that is a reexamination of those who have been physically retired."

"Conditional" Retirements Favored

The subcommittee then recommended five-year "conditional" retirements in cases of doubtful permanency, with periodic physical check-ups and final retirement or return to active duty at the end of five years. Income tax exemptions, it said, should apply only to pensions for combat wounds.

In addition, it urged fundamental changes in disability retirement laws particularly so as to equalize benefits to officers and enlisted men. Under present law, officers retired for physical disability receive 75 per cent of base pay for life ,exempt from income tax. Disability pensions for enlisted men are based on a percentage of disability and are subject to periodic examinations.

Yugoslavia Cuts Off Consulate Rations

Belgrade, Yugoslavia, April 29 (AP).—Yugoslav officials will cut off Yugoslav rations to all foreign consulates in Zagreb Saturday and will not renew the lease on the United States consulate building there.

The United States Embassy gave up the use of its airplane yesterday when the plane flew Ambassador Cavendish W. Cannon and his wife to Udine, Italy, en route to Trieste on a visit.

The Yugoslav government has agreed to let the plane bring them back to Belgrade provided it then leaves the country forever.

Powerful Air Force Favored By Senate Committee, 16 to 1

long-range training plan with favor. In hope of putting through some scheme to provide the armed forces with trained reserves, members of the Senate Armed Services Committee advanced an idea to "marry" the draft and UMT.

Outline of Program

This program would draft a limited number of youths aged 18 to 19½ for one year's training and service in regular armed forces units in this country. They would then be transferred to the National Guard of Reserves and be exempted from the regular 19 through 25-year-old draft. Secretary Forrestal and the Army, Navy and Air Force indorse the plan.

Mr. Truman said the compromise wa snot what he wants by any means, but is a step in the right direction.

Approval of the plan by the Senate Armed Services Committee is predicted, perhaps early next week. That group plans to couple the 18 to 19½ one-year training draft, with a 19½ through 25 two-year service draft.

The House, however, seems dead against the draft-UMT "marriage" bill. Its Armed Services Committee opposes it and is expected to send a straight 19 through 25 draft bill to the floor next week.

The compromise plan was attacked from another quarter yesterday. Members of the national security commission of the American Legion, after meeting here with defense chiefs and Congressmen, announced they would recommend that the Legion oppose it.

Viewed as 'Shotgun Wedding'

"The proposed blending of the draft and UMT, as expressed in the Senate," said S. Perry Brown, chairman of the Legion group, "seems to have the character of a shotgun wedding."

The American Legion has been one of the staunchest advocates of both UMT and the draft.

Meeting in closed session yesterday, the House Armed Services Committee wrote one important amendment into its draft bill. It would require manufacturers and other suppliers to give priorities to equipment for the armed forces. If they refused, or held out for an unfair price, the President would be empowered to take over the plant.

The "standby industry draft" provisio, offered by Representative Lyndon Johnson (D., Tex.), was adopted unanimously.

House Vote Next Week

Chairman Walter G. Andrews (R., N. Y.) said the House committee expects to complete work on the draft bill today and introduce a "clean" bill embodying all amendments. This will be referred to the Pentagon for comment, and be voted on next week.

The aircraft procurement appropriation bill sent to the Senate floor yesterday carries $2,045,100,000 in cash and contractual authority for over 2600 new planes and aircraft parts for the Air Force. Naval aviation will get 753 millions cash and contract authority for about 1500 planes.

An additional 400 millions in cash is provided to pay off prior contracts. The Senate committee added $31,100,000 to the bill to restore some depleted Army engineer and construction funds, and made several other technical amendments.

In approving the additional funds for the Air Force beyond budget estimates, the Senate group disregarded the advice of Defense Secretary Forrestal, Army Secretary Kenneth Royall and Navy Secretary John L. Sullivan.

Ursiny Given Seven Years by Czech Court

Prague, Czechoslovakia, April 29 (U.P.).—A state court in Bratislava today sentenced Jan Ursiny, former Vice Premier of Czechoslovakia, to seven years' imprisonment for conspiracy.

Otto Obuch, Ursiny's private secretary got a 30-year sentence. Fourteen other defendants, were charged with aiding an alleged conspiracy to set up a separatist state with foreign aid drew sentences ranging from four months to 18 years. One defendant was freed.

Ursiny was a leader of the Slovak party which won a 62 per cent majority in the 1946 Slovakia elections.

Named in the case were the Slovak Action Committee in Bridgeport, Conn., and Ferdinand Durchansky, wartime Foreign Minister of the Slovak Republic, who is under death sentence as a war criminal. Durchansky is believed to be in Argentina.

Mint Juleps Described As Heart Trouble Aid

Atlanta, Ga., April 29 (U.P.).—Americans might have less heart trouble if they would revert to the leisurely tempo of life that goes with the frequent sipping of mint juleps, a Texas doctor said today.

Dr. George R. Herrman, professor of medicine at the University of Texas, told a meeting of the Medical Association of Georgia that mint juleps are beneficial "because they dilate the arteries of the heart."

Britain and France Erred in Rejecting Russia's 1939 Pact Offer, Churchill Says

New York, April 29 (AP).—Winston Churchill says in his war memoirs that if Prime Minister Neville Chamberlain had accepted a Russian offer of a Soviet-British-French mutual assitance agreement in 1939 history might have taken a different course.

His memoirs are being published by Life magazine and the New York Times.

Churchill describes how Russia proposed on April 16, 1939, through its Foreign Minister, Litvinov, that Britain, France and the USSR create a united front. Britain and France should have accepted, he says, and determined how it could be effective later, in case war was declared.

Instead, there was a delay and Litvinov was replaced by Molotov. And on August 19, 1939, Stalin announced his intention to sign a pact with Germany.

Churchill says only two totally despotic nations could have made such an agreement as was signed by Russia and Germany Both Stalin and Hitler were aware that it could be only a temporary agreement, he says, because the differences between their two systems of government were mortal.

The wartime Prime Minister writes that Stalin doubtless believed Hitler would be a less deadly foe to Russia after a year of war with the Western powers, while Hitler was following his method of taking on one enemy at a time.

Churchill says the motives which inspired Chamberlain cannot be impugned and that he acted with the highest degree of moral courage.

Britain was badly prepared for war, he says. There were barely 100 antiaircraft guns to protect London.

In 1939, Churchill was impressed by the complete acceptance of the defensive which obsessed the French.

He says the French and the English had allowed themselves to get in a physical and psychological condition where they were unable to act on the truthful assumption that only 42 half-trained and half-equipped German division guarded their frontier from the North Sea to Switzerland.

Tired Kidneys Often Bring Sleepless Nights

Doctors say your kidneys contain 15 miles of tiny tubes or filters which help to purify the blood and keep you healthy. When they get tired and don't work right in the daytime, many people have to get up nights. Frequent or scanty passages with smarting and burning sometimes shows there is something wrong with your kidneys or bladder. Don't neglect this condition and lose valuable, restful sleep.

When disorder of kidney function permits poisonous matter to remain in your blood, it may also cause nagging backache, rheumatic pains, leg pains, loss of pep and energy, swelling, puffiness under the eyes, headaches and dizziness.

Don't wait! Ask your druggist for Doan's Pills, a stimulant diuretic, used successfully by millions for over 50 years. Doan's give happy relief and will help the 15 miles of kidney tubes flush out poisonous waste from your blood. Get Doan's Pills.

Clay Predicts Nazis Will Try Comeback

Fear of Communist Dictatorship May Win Germans' Support, He Says; Discounts War

Frankfurt, Germany, April 29 (U.P.).—United States Military Governor Gen. Lucius D. Clay predicted today that Germany's surviving Nazis would try a strong political comeback. He indicated they might be supported by Germans fearing a Communist dictatorship.

Gen. Clay

Clay said the Soviets' anti-Allied campaign in Berlin did not foreshadow immediate war.

"I'm not worried about war tomorrow or for the next day," he said.

Clay's remarks on the possible resurgence of naziism came less than 12 hours after American and British deputy commandants charged the Russians with permitting Nazis to rise again in their zone under the guise of "National Democrats."

Clay said United States occupation policy was directed against a possible Nazi rise to power. The job of beating the Nazis, he said, was mainly in the hands of German democratic forces.

Clay said he would continue his efforts to halt illegal immigration of Jewish displaced persons from the United States zone to Palestine, no matter what occurred in the Holy Land.

Clay promised Allied correspondents he would personally thrash out with them details of his new press directive. He said there will be no censorship of Allied reporters in Germany.

The official Soviet army organ, Taegliche Rundschau, meanwhile, reported that Russia has promised small emergency shipments of grain, fodder and fertilizer to the Russian zone. It was believed the first time Russia has proposed to send food into Germany.

The Soviet announcement came as thousands of workers in the Ruhr, in the British zone, threatened to strike because of food shortages. Scattered walkouts already have started.

U. S. Sergeant Defies Red Threat Against Flag

Linz, Austria, April 29 (AP).—Sergt. Frank Druschel of Aurora, Ill., told tonight how he defied Russian troops who threatened to shoot down an American flag on a grounded excursion steamer a mile from here.

The American-leased steamer, Stadt Passau, struck a sandbar after an oil line broke last night. The Danube River forms the boundary between the United States and Russian occupation zones at that point.

Druschel, in charge of the boat, said a Russian officer on the Russian side of the river shouted a demand that the flag be lowered and threatened to have it shot down. The Russian also threatened to have the steamer blown up if any attempt was made to move the vessel.

Druschel said when he refused to lower the flag the Russian troops withdrew from the bank.

There were 19 passengers aboard the steamer at the time. Three Austrian crew members and an Austrian policeman were arrested by the Russians when they went ashore on the Russian side to seek help. They were held until this morning.

Chinese Elect Foe of Chiang Vice President

Nanking China, April 29 (U.P.).—Gen. Li Tsung-Jen, reform candidate who rose from the ranks to command of Generalissimo Chiang Kai-shek's Peiping headquarters, was elected the first vice president of China today under the new constitution.

Li, 58, defeated incumbent Dr. Sun Fo in a hotly contested election which saw the National Assembly rebuke the right-wing of the Kuomintang Party, ruler of China for 21 years.

The vote was 1438 to 1295, with Libertl delegates from North China and Manchuria swinging the election in Li's favor.

Dr. Sun, 55, son of the Chinese republic's founder, Dr. Sun Yat-sen, termed his defeat a protest against Chiang's leadership on the part of assembly delegates. Chiang had backed him for vice president.

Chiang, who was elected President by an overwhelming majority, and Li are to be inaugurated May 5.

Greek Clashes Reported

Athens, Greece, April 29 (U.P.).—A general staff communique today reported new skirmishes in ravines in the Ghiona Mountain area of central Greece. Press reports claimed the government offensive had split guerillas in two groups in that area.

One group was said to number about 250 soldiers accompanied by about 1000 civilians, some of them hostages.

Other rebel forces in the Parnassos Mountain region were reported to have been split into three groups. The air force was reported dropping 150 - pound bombs on one of the groups.

Rail Threat

Whether or not the threatened railway strike materializes, it seems to us that the necessity for strengthening the Railway Labor Act has been conclusively demonstrated. For many years the procedures laid down by law for peaceful settlement of railway labor disputes worked well. But in recent years railway unions have repeatedly threatened to strike in order to obtain concessions greater than those recommended by the emergency boards set up under the Act. President Roosevelt followed a highly opportunistic policy in his efforts to avert threatened paralysis of the Nation's transportation system by repeatedly ignoring the findings of these boards when they proved unacceptable to the unions. As a result the unions have been encouraged to employ the strike weapon as a means of enforcing their demands.

Two years ago President Truman, acting under his wartime powers, broke a short-lived, but costly, strike by seizing the railroads and threatening to turn them over to the Army for operation. Since the war has not yet been declared officially ended, the Administration is said to be debating the legality of another seizure of the railroads, as a last resort, under an act passed in 1916, in anticipation of war. However, we cannot rely indefinitely upon hastily invoked wartime legislation to prevent paralyzing tie-ups of our transportation system in peace time. The coal strike has already demonstrated the need for strengthening the emergency provisions of the Taft-Hartley Act to avert or end strikes that impair national health or safety. A rail strike would be a much greater potential menace to public welfare than the coal walkout. Yet the Government cannot even seek temporary injunctive relief, as it did in the case of the coal strike, because railway employes are not subject to the provisions of the Taft-Hartley Act.

As the railway unions have already complied with all the statutory requirements of the Railway Labor Act, no legal obstacles stand in the way of their striking to gain their ends. But if they should strike, we feel sure that they will have cause to regret their rash action. For the Government cannot permit the public interest in the maintenance of essential public services to be jeopardized by the action of a small, irresponsible minority. Either that minority must justify the faith in peaceful collective bargaining which underlies the Railway Labor Act or they must be prepared to submit to some form of legislative coercion as an alternative means of preventing strikes, such as compulsory arbitration of disputes or Government seizure of the railroads, making strikes unlawful and subjecting strikers to severe penalties. We feel that the people have lost patience with the arbitrary tactics of the labor czars.

Democratic Division

Undoubtedly there are members of the Democratic National Committee who would like to nominate someone other than Harry S. Truman for the Presidency, but Gael Sullivan has given no reason to think that he is among them. As vice chairman and executive director, he contributed to the work of the committee a combination of idealism and practical political experience rare among professional politicians. Whether or not he privately hoped that the Democratic nomination would go to Supreme Court Justice William O. Douglas, as he is said to have intimated in response to an embarrassing question at the recent meeting of the American Society of Newspaper Editors, his loyalty to the leader of the party, the President, was unswerving. One may take at its face value his explanation that he is leaving his post because of the attractiveness of a private business opportunity offered to him.

Nevertheless, his resignation will lend nothing to President Truman's political strength or standing. It invites, inescapably, the inference that he has no great confidence in the President's prospect of election next November. This is a pessimism in which, if he feels it, he is by no means unaccompanied. The revolt of the South is not so much a protest, as it pretends to be, against the President's civil rights program which was, after all, a part of the Democratic platform in 1944, as it is a reflection of the feeling that he cannot win the election next November. Democratic defections to Henry Wallace's third party stem largely from the same lack of confidence.

Whether the disintegration of the Democratic Party can be arrested by turning for leadership to Justice Douglas or to General Eisenhower is as uncertain as whether either of these individuals cares to undertake the task. A party in power is obliged to run on its record, and the abandonment of an incumbent is therefore always hazardous and difficult. Indeed, it is almost impossible of accomplishment unless the incumbent gives his consent. Apparently Mr. Sullivan considered this an improbable eventuality in the existing situation.

Roof Over The House

Intra-government talks are now in progress with the view of putting a roof over the house of what might be called Brussels Europe. Brussels Europe is the military unity which has just come into being by the joint action of Britain, France, Belgium, Holland, and Luxembourg. The unity means that no fewer than 110 million people subscribing to our free civilization have assumed the burden of a common defense. With Italy, now free to join the combination, total strength would be boosted to 150 million people.

The event is as significant to the United States as many fleets of American airplanes. Friends we must have in this turbulent world, friends who can and will fight, friends who will help themselves. That was a sine qua non of the Marshall Plan. It is equally a sine qua non of military assistance. On March 17 President Truman said "I am sure that the determination of the free countries of Europe to protect themselves will be matched by an equal determination on our part to help them to protect themselves." Show me! The demonstration has arrived, and the time has come to make good on the Truman pledge, to offer a reciprocal gesture under congressional authority, so as to stiffen the European coalition.

It is a great act of faith that this country should be seriously considering the actual composition of the new roof to the Brussels house. Militarily the temptation hitherto must have been to write Europe off. If the assumption is that war is inevitable, we have no business staying in Europe, certainly no business hanging onto Berlin. We ought to hide ourselves behind an aerial Maginot Line limited to our continent. Nothing, of course, would be more suicidal, for that would create the thing that would be contemplated, and in an age where war has no frontier, it would lead, furthermore, to certain defeat. In our present crisis self-confidence and faith in allies coincide with self-interest, and are the free world's buckler. The American mission is to wage peace, so to behave that war can be avoided, and the best way to end the present threat is to remove the temptation to Moscow of a weak and helpless western Europe. The Marshall Plan alone will not revive Europe. It is only by giving a sign that we intend to protect Europe while she is applying herself to the task of recovery that we can insure the return to economic strength and self-reliance of a continent that has become our outer bastion.

Of what should the sign consist? Not, of course, frontier guarantees; these are the methods of a yesterday beyond recall. What will bolster up a defensive Europe is the demonstration of a sense of actual instead of paper participation. Under the United Nations any overt aggression on the part of Moscow would be the tocsin of American military action. But the exercise of the veto power puts a premium on debate and delay. It is around or under the authority of Article 51, the self-defense article, and Articles 52-54, allowing for regional arrangements, that there should be developed mutual aid with the view of providing for instantaneous action. The instrumentalities are available. In New York there is the Military Staffs Committee; in Washington there is the Combined Chiefs of Staff, which already includes two of the Brussels powers, Britain and Holland; in London there is now the military committee of the Brussels powers.

The first move under contemplation is said to be the supply of arms out of the American arsenal. This is the beginning. There should be common planning, the pooling of military effort based upon the division of function, and standardization of equipment. In time, as faith grows out of working together, the atom bomb should be shared. It is one boat that the free world is in, and our behavior should be modeled on that recognition. Unity is far more important than what General Bradley calls checkbook strategy in beating aggression.

Atom Scientists

The reluctance among atomic scientists to accept Federal employment, indicated in a poll taken last week by the Denver University National Opinion Research Center, is portentous for American security. Members of the Atomic Scientists of Chicago, all of whom had worked on the Army's Manhattan District atom bomb project, were asked this question: "How did the manner in which the charges were made against Condon (Dr. Edward U. Condon, director of the National Bureau of Standards) affect your willingness to accept responsible Government positions?" Twelve per cent said it made them "decide to decline any such offer," and 63 per cent said it made them "reluctant to accept." This reaction on the part of men who served their country well in war and who are preeminent in a field vitally related to the national defense deserves some attention from a Congress which has permitted a committee acting in its name to make groundless and irresponsible attacks upon men of science.

Working for the Government in the field of atomic energy is a hazardous business at best. The Atomic Energy Act provides exceedingly severe penalties for disclosure of "restricted data" with intent to injure the United States, with intent to secure an advantage to any foreign nation, or with reason to believe that injury to the United States or advantage to a foreign nation might result from the act. The first two categories need trouble no patriotic person. But the third is a quagmire in which even the innocent may be trapped. For the interchange of ideas with colleagues is an essential of research; excessive compartmentalization, as the atomic scientists learned during the days of the Manhattan District, is a formidable barrier to progress. Yet a scientist communicating restricted data to a colleague who proved untrustworthy, or even merely indiscreet, would be subject to a fine of $10,000 and imprisonment for 10 years.

This puts a premium upon secrecy which may prove an impediment to security. For the real security of the country so far as atomic weapons are concerned depends in the long run on the maintenance of supremacy in the knowledge of atomic energy. If scientists are afraid to engage in atomic research—either because of the penalties attached to inadvertent disclosure of atomic secrets or because of the threat of vilification by the Thomas Committee—or if they are impeded in the conduct of research by inability to communicate with colleagues, American supremacy may be lost.

Canada And ERP

The Canadian Minister of Trade has been in Washington discussing problems connected with Canada's role in connection with the European Recovery Program. Presumably much of the discussion concerned the volume and character of shipments of Canadian goods to participating countries and the amount of dollars to be placed at the disposal of Britain and other European countries for purchases from Canada.

Heretofore Canada's customers in the sterling area and in Europe have been unable to pay for all their purchases in United States dollars. Consequently, a considerable proportion of Canada's earnings from exports has not been available as an offset to her trade deficit with the United States and heavy drafts had to be made on her gold and dollar holdings to cover purchases in this country. To arrest this drain the Canadian government imposed drastic controls on imports last fall.

Without the recovery program, it is evident that Canada would have been forced by conditions beyond her control severely to cut down her shipments to countries buying on credit or making payment in currencies not convertible into dollars. "Briefly," says the Financial Post of Toronto, "the ERP underwrites our main food and other contracts with Great Britain this year and in addition gives us an outlet for any surplus of similar products in Continental Europe. Without ERP most of this export, and especially that to Britain, would have been endangered. The United Kingdom, critically short of both Canadian and American dollars, might have been able to continue to purchase our 'bargain' wheat, but only at the expense of other Canadian exports."

The Canadians realize, however, that the recovery program does not solve the exchange problem created by postwar trade distortions that have involved the Canadian economy in the general United States dollar shortage. They are aware that some of the goods they are now shipping to Europe would normally go elsewhere and will in time be replaced by the products of the importing countries. A permanent solution of Canada's difficulties lies, as her Finance Minister stated last November, when import controls were being tightened, in an expansion of her export trade with the United States and other countries through development of her own resources.

It will be all to the good if other countries benefiting from the recovery program are equally impressed with the need for taking steps now to build up their export trade so that they will be able to carry on successfully when American dollars can no longer be had except in exchange for goods and services.

Favorite Son

Harold Stassen is by way of becoming the favorite son candidate not merely of his home State but of the rank and file of the Republican Party. To say this is, of course, by no means to say that he is going to get the party nomination. Politics being what it is in this country and the American people being so carefully divorced from direct selection of the candidates between whom they are to choose when election day rolls round, popularity may well get the young Minnesotan precisely nowhere. All the same, his triumphal progress is very interesting to observe.

What accounts for Mr. Stassen's appeal to so many electors who, like those in Pennsylvania where he has once more come out on top, have nothing to say about the election of their nominees? No doubt the principle of the snowball, which grows as it rolls along, has much to do with the case. Mr. Stassen's victories in Wisconsin and Nebraska have transformed him from an attractive aspirant into a practical possibility; there is always the chance that the people's choice, as Wendell Willkie once demonstrated, will also be the politicians'.

And so those who merely liked Mr. Stassen but did not take him seriously now feel free to register their preference for him without a sense that they are throwing their votes away. What has contributed most to the snowballing, perhaps, is that Mr. Stassen has treated the people as though he considered their votes important and as though he could win the nomination merely by winning their indorsement.

FOR U. J.

I built her a tower when I was young—
Sometime she will die—
I built it with my hands, I hung
Stones in the sky.

Old but still strong I climb that stone—
Sometime she will die—
Climb the steep rough steps alone,

70-Group Air Force

Airman, in his letter of April 21, suggests that air power's real problem is how to prevent the "front line of democracy" in western Europe from being overrun by the Russians; that "B-29's loaded with atom bombs winging overhead will be of small solace to the Parisian in the Russian concentration camp at Versailles."

The short answer to Airman's attack on Air Force "mustangs" is this: The same Parisian will get even less "solace" from Navy planes "winging overhead" without atom bombs, or from a surface fleet a thousand miles away, or from a large force of untrained UMT'ers several thousand miles away. Like our proponents of the spur-of-the-moment "balanced force," he doesn't seem to realize that the only way to prevent western Europe from being overrun, short of the obviously impracticable solution of matching Russia man-for-man in Europe, is to prevent the war itself; and that we can hope to prevent war only if we have the means immediately at hand capable of striking Russia in force.

Secretary Forrestal argues that a "balanced force" requires an increase in the fleet and land forces if the Air Force is to be increased. His principal point and only valid argument is that the fleet and land forces are necessary to support the Air Force. There is no question that the Air Force at the present time must be supported by fleet and land forces. Granting the logic of his argument, is it supported by the facts? If the fleet and land forces are to be used primarily to support the Air Force, is there any need to increase their present size—particularly at the expense of the very arm they are to support?

To "exert our force along the long line from Tromso to Tehran" we don't need a surface fleet where there is no Russian fleet in existence, nor will a mass of teen-agers thousands of miles away in the States exert much pressure on Russia's huge army in Europe. Only the 70 Group Program which, unlike Secretary Forrestal's "balanced force," is no Johnny-come-lately with the Air Force, can exert immediate pressure.

This force, I repeat, is our only hope of preventing war. It is not the force which alone could win a war. If war does come, not even Airman's "balanced force" plus the 70 groups could keep western Europe from being overrun.

"Tips For Tourists"

I read with considerable interest Tom McCahill's "Tips for Tourists" in the April 25 Parade. Mr. McCahill offers, among others, "one important tip to timid tourists. Don't pay any attention to 'No Vacancy' signs outside motor courts, for these are up for a reason . . . The reason is that according to many State and Federal laws, it is against the law to discriminate against anyone, and this puts the manager who wants to select his clientele in a bad spot. If a Tibetan (sic) bandit chief, for example, drove up with 40 henchmen, the law would require him to accommodate them. The 'No Vacancy' sign is his only protection against Tibetan bandit chiefs."

Until the moment of reading Mr. McCahill's article, I had had no idea that the prevalence of Tibetan bandit chiefs along the highways of my country was such that State and Federal laws were needed to protect motor court managers against their influx. With all due respect to Mr. McCahill's little example, I rather doubt it. In Mr. McCahill's language, I rather think I qualify as a Tibetan bandit chief (with or without 40 trusty henchmen) and so do some Mexican-Americans, Negroes and Jews of my acquaintance—Tibetans and bandits, all.

I have a certain respect for the laws of this country and of the States which comprise it and if these laws are designed to prevent discrimination, then perhaps "in a bad spot" is just the place to put motor court managers who want "to select their clientele."

Blair House

The reverence for Robert E. Lee implicit in the communications of C. W. Milburn (letter appeared April 18) and Lucy E. Weidman (letter appeared April 23) and the disparagement of William T. Sherman in Mr. Weidman's—both with reference to the renaming of the Blair-Lee House—deserve perhaps some brief comment.

It was in the Blair House that Lee so infamously deserted his country in its time of need to join the rebels' ranks and to commit treason. To honor such a deed is sheer hypocrisy if not outright nonsense. Rather than rename the Blair-Lee House by expansion, I think it would only be right-minded justice to excise the name of Lee.

Sherman's accomplishments need no further accolade in the form of a hyphenated proper adjective identifying the President's guest house. Those who want to do him homage can look at the equestrian statue south of the Treasury building.

Sherman's analysis of war and its requirements was clear, hard-headed, and logical, and he should be admired for his intellectual honesty and courage in carrying out in the field of battle his conclusions. War is a dirty business and the faster it is ended, the better. Let us not have any more magnolia- scented tears shed over Lee's gentlemanly war.

Nonsegregated Army?

Admitting Mr. S. Walter Shine's statement in his letter of April 16 that even in the segregated Army fewer Negro enlisted men than white enlisted men were in the top three grades, the writer contends that the imbalance would be even greater in a nonsegregated Army. With competition from well-educated white soldiers present, the 9 per cent of Negro top-three-graders would be greatly reduced.

In his letter of the same day Mr. John N. Thompson, I believe, draws a false implication from my letter. I merely made the point about the ratings to show that financially Negro soldiers are better off now than they would be in the event of nonsegregation. That may not be an argument against nonsegregation but it certainly would be an objectionable effect of nonsegregation.

The corollary point, that Negro soldiers would be discontented with the disproportionate minority of ratings, is an argument against the practicability of nonsegregation which Mr. Thompson fails adequately to rebut. In segregated units officers have to exercise the greatest care lest they be charged with bias; and even when exercising the greatest care they are sometimes charged with bias. In nonsegregated units this same problem would exist on a greater scale, particularly with reference to discontent over the ratings.

In my earlier letter I gave grounds for my belief that there would be friction between mixed troops. In implying that with diminishing "racial antipathies" friction will not be a problem, Mr. Thompson passes over the very real differences between white and Negro troops in habits, temperament, and background. Are these factors of no importance?

If an answer is really desired, let the Army form experimental mixed units which are representative in personnel, staffing, and operation. I believe that if this is done it will prove conclusively that nonsegregation is not feasible at this time.

"Baltimore Plan"

In the April 18 issue of The Washington Post, Conrad P. Harness described the "Baltimore Plan." Readers of the article are guided to believe that Baltimore has made outstanding progress in the removal of slums without the aid of Federal or State monies. This is not entirely correct.

True, Baltimore made into law the principles embodied in the minimum housing and health code in 1941, but due to the war this code was not really enforced until early in 1946. The Fletcher Report, issued in May, 1946, places 65,000 dwelling units inhabited by some 260,000 people in violation of the minimum standard code.

One of the first blocks to be "tackled" under the "Baltimore Plan" is pictured with your article (Sharp st. between Leadenhall and Hamburg). It took one and a half years to accomplish the results you see in the "after" picture. During the year 1947, 26 additional blocks were added to the list to be "worked" by the inspectors. Dr. Huntington Williams, health commissioner, reported on March 28 of this year that 70 per cent of the houses in 11 of the 26 blocks had been cleared of violations or would soon be habitable. This means that a little more than 1000 homes have been brought up to standard through the block-by-block enforcement plan.

Top officials charged with the administration of the "Baltimore Plan" state that even with this effort subsidized housing will still be required in order to bring the city up to proper standards.

The National Association of Home Builders have picked up the "Baltimore Plan" and are expounding it in an effort to defeat the public housing provisions of the Taft-Ellender-Wagner bill.

At the rate the rehabilitation is being carried on, it would take from 50 to 60 years to rid the city of substandard dwellings.

The cost for maintaining the Bureau of Enviromental Hygiene of the Health Department, which is charged with the administration of the block rehabilitation plan, is $61,027 per year. The Baltimore Planning Commission has estimated that the city is subsidizing the slums annually to the tune of 14.3 million dollars. It surely would appear to be more economical in the long run to erect subsidized housing under the T-E-W bill or kindred legislation.

The enforcement program really began to get "teeth" in July 1947 when Governor Lane set up a housing court to hear all violations of laws relative to housing. Subsequent to the establishment of the court, the police department inaugurated a sanitary division. This division has 16 men, two policemen being assigned to each of the city's eight police districts.

The police sanitarians, as of January 1948, have corrected 8810 sanitary nuisances without court action. They took over 673 cases before Judge Krueger in housing court. These policemen cover the entire city and are instrumental in bringing about improvement in sub-standard dwellings included in the long range plan for rehabilitation, but not being tackled by the health department at present.

Thus, in conclusion, in view of the facts presented, the "Baltimore Plan" has only pin scratched the immense problem of "dying neighborhoods."

Washington Calling

Exploiting Natural Gas

PICTURES OF a collection of brand-new Texas multimillionaires were displayed recently in a spread in Life magazine. These men have put together fabulous fortunes within a few years.

The question that naturally occurs is how this is possible with the income tax what it is today. Most of us pay out just about all our surplus to Uncle Sam, and we struggle and sweat to come out even at the end of the year.

The explanation for the Texas millionaires is a special provision in the income tax law. It allows an individual or a corporation owning a natural resource to deduct for the depletion of that resource.

The owner of an oil well or a natural gas reserve can offset 27½ per cent of his profit for depletion. Through the years he may write off well over 100 per cent of the value of his property in this way. Thus the Texas oil man is able to keep far more of his profits than the average industrialist or business man.

THIS IS pointed up by a bill just reported out of a Senate committee which would give natural gas companies a new advantage. According to Senator Tom Stewart of Tennessee, in a minority report, the bill would nullify Federal regulation of natural gas. The two Republican members of the committee, Senator Ed Moore of Oklahoma, spokesman for the oil and gas interests, and Senator Homer Capehart of Indiana, say it would merely "clarify" the authority under which the Federal Power Commission now regulates the industry.

In his minority report, Senator Stewart points to a lot of things which this seemingly innocent bill would do. It would almost certainly mean rate increases in the Northern cities that use natural gas.

But far more important in the long run is the encouragement that it would give to more rapid exploitation of what is a very limited natural resource. Stewart said:

"Thus the bill threatens early exhaustion of the only indigenous fuel resource of the Southwestern States and would impair the ability of such States to balance their economy through industrial development."

In view of our dwindling oil reserves, this is hardly the time to open the way to burning up at an ever more rapid rate a valuable fuel resource. Here is the most serious problem before the American people today and thus far there is little understanding of it.

The old attitude of "get while the getting is good" threatens the last remaining resources on this once incalculably rich continent. Unless these last resources are protected and conserved, we shall become a poor Nation, degenerating into mass misery in the pattern of China. That this is no idle bogey is shown with startling clarity in the much discussed book, Our Plundered Planet, by Fairfield Osborn.

THE NATURAL gas people are only one of many interests seeking to get favors out of Washington. The coming to power of the Republicans is taken as a kind of rallying cry of "come and get it." And unfortunately there are Republicans in Congress working hard to confirm that impression.

Grazing interests in the public-lands States of the West now work ceaselessly to break down the barriers that all experts, both in and out of Government, believe to be essential to protect the precarious balance of land and water. They are reported about to launch a new propaganda drive.

In the natural gas industry, according to testimony during hearings, 25 large corporations control 77 per cent of the total gas acreage in the two largest gas fields in the country, which are both in Texas. Commissioner Leland Olds of the FPC testified that, if the 25 companies got a 5 per cent rate increase, their reserves would bring in "an extra amount totaling $1,616,450,000."

That is a very large sum of money. But again let it be said that the money itself is not the most important element. The secondary effect in holding out higher profits is to encourage wild and wasteful exploitation of vanishing natural wealth.

Both directly and indirectly, by trying to change the complexion of the Power Commission, the drive to undermine present regulations continues. This is the time to preserve our regulatory system, not to undermine it.

Kinsey Report

Your Editor's Note following my letter to Mrs. Meyer in The Washington Post for April 28 attempts to "correct" me by referring to a quotation from Whitehead which you say Mrs. Meyer used. Permit me to bring to your attention that this quotation never appeared in The Washington Post story on Mrs. Meyer, though your reference to it here would lead your readers to suppose it had and that I had simply overlooked it. Mrs. Meyer has been good enough to send me the full text of her speech in which the Whitehead quotation does, in fact, appear. It was not, of course, in my possession when I wrote my letter.

I would add by way of reply to your note that the quotation from Whitehead does not affect my criticism of Mrs. Meyer. A careful reading of my letter will reveal that it is concerned primarily with pointing out that Mrs. Meyer's remedy for avoiding what she calls the aimless gathering of facts would, if adopted, lead inevitably to the monolithic state.

Cloak And Dagger

ROME.—In the comfortably distant United States, it is not easy to grasp the fierceness of the contest between the Soviet Union and the Western world. And for this very reason, it is hard to imagine how very close we have just come, and may probably come again, to the slippery brink of catastrophe. Both these points are illustrated by three curious recent episodes here, which are regarded as fully authenticated by the highest authority.

The first may be described as "the mystery of the Russian furs." Recently the Soviet Embassy in Rome approached the Italian Ministry of Foreign Trade with a seemingly innocuous request. Permission was asked, and cheerfully granted, for shipment to Rome of a load of Russian furs to adorn the twenty-odd ladies of the embassy staff. Subsequently, however, Foreign Trade Minister Cesare Merzagora was astonished to discover that the Soviets intended to import just short of a ton of furs. This would have sufficed to cover all the embassy ladies in several thicknesses of sable, with enough left over to ermine-line the embassy walls.

To seasoned observers in Italy—especially those with access to intelligence reports—this was not especially mysterious. The ton of furs was, of course, really intended for sale on the black market, for foreign exchange with which to finance Soviet agents and the Italian Communist Party. This sort of thing was going on for a long time. The fur fraud was only significant because it was so transparent, which suggests that the Soviet foreign exchange famine must be very acute indeed.

THE SECOND episode may be described as "the mystery of the black market." Prior to the election, near panic reigned in some circles here. Many of the rich prepared to flee the country, and others actually fled. Normally, when the rich pack up to run away, there is a tremendous boom in every foreign currency. Instead, the dollar market remained absolutely stable. This was because the demand of the rich for dollars to carry away with them was more than met by the supply of dollars sent into Italy to finance the Communist underground.

The third episode may be called "the mystery of the disgruntled partisans." On March 20 and 21, large groups of Communist ex-partisans, "activitists" and "agitprops" started for the hills, especially in Piedmont and in the area around Florence. Preparations for direct action were obviously on foot. Yet the fighting men of the underground had hardly arrived at their assembly points when, strangely, and despite the disgruntlement of the younger hot-heads, they began to trickle home. The orders had been changed. By March 24, almost all were out of the hills again.

The explanation of this odd, in-again, out-again movement is only too apparent. It is now hardly doubted that at least two alternative, Kremlin-approved plans for Italy had been drawn up, and that one plan called for direct action either before, during or immediately after the election. Either the wrong orders were given, and the wrong plan set in motion; or Plan B was substituted for Plan A at the last moment. Thus the partisan movement to assembly points began, only to be halted.

How this was done is also known. The Kremlin's order to halt was almost certainly transmitted through the Soviet Embassy, to the Italian Communist leader, Palmiro Togliatti, both before and after the elections. According to an undoubted source, Togliatti visited the Soviet Embassy on several occasions, and remained through the night at least twice.

IMPORTANT LESSONS may be drawn from these three episodes. In the first place, however many millions of dollars the Soviets used in the underground effort of Italy, the sum was trivial compared to the billions more publicly poured in by the United States. Relatively speaking, the Soviets get a lot more political return for a lot less cash. But this is because misery and social unrest give the Soviets their chance. Remove the causes, and the chance will be removed also.

In the second place, the known existence of a Kremlin-approved plan for direct action in Italy means that the Kremlin at least for a while considered taking steps which were almost certain to bring on a third world war. That is the measure of the danger of the world situation. And there is no reason to suppose that the election returns here in Italy will greatly reduce the Kremlin's willingness to play with fire in this manner.

Police Drive Trieste Reds From Streets

Trieste, Free Territory, April 29 (AP).—Civilian police tonight prevented Communists from massing for a demonstration in Trieste in the first test of anticipated Leftist May Day disturbances.

The police fired their revolvers into the air, and used fire hose and motorcycles to disperse crowds of several hundred Communists marching through the heart of the city.

As soon as small groups of pro-Yugoslav demonstrators left the Slovene sector of Trieste, and started toward Piazza Garibaldi and Piazza Impero, the police went into action.

More than an hour after the first disturbance began, police still were moving between the two squares driving everyone from the streets.

Six U. S. Warships To Visit Naples May 1

Rome, April 29 (AP).—The aircraft carrier Philippine Sea and five other warships of the U. S. Mediterranean Fleet will arrive at Naples May 1 for a three-day stay, it was announced here today.

The United States Embassy listed other ships as the heavy cruiser Rochester, flagship of Vice Admiral Forrest Sherman; the light cruiser Dayton, and the destroyers J. P. Kennedy, Fiske and McCord.

Trade Accord Vital to ERP, Truman Says

By the Associated Press

President Truman said yesterday failure by the Republican Congress to extend the reciprocal trade program would sabotage an important part of United States foreign policy and the European Recovery Program.

Mr. Truman noted at news conference that some of European Recovery funds will be extended as loans. He said borrowing nations would not repay if they are unable to carry on the trade that is possible under the reciprocal program.

He described as a most terrible thing a reported move to deny the President for a year the authority to negotiate new agreements under the trade program.

He made this reply when a reporter mentioned what he said was such a proposal.

Mr. Truman said the trade program was an integral part of American foreign policy and that of the European Recovery Program itself.

The trade act is due to die June 12 unless extended by Congress. Under the 14-year-old law, the Administration is permitted to enter into tariff-cutting agreements with other countries in an effort to spur trade.

Lack of Steel to Halt Chrysler Production

Detroit, April 28 (AP).—Chrysler Corp. announced today that a steel shortage will force the closing of its Plymouth plant assembly line for a week starting Monday.

Chrysler said about 2500 of the plant's 7000 employes will be affected.

The Gallup Poll

Reds Fail to Convince Europe That U. S. Faces Depression

By George Gallup
Director, American Institute of Public Opinion

Princeton, N. J., April 29.—For months Russian propagandists have been telling Europe that a business depression is on the way in the United States and that it was to forestall this collapse that the Marshall Plan was devised.

However, evidence from public opinion polls in four European countries—Holland, Britain, France and Italy—shows that only a minority of voters fear a business collapse in the United States within the next two years.

In Britain and France approximately one-third express that view, while in Italy and Holland fewer than one person in six think we'll have a depression here soon.

As for American opinion, a recent survey by the American Institute of Public Opinion finds that one person in four in the United States thinks we will have a depression within two years, while less than 10 per cent think it will come in one year.

The ordinary voter, not being an expert in economic matters, has of course no special knowledge on which to base a prediction about the business future. But his fears and his relative degree of pessimism or optimism about the future can be measured. It is on just such general fears that the Russian propaganda about an American economic collapse is based.

Polls on the issue were conducted by affiliates of the 12-nation world Gallup Poll organization. The question asked was:

Do you think that a serious business depression is likely in the United States within the next two years?

	Likely	Unlikely	No opin.
Italy	14%	35%	51%
Holland	15	30	55
Britain	33	28	39
France	33	33	34
U. S. A.	25	52	23

In the United States opinion was also sounded on the likelihood of depression within one year, and the vote was 72 per cent "no," 9 per cent "yes," and 19 per cent "no opinion."

The accuracy of public opinion sampling methods used abroad by affiliates of the Gallup Poll was attested at the time of the election in Italy on April 18.

The Italian Institute of Public Opinion (DOXA) was showing as early as February that the Communists were in the minority, although at that time many observers feared the Communists would win the election. The poll's final forecast proved accurate within 4 per cent on the extent of the Communist vote, and within 3.7 on the vote of the Christian Democrats, who won the election.

West Europe's Labor Split on May Day Plans

London, April 29 (AP).—The Communist issue has split the workers of western Europe into two camps for the fifty-ninth observance of May Day as an international labor holiday.

Seldom has the choice been presented so clearly in the free capitals of the Old World.

In the past, Communists everywhere boldly claimed May Day as their own—a time for the year's biggest demonstration on behalf of their dreamed-of world revolution of the proletariat.

This time the more moderate left, represented in most cases by the Socialists, refuse even to be seen in the same parades with the Communists.

Overtures Rejected

In some democratic capitals, Oslo and Stockholm for example, Communist overtures for a joint celebration were rejected.

Rival parades and meetings were scheduled for Saturday in London, Stockholm, Copenhagen, Oslo, Paris, Berlin, Amsterdam and Brussels. There will be separate celebrations even in Helsinki.

In the Soviet orbit of eastern Europe, a single celebration, with the Communists in charge, was the order of the day in Sofia, Bucharest, Budapest and Prague.

Moscow set the pace by publishing 51 May Day slogans adopted by the central committee of the Communist Party.

British and American authorities in Trieste ordered pro-Italian and pro-Yugoslav elements to celebrate the day only in their own sectors of the free territory.

U. S. troops in Trieste were armed for a tense weekend.

Hidden Arms Reported

There were reports of hidden arms in the northern Italian industrial center of Milan. Yesterday police found arms in San Giuliano, a Milan suburb.

Communists and left-wing elements in Rome said only an orderly observance was planned throughout Italy.

British Home Secretary James Chuter Ede told the Commons today he had banned a proposed May Day parade of anti-Jewish followers of Sir Oswald Mosley, prewar Fascist leader.

Ede said he has no power to prevent an open-air rally which Mosley will address.

The Labor Party of London called its own demonstration, with Herbert Morrison, leader of the Commons, as main speaker.

It snubbed the rival parade and meeting of the London Trades Council, whose secretary and featured speaker is Communist Jules Jacobs.

In Paris, the traditional Communist parade into the central Place de la Concorde will be confined by police order to the eastern end of the French capital.

The Greek government ordered postponement of May Day celebrations and indicated they may be canceled altogether.

Red Tie-Up Of Socialists Hit in Italy

Rome, April 29 (U.P.).—Italy's left-wing Socialist rebels went over the heads of their leaders tonight and called on the party's 800,000 members to petition for a national congress to scrap the alliance with the Communists.

The rebels indicted party chief Pietro Nenni for "electoral failure."

Last night Nenni and Communist leader Palmiro Togliatti reaffirmed their political unity, after the Communists offered to give up some of their assembly seats to Socialists who would support them.

Nenni, in an effort to stall the rebels, promised to place their demand for independence before the party executive in May.

The rebels, led by former Interior Minister Giuseppe Romita, held an emergency meeting tonight, then issued a communique to all party headquarters urging them to start collecting the 160,000 signatures needed to call an extraordinary Congress.

Romita's faction said it was incensed by "the condescension and unforgivable superiority of the Communists in humiliating us in such a manner" as to give up assembly seats to the also-ran left-wing Socialists.

"That the party, by linking itself with communism, lost its prestige and emerged as a trifling parliamentary force is bad enough, but to think we would accept such an humble gesture of patronage is too much," a rebel spokesman said.

Climb in Bank Loans Curbed Here in Period

By S. Oliver Goodman

Reflecting efforts to curb inflationary credit, combined loans of Washington's 19 banks increased less than 5 per cent in the first three months of this year.

Previously, bank loans here had risen more than 13 per cent in the last six months of 1947.

Total loans and discounts as of April 12 were $253,682,000 as compared with $242,755,000 as of December 31, 1947, according to a compilation released yesterday by the office of the United States Comptroller of Currency.

On January 20 a conference sponsored by the American Bankers Association was held here and an appeal was made to local bankers to discourage speculative borrowing and unessential loans. Since, applications have been scrutinized carefully to see whether they were inflationary.

Other highlights of the comptroller's report, based on the April 12 call for condition statements:

Investments in Government securities rose to $508,508,000, against $505,881,000 at the year end.

Combined assets aggregated $1,094,834,000 against $1,096,608,000.

Combined deposits were $1,020,765,000, against $1,023,899,000. Demand deposits totaled $706,551,000, against $721,733,000. Time deposits of $219,458,000 compared with $221,980,000. Government deposits amounted to $22,534,000, against $14,456,000.

Undivided profits rose to $11,633,000 on the latest call date, against $10,975,000 at the year end. Reserves were $3,348,000, against $3,342,000.

C. & P. CHANGES: Frederick G. Macarow has been elected vice president and general manager of the Chesapeake & Potomac Telephone Co., effective May 1. He will succeed James B. Morrison, who will become operating vice president of the Wisconsin Telephone Co. Macarow, now C. & P. assistant general manager, has been in the telephone business since 1920, coming to this city in 1929. Morrison, associated with the Washington telephone company for 23 years, has been vice president and general manager since February 1, 1946. Both Macarow and Morrison have been active in civic affairs.

BUILDING COSTS: Construction costs in February were 13 per cent higher than a year ago and 108.7 per cent greater than the 1939 average, the Commerce Department reports. Other department comment: Dollar spending on new construction will set a record this year if continued at the rate achieved in January-March period; because of high costs, the physical volume of construction will apparently be substantially below the peak volume of previous years.

ODD LOTS: The 1949 Ford, as yet not publicly unveiled, "looks like a Studebaker from the front, an Oldsmobile from the side and a Kaiser-Frazer from the rear," according to an auto industry man who has seen it . . . Big shipments of coal and ores in the wake of the soft coal work stoppage lifted railroad freight business in the week ended last Saturday to 8.5 per cent above the previous week . . . Socony-Vacuum Oil Co. stockholders were told that first quarter net approximated 33 million dollars against 19 million in same 1947 period . . . Standard Oil Co. (New Jersey) stockholders will vote June 1 on a proposal to approve a five-million-share increase in capital stock.

ANOTHER DROP: for the sixth consecutive week, business loans by Federal Reserve member banks in the Nation's leading cities was reported by the Federal Reserve Board. For the week ended April 21, loans dropped 128 million dollars to a total of $14,205,000,000. They have fallen 556 million in the last three months.

EARNINGS: Standard Brands, Inc., reported net income of $2,913,329 for the first three months, equal to 86 cents a common share, compared with $3,188,136 or 94 cents a share in the same 1947 period. Other income reports follow:

Oils and Rails Continue Rise; Others Mixed

New York, April 29 (AP).—Fast demand for oil and railway shares had small effect on a generally mulish stock market today.

Oils and rails closed fractions to more than 2 points higher. Most other issues bumbled along aimlessly with few moving a point from the previous close.

Volume of 1,480,000 shares compared with 1,400,000 Wednesday. On the average, the market was up .1 of one point at 67.4, as measured by the Associated Press index of 60 stocks.

Curiously, railroad stocks advanced in the face of bad news. Here's the market reaction to the fact that a Nation-wide rail strike may be around the corner.

Atlantic Coast Line up 1⅞ at 56⅞, Southern Railway up 1½ at 46¼, Santa Fe up 1 at 107, Southern Pacific up ½ to 54½, and Illinois Central up ⅛ at 34¼.

Liquor shares were definitely a weak group, which observers tied in with unfavorable first quarter earnings reports. National Distillers Products Corp., profits dropped to 69 cents a share from $1.47 a year ago and the stock closed ½ lower at 19¾. Schenley at 29⅝ and Distillers Corp.-Seagram at 17 were off major fractions.

Oil issues had the benefit of earnings reports that approached the sensational.

A typical appraisal of the trend in oils was supplied by Richfield Oil Corp. Directors voted a quarterly dividend of 50 cents a share, double the previous payment. H. F. Sinclair, chairman, said the new annual rate of $2 was justified by larger earnings. The stock, on a single block of 7,700 shares advanced 1⅞ and closed 2⅝ ahead at 23½. Others up in this division were Sinclair Oil, Texas Co., Gulf Oil, Mission Corp., Phillips Petroleum, and Skelly Oil.

Steels made a play for higher prices at one time but extreme advances were not held up to the close. Ending fractionally up were U. S. Steel, Bethlehem and Youngstown Sheet.

Kaiser Urges Senate to Find Who's Lying

By the Associated Press

Henry J. Kaiser asked the Senate Banking Committee yesterday to nail down the question of who was telling the truth—and who wasn't—in his feud with Otis & Co.

The former shipbuilder and present auto maker made his request in a letter to the committee's chairman, Senator Tobey (R., N. H.). Tobey said Wednesday his committee may undertake a full inquiry into the case.

Kaiser's letter denounced Cyrus Eaton of Otis & Co., Cleveland banking house which withdrew from an agreement to guide a 10-million-dollar sale of Kaiser-Frazer stock.

It said that Eaton followed a "scrap of paper technique" which, if it spread, "would wreck the foundation of the sanctity of contracts."

Kaiser said that Eaton's testimony before the Securities and Exchange Commission was "in absolute variance" with that of Otis' lawyers and underwriters.

The commission has been investigating the collapse of the sales agreement to see what, if anything, it should do. Tobey's suggested investigation would also delve into whether the commission itself was too precipitate in accepting Kaiser-Frazer's stock registration statement, and other matters.

Kaiser wrote the Senator yesterday that Kaiser-Fraser is being made the target of "unscrupulous, malicious, undercover and open attacks."

He said that these attacks hurt innocent people "whose welfare is wrapped up in the success of Kaiser-Frazer."

Actually, Kaiser said, Kaiser-Frazer sales for weeks have been the highest in history and that orders far exceed even stepped-up production.

Eisenhower's 'No' Satisfies McGrath

Ike Wouldn't Accept Nomination Even if Truman Asked, Party Chief Tells C. of C.

By Walter Pulliam
Post Reporter

General Eisenhower would not accept the Democratic presidential nomination even at the request of President Truman, according to Democratic National Committee Chairman J. Howard McGrath.

The opinion was expressed yesterday during a panel discussion at a United States Chamber of Commerce luncheon.

"General Eisenhower, in my opinion, is not a candidate and would not, even if asked by the President, accept a nomination on the Democratic ticket this year," McGrath told approximately 400 persons attending the luncheon at the Mayflower Hotel in connection with the U. S. Chamber's 36th annual meeting.

The four-day Chamber of Commerce session ended with a banquet last night at the Statler Hotel with Crawford H. Greenewalt, president of E. I. duPont de Nemours & Co., as principal speaker.

McGrath's comment on Eisenhower resulted from a question whether President Truman might not step aside at convention time and offer the nomination to the former Chief of Staff.

The question was directed at Edward T. Folliard, White House correspondent for The Washington Post, who was one of three newspapermen on the panel with McGrath and Representative Clarence J. Brown (R., Ohio), chairman of the Republican National Committee's executive committee.

Folliard commented that, from the White House press room, President Truman showed no signs of stepping aside and tossed the question over to McGrath who, he said, "is better able to answer than I am."

McGrath's reply that Eisenhower would not take the nomination drew a caustic quip from Brown. "And I might add I don't blame him."

McGrath, after a moment, retorted: "And I might add the Republican nomination is still open to him."

Brown, campaign manager for Senator Robert A. Taft (R., Ohio) in Taft's campaign for the Republican nomination, earlier was asked by Folliard to interpret the results of this week's Pennsylvania Republican preferential primary in which presidential aspirant Harold Stassen led overwhelmingly in votes cast.

"The reason he led," replied Brown, "is simply that he got more votes than any other candidates. Anybody can figure that out. The delegates, however, are already pledged—72 for other candidates and one for Mr. Stassen."

Other participants on the panel were Jay G. Hayden, Washington correspondent for the Detroit News, who predicted Senator Arthur H. Vandenberg (R., Mich.) would win the Republican nomination on the fifth ballot, and Thomas L. Stokes, United Features columnist.

In speeches before the panel discussion, Brown unqualifiedly predicted election of a Republican President and a Republican Congress in November, while McGrath said "the ideals and programs" of the Democratic Party are under fire "but will survive and triumph."

"Under the Democrat Administrations there have been no real leadership in world affairs," Brown charged, adding that he felt the country had been "sickened and saddened" to learn of "the secret deal and agreements made at Yalta and Tehran and confirmed at Potsdam, which sold many small nations down the river into slavery and communism."

McGrath later said the Democratic Party would be willing to make contents of these agreements public if other nations signing the treaties were also willing to do so. He added: "If we yield to the blandishments of isolationists and appeasement-mongers, we shall lose our peace and freedom in return for a few months of blind, complacent lassitude."

During the discussion, both party leaders were asked if they believe the two parties could get together on a nonpartisan foreign policy. Brown made his reply contingent on his party staying clear of secret treaties.

Citing figures to show America has been more prosperous under President Truman during the past three years than ever before, McGrath declared: "The story of our postwar accomplishments is basically the story of the Democratic Party and the Administration of President Harry S. Truman."

During a board of directors' meeting yesterday afternoon, Earl O. Shreve of New York City, a General Electric Co. vice president, was re-elected chamber president, and Ellsworth C. Alvord, a Washington attorney, was re-elected treasurer.

Christopher J. Abbott of Hyannis, Nebr., and W. S. Rosecrans of Los Angeles were elected new vice presidents. Reelected as vice presidents were: Herman W. Steinkraus, Bridgeport, Conn.; Carlyle Fraser, Atlanta; Roy C. Ingersoll, Chicago, and Powell C. Groner, Kansas City, Mo.

The board also elected Harold F. Sheets of Santa Barbara, Calif., as director representing foreign commerce, and Dechard A. Huley of Dallas, Otto A. Seyferth of Muskegon, Mich.; Richard L. Bowditch of Boston and John Ben Shepperd of Gladewater, Tex., as directors at large.

At last night's annual banquet, Greenewalt called on American businessmen to reaffirm their faith in the "strength, validity and eternal vigor" of free enterprise economy.

The United States, he said, has become the most powerful nation of the world "only because we are free and only because we let man's incentive have full rein." He then asked: "How, then, can we afford to permit any infringement of that incentive?"

Greenewalt's address here was the first since his election as head of the Du Pont firm.

He told the Chamber of Commerce delegates the principal thing America can offer the world is "our faith—our fundamental belief in man's freedom of opportunity and in his inherent dignity."

Declaring that he felt America had dropped several rungs on the ladder of freedom, the DuPont head urged Government controls be held "to the minimum consistent with the maintenance of our democratic principles and that the Government enforce them as an impartial umpire for the good of the entire country."

Tenor James Melton provided entertainment for the banquet.

Congratulations to All

Milk Price Cut Asked

A request that the Virginia Milk Commission meet to consider lower prices for milk in nearby Virginia was made yesterday by an Arlington civic leader.

Any reduction of Virginia milk prices would probably affect the whole Washington area, as the Virginia area is the only one where prices are controlled by law.

T. Oscar Smith, president of the Columbia Pike Citizens Association, made the request for a formal hearing on fluid milk price reduction in a letter to Dr. Tipton R. Snavely, commission chairman.

Smith pointed out that at an Alexandria hearing on April 9, which brought a reduction in cream prices, Snavely advised him that consumers, in addition to farmers and dairies, could also make requests for milk hearings in Virginia.

At that time, Snavely said, the question of fluid milk prices could not be considered as it was not formally before the commission.

occur, they fear the Southern members may vote to cut other farm price supports.

They also are fearful of threats made by members from dairy States to vote to reduce appropriations for tobacco, and other Southern crops, for export under the European Recovery Program.

Senators favoring repeal already are threatening to appeal to the floor if President Pro-Tem Arthur Vandenberg refers the bill to the Agriculture Committee. It may come up for action today or may be delayed until next week.

They already have lined up strong support for the measure. Senator Robert A. Taft (R., Ohio) is expected to drive hard for repeal.

Meantime margarine manufacturers predicted yesterday that the repeal of taxes will increase sales only "slightly." They expect a big switch to yellow margarine, which under repeal will sell for the same price as the uncolored product. There are 20 States, including Maryland, where the sale of colored margarine is prohibited by State law. New Jersey repealed such a law this month. South Dakota has an ambiguous law. It both prohibits the sale of colored margarine and places a 10-cent tax on it.

PEACE FOR THE HOLY LAND

An attempt is being made to stampede the United States Government into action in a renewed effort to bring about the partitioning of Palestine. • • The claim is advanced that an overwhelming majority of Americans of all faiths, support such action. • • We believe that the claim does not square with the facts; and that the attempt must be resisted. • • It is of course true that numbers of Americans have been persuaded that a Zionist state should be set up as a means of helping the decimated remnants of Europe's Jews whose plight they wish to alleviate. Many are now coming to realize that the conflict in Palestine holds out no such hopes; that, on the contrary, the recent achievements and the ancient heritage of Palestine are now in jeopardy. • • Substantial numbers of Americans, of Christian and Jewish faiths, and numerous organizations, Christian, Jewish and non-sectarian, have been and remain opposed to the division of a land holy to three great universal religions. • • Numerous publications, newspapers and magazines, have expressed their concern about the consequences of partition. • • Many millions of American citizens are unaware of the significance of this issue in terms of our basic national interest and have not expressed themselves at all. • • The articulate, highly organized lobbying of those who, for a variety of partisan reasons, favor the partition of Palestine must not push us into an action that may have the most serious consequences for our national security, our foreign policy, our friendship with the Near East peoples, and the cause of world peace.

We call on all Americans to support the plans of their Government for,

A Truce in Palestine

Reconsideration of the Palestine question by the General Assembly

Reconciliation of the warring peoples to secure a stable and just government for Palestine

We call upon the United States Government to present its proposal for a temporary trusteeship for Palestine as a step toward a democratic state that will retain the unity of the Holy Land.

These plans will promote peace

Because they hold out the only hope of stopping the spread of war;

because they offer the promise of safe-guarding the holy places sacred to Jew, Moslem and Christian.

These plans will strengthen the United Nations

Because they face the fact that partition has been shown to be unworkable, and an attempt to enforce an unworkable plan would injure the United Nations.

Because, while the partition recommendation of the General Assembly has no legal, binding force but was, and could be, only a recommendation, these plans will have a sound legal basis in the Charter, under the Trusteeship provisions.

These plans will promote the welfare of the peoples of all faiths in the Near East

Because they work towards reconciliation instead of war; because they will save from danger not only the Jews of Palestine and their great achievements but also the 800,000 Jews in other Near Eastern States.

Because they will enable the Near East to continue its economic and social development, now jeopardized by conflicts over Palestine.

These plans will promote the interests of the U. S. A.

Because they will further friendly relations between Americans and the peoples of the Near East.

Because they will help preserve access to the economic and strategic resources of this important area.

We further appeal for immediate action by the United States Congress to admit to the U. S. substantial numbers of displaced persons of all faiths as proof of our national sincerity in regard to this problem thereby making more likely the peaceful solution of the Palestine problem.

Finally, we appeal to Americans of all faiths to express themselves on these subjects, not out of sectarian or foreign national interests, but solely and entirely out of their concern for what is best for the United States, for the United Nations and for world recovery and world peace.

[The aims of the Committee are to bring peace with justice to the Holy Land; to further the best interests of all Jews, Christians and Moslems in the Near and Middle East; to foster friendly relations among the peoples of these three faiths throughout the world; and to strengthen the United Nations. ¶We invite inquiries and contributions from all who wish to support this program.]

One on the Aisle—

Duel by Mirror Paces 'Shanghai'

By Richard L. Coe

THIS PROBABLY IS going to be one of the durndest movie reviews you ever got into.

"Lady from Shanghai," at the Warner, is a wild, woolly yarn that is no doubt a very bad picture but is tons of fun to watch. Orson Welles wrote it, produced it, acts in it and the credits suggest he also directed it.

The one-time wonder boy—now some 600 pounds lighter—has cooked up the juiciest backgrounds of the season: love in an aquarium, a hegira to Acapulco, a tense scene in one of San Francisco's Chinese theaters and an all-out gun duel before the trick mirrors of an amusement park fun house.

Playing opposite Orson is his one-time wife, Rita Hayworth, a Rita whose auburn tresses have been clipped to a pate-fitting blonde and who spends most of her time lying about like a well-tended Persian cat. Rita plays a very naughty girl who seems to sum up the plot when, near the end, she confesses: "George was supposed to have killed Arthur but he lost his silly head and killed Broome."

The story rambles along like this in wonderful confusion. It's as devious as the anti-margarine forces on the Hill. Welles adapted it from a novel by Sherwood King, how effectively I know not.

Orson, wearing an Irish brogue, picks up with Rita in New York where she's being fancy riding around Central Park in a carriage, She gets her husband to hire him as a seaman aboard their yacht and off they go on a cruise. The husband, Everett Sloan, is a cripple, but one of the land's best criminal lawyers. His business associate, played by Glenn Anders, balmily moons about getting away from it all, talks Orson into saying he's killed him so Glenn can find a new life. But all the while somebody's been plotting something else. I'm sure this must be perfectly clear to you.

"THE LADY FROM SHANGHAI." Columbia release produced, written and directed by Orson Welles from a novel by Sherwood King. Director of Photography, Charles Lawton, jr. Song, "Please Don't Kiss Me," by Allan Roberts and Doris Fisher. At the Warner.

Oh, Those Tropical Fish!

The characters are really Something. Orson moons about by himself a lot of the time, in his Irish way disapproving of Rita's ill-concealed passion for him, but unable to tear himself off to another job. When Anders offers him $5000 for not killing him, Orson asks Rita: "Would you have to take in washing on $5000?"

Anders has a real field day a la Charles Laughton, sweating and chuckling to HIMSELF and worrying Orson about the atom. Erskine Sanford plays a fatuous, foolish judge with great spirit and the other supporting folk are equal individualists. Rita, of course, is absolutely stunning.

While he certainly has given his players some absurd lines to say, Orson has had a great time with the cameras. Orson smooching with Rita before a background of the aquarium's tropical fish is a fabulous sight, and the final gunplay before scores of mirrors is wildly clever. Yes, "Lady from Shanghai," (that's where she's from; your tour includes only New York, the Caribbean, Mexico and San Francisco) is a weird, often fierce movie. But it's certainly fun to watch. Gad, what doings.

Lynn, Duryea and Kilbride Make 'Black Bart' Endurable

By Orval Hopkins

"YOU'RE hanging two innocent men," says Jeffrey Lynn near the beginning of "Black Bart" at the Capitol.

"Innocent!" snorts a deputy. "You were caught leaving town with a man's wife, three stolen horses and $30,000 loot from a stagecoach robbery."

"You call that evidence?" murmurs Dan Duryea, who was ticketed as a hangee. This sprightly tone is maintained through most of the film, despite determined efforts of Yvonne de Carlo to break it down. Seems to me it would be good if Yvonne went back to South San Francisco (the Trenton of the West), or wherever she's from, and stop getting in the way of the actors.

Part-Time Road Agent

The story is the one about the man who is a respected party about town for the record, and a highwayman on the side. There isn't much to it, but it moves along right nicely, thanks to the performances of Lynn, Percy Kilbride and, to a lesser extent, Duryea. Lynn handles the role of the losing lover in what I thought was an earnest, restrained fashion, and Kilbride, though he seems a little misplaced with that Down East accent of his, is convincing as only an accomplished player could be.

Duryea falls short, it seems to me, as the hero of the piece and I'm not sure what the trouble is. It must be that Duryea has the face, particularly the eyes and mouth, of a rough guy and he's hard to grasp as anything but a "sinister." Of course, the Bogarts and the Gables were and are rough guys, but with Duryea there's a certain cruelty about the lips and the set of the jaw that makes one mistrust him, poor soul.

"BLACK BART." Universal-International release produced by Leonard Goldstein. Technicolor by Natalie Kalmus. Director of Photography, Irving Glassberg. Screen play by Luci Ward, Jack Natteford and Williams Bowers from an original by Ward and Natteford. Directed by George Sherman. At the Capitol.

Yvonne de Carlo—well, you know. She does a lot of whirling in a flowing skirt which she hikes up from time to time, as dancers will. Playing Lola Montez, a diamond-trimmed entertainer in Sacramento of the California Gold Rush days, she affects low-necked dresses (I'm not quarreling with that) and speaks with diction which could only be described as lack of. She speaks of "my c'reer" and wants to "talkut" over.

Medley of Spring

Sam Jack Kaufman introduces the live show by inquiring, "What could be more beautiful than Washington in the spring?" and he better not ask me twice. His medley of spring tunes includes "Stormy Weather" and he couldn't have made a happier choice, what with the crispness in the air.

The Herzogs, a trio of trapeze girls, introduce slapstick into a pretty exacting trade and bring it off excellently. "This is a good trick if I do it," says one of the girls, swinging dizzily in space. "And it's a good trick if I don't." Also on the stage are Jackie Gleason, comedian; the Peggy Taylor trio, dancers, and the Stagg McMann trio, harmonica players.

Langer Withdraws War Service Worker Eligibility Measure

Chairman Langer of the Senate Civil Service Committee, yesterday withdrew his own bill to make 500,000 war service and temporary Federal workers eligible for permanent Civil Service status.

He moved swiftly to kill his own measure after it had been opposed by the President and all major veterans' organizations. Half a dozen Federal officials gave testimony on their own behalf of the Langer bill. However, each refused to take a definite position on the bill when it became known the President was opposed to it.

The bill would have permitted war service and temporaries who have had a minimum of 5 years of service to win permanent status by passing noncompetitive tests.

Civil Service Commissioner Arthur S. Flemming spearheaded the opposition. He announced the President's views. He charged the bill would break faith with the veterans who had been promised they would be given an opportunity to compete on an open competitive basis for the jobs held by war service and temporaries. Flemming emphasized that the veterans didn't have a chance for Federal jobs when most of those appointments were made.

On the other hand, several agency witnesses implied that the Civil Service examining program had fallen flat on its face; that employes with excellent records had worked 5 and 10 years without being given permanent status, and that they were growing weary of the uncertainty and indecision. It was also brought out that veterans would stand to gain as much as or more than non-veterans under the bill since a majority of the war service and temporaries are veterans.

Heath Onthank of the Army, and Capt. Joseph L. Byrd of the Navy, explained that the insecurity of Federal jobs would make it most difficult to recruit good people for the new defense program. Onthank said it was estimated that 40,000 new employes would be needed by the Army.

LAY-OFFS: Veteran groups also objected—though not as strenuously—to another Langer bill to protect nonveteran career employes with more than ten years of experience from being bumped out of their jobs by veterans with less service.

MARITIME: A shift in the chairmanship of the Maritime Commission is set to be made soon. The chairman, Vice Admiral William W. Smith, who is a Republican, is slated to be succeeded by Raymond S. McKeough, a Democratic member of the commission. This is the story behind the story:

John Steelman, the Assistant to the President, called Admiral Smith to his White House office several days ago to broadly hint the President would be happy if he (Smith) would resign promptly. Smith is reported to have felt that Steelman failed to give him a good reason why he should have quit. He refused and demanded to see the President to talk over the matter.

The President yesterday saw the chairman for a few moments. It's said that the President suggested, and Smith agreed, to step down and make way for McKeough. But Smith apparently will stay on the commission. The switch is set for tomorrow.

McKeough is a former Democratic member of Congress from Illinois. In the 1944 political campaign, he was the Midwest director of CIO's Political Action Committee.

One official said the White House had become provoked with Maritime in trying to work out a new defense shipping program. The commission was accused of not knowing what ships we had and where they were. Also, the commission was accused of being "uncooperative" with the White House.

NOTES: CIO's left-wing United Public Workers will hold its second biennial convention in Atlantic City from May 17 to 20 . . . Congress has finally approved a shift in funds which will allow the Bureau of Labor Statistics to drop its plans for a forced and payless vacation up to 10 days for each of its employes here . . . Senator Langer has in a bill to require Civil Service to limit jobs in Panama to United States citizens and those who owe allegiance to this country.

Rain Holds Off Hour for Pageant in Winchester

1000 Pupils Present Freedom Spectacle; 60,000 Crowd City For 21st Festival

By Dorothea Andrews
Post Reporter

Winchester, Va., April 29. Miss Gretchen Van Zandt Merrill was crowned Queen Shenandoah XXI here today before a crowd of 15,000 who seemed to hold off the threatened rain with sheer will power until after the coronation.

The fact that the rain did not fall until the afternoon pageantry had been under way for nearly an hour was attributed by old festival fans as part of the town's fabulous luck on weather on its two "big days." The drizzle did not prevent completion of the event, which went off as scheduled.

Miss Merrill, in a flowering white dress with blossom pink train, made a graceful and gracious queen as she pledged to Minister of State Rear Admiral Morton C. Mumma, jr. (USN, retired), and Minister of the Crown Gen. Hoyt S. Vandenberg, United States Air Force Chief, to reign with honor over the fertile valley land.

Photographers and newsreel men jockeyed for places to record the ceremony, held on the portico of Handley High School, overlooking the green bowl. Then the queen and her court, escorted by cadets from Massanutten Military Academy, descended the 71 steps to the floor of the bowl and, treading a white carpetway, took their seats to enjoy the pageant, "Our Heritage," which followed.

Presented by more than a thousand Winchester school children, the gay and colorful fete depicts the advance of civilization and the heritage of the American people "to keep the holy shrine of freedom pure."

Earlier today, Quee Shenandoah XXI, accompanied by her maids of honor, train bearers and crown bearer, went to a muddy orchardland 6 miles from Winchester where the only blossoms hereabouts were still on the trees.

There, Miss Merrill and her court posed again for the newsmen. The crown bearer, James Kenneth Robinson, jr., of Winchester, aged 6, attired in velvet pants and Eton jacket, had to be told by his mother to "smile." Later, at the Handley grounds, another small tot said, wonderingly, "Why, look at Panky (the younger Robinson). He was sick in bed yesterday!" "Punky" seemed fully recovered today, and sat attentively as the afternoon fete unwound.

The town took on a carnival air yesterday as concessionaires and a crowd of about 60,000 people moved in on all main streets with the standard accoutrements of holidays. Winchester's downtown section was nearly completely roped off for pedestrians, with traffic detail handled by the more than 100 policemen from Virginia, Washington, Maryland and West Virginia.

Queen's Ball at Armory

Tonight the queen wound up her big day when she was guest of honor at the Queen's Ball, held at the Armory.

Friday, those who attend the festival will get a new kind of thrill when Bing Crosby, Hollywood star, and Gueen Shenandoah XXI share honors at the feature parade which gets under way promptly at two o'clock.

More than 30 floats, 40 bands, 20 drum and bugle corps and 10 drill and marching unit will move along she "Trail of the Pink Petals" while an umbrella of planes from the Naval Air Reserve Training Squadron at Anacostia Field flies overhead.

The procession will wind its way to Handley High School where the reviewing stand is to be set up. The parade will be preceded Friday morning by a repeat presentation of the pageant, "Our Heritage" at 10:30.

Tonight's Winchester and Visiting Firemen's Torchlight and Mummer's Parade, beginning at 7 p. m., is to be followed by fireworks at the Handley High School Bowl, weather permitting.

Friday's feature parade will include many units from the nearby Washington area. Among these are the Metropolitan Police Department Band of Washington, the George Washington High School Band and Cadet Corps, Alexandria, the Montgomery Blai. High School Band and Drum Majorette Corps, Silver Spring, the National Guard VFW, of Washington, the Guard of Honor, American Legion Post No. 139, Arlington, the Herndon High School Band, Herndon, Va.

Prizes to winners in each parade category will be awarded afte rthe parade has run its course.

At 4:30 p. m. Friday, 20 school bands, representing more than 2000 school-age youngsters, will give a mass band concert in the northeast section of the high school grounds.

The blossom ball Friday night at 10 o'clock at the Armory will wind up the festival's activities.

Cut Fare of Children, Transit Firm Told

The Maryland Public Service Commission yesterday ordered Capital Transit Co. to reduce the fare for school children in Montgomery and Prince Georges counties, or forego a general fare increase.

The commission issued a "mandatory" order whcih in effect stated that Capital Transit could readjust the county bus and streetcar fares upward to 5 cents for 1½ miles, but only if at the same time the company cut school pupil fares to 3 cents.

Capital Transit Co. announced here late yesterday it would have no comment on the commission order until company attorneys had had time to study it.

The company's position has been that it will raise all fares to 5 cents for 1½ miles on May 9, including those for school children.

The Maryland Public Service Commission's order yesterday was the latest move in the four-month-old controversy over Capital Transit rates in the two counties.

Last Nevember, Capital Transit, in conformance with the Maryland law, filed with the ommission a proposed new tariff, readjusting fares in the two counties. The company declared it is losing $588,000 a year on the present rates, and that the higher fares would bring in $400,000 for a net annual loss of $188,000, which Capital Transit stated it was prepared to absorb.

At the same time, Capital Transit filed a petition for immediate relief. Prolonged hearings were held by the commission, with opposition being voiced mainly in Prince Georges County, which would carry the bulk of the fare increase.

After more than three months of hearings, the Public Service Commission approved the increased tariff as of May 2, but only if pupils fares were cut to 3 cents.

The transit company responded that it could not accept the proviso, because there would be a substantial reduction in anticipated revenue, and announced that under the law, it could ignore the commission and go ahead with the higher rates as of May 9, or 120 days after it had announced the new tariff.

Yesterday, the Commission countered that unless the lower rate for pupils was instituted, it would take the position that the present rates must be considered "just and reasonable."

Launderer's Retort Makes Judge Ponder

Judge Thomas D. Quinn of Municipal Court is still wondering who won the case.

Henry Chin Bow, 303 E st. nw., was charged yesterday with violating fire regulations in his laundry in the basement there. According to Charles O'Connell, building inspector, Bow has several cardboard partitions in his laundry, uses hose as gas mains and open gas jets to dry his clothes.

"I asked the man several times to comply with the rules, but every time I broach the subject, he tells me he has no money and has to work 23 hours a day to support his children," O'Connell said.

The laundryman bowed to O'Connell and then to the judge who declared:

"I'll make you take those partitions down. You come back here on May 6 with those conditions fixed or else. You know where you'll go if you don't. You'll go to jail, and then you know what will happen — —"

"Government support my children," Bow replied.

Chevy Chase Child Victim Of Diphtheria

The first diptheria death of a Montgomery County resident since January, 1943, was reported yesterday by the County Health Department.

The victim was 3-year-old Shelly Peck, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Donald L. Peck, of 3908 Parsons Road, Chevy Chase, Md., who died at Children's Hospital April 17.

The Health Department announced that the couple's three other children also contracted the disease. Peck, a Navy publication writer, said yesterday the others apparently have recovered.

The Peck family moved to the Chevy Chase address on April 9 from Norfolk, Va. On April 10, Peck said, the child displayed symptoms, but her illness was initially diagnosed as acute tonsillitis. She played and was not seriously ill until April 15, he reported. Admitted to children's Hospital on April 16, the girl died the following day.

The other three children are Sylvia F., 16 months; Betty Jo, 8, and Rosalie, 6. The Health Department said none of the four children had been immunized.

Veteran Ends Life While Here on Visit

A 48-year-old man yesterday was found dead in the driver's seat of a car parked on Glover rd. near Beach dr. in Rock Creek Park. A hose was connected to the exhaust pipe and led into a rear car window, police said.

He was Howard Frederick Pinck, on leave from a veterans hospital in Asheville, N. C., who had been visiting his wife, Betty, a Pentagon secretary of 1524 A st. ne.

Deputy Coroner Christopher J. Murphy ruled the death a suicide. Murphy sail Pinck left two notes, one indicating a suicide intent, the other relating to disposition of property.

Friends said Pinck, a World War I Army veteran, and former employe of a cement company here, had been under treatment for a chest condition.

The Pincks were married about three years, friends said. He had a married daughter by a previous marriage, who now lives in California, they said.

A mounted Park policeman, David A. Gregory, found Pinck in the car, about 2:45 p. m. He was pronounced dead on the scene.

Mrs. Pinck visited her husband at the hospital and returned with him last weekend. He was on a two-week leave from the hospital, friends said.

Sleuths Who Caught Suspects In Taxi Murders Get Medals

The Washington Post

DETECTIVES CITED—Channing Walker (left) presents awards of the month to Detective Sergts. Randolph Dunn (Center) and Ernest H. Winter

Two detectives who added sound reasoning to a meager clew and trapped two murder suspects were given the "Policeman of the Month" awards yesterday.

The medals, presented during a Kiwanis Club luncheon at the Mayflower Hotel, went to Detective Sergts. Ernst H. Winter and Randolph L. Dunn for theri sleuthing in two taxicab murders here last March.

Their work was lauded highly by the Commissioners and by Police Chief Robert J. Barrett after the arrest of George A. Garner, 25, of 28½ Hanover st. nw., and his brother, Joseph Garner, 23, of 2131 L st. nw.

Both Indicted

The brothers have been indicted in the slayings of James Hardy, 32, 647 G st. ne., and Howard Jones, 37, of 417 Irving st. nw. They are scheduled for trial May 10 and their attorneys are to appear before District Court Justice Richmond B. Keech to plead for a lunacy hearing in their behalf.

After receiving a tip that a man named "George" had stabbed a dog several years ago, the detectives theorized that "anyone who'd stab a dog could be guilty of the taxi slayings." They searched police and Society for the Prevention of Cruelty to Animals records—found their man.

At his home they found a watch identified as that owned by one of the taxi drivers and quickly picked up the other brother. Both have confessed, police say.

Medals Presented

The medals were presented by Alfred A. McGarraghy of the Kiwanis and Inspector Floyd A. Truscott, assistant police superintendent.

Selection was made by six newspapermen, I. William Hill, city editor of The Evening Star; Robert Estabrook, editorial writer of The Washington Post; G. E. Tankersley, executive city editor of The Times-Herald; John T. Burch, reporter of The News; Alfred L. Sweeney of the Washington Afro-American, and Robert L. Taylor, of the Pittsburgh Courier.

Man Fired Store, Warrant Charges

Baltimore, April 29 (AP).—Myer Rubenstein, 45, was arrested at his home here last night on a warrant charging he burned down a jewelry store he operated at Culpeper, Va., last January.

Rubenstein waived extradition at a hearing this morning before a police magistrate and bail was set at $20,000 after testimony that the fire loss approximated that amount.

A further hearing before the magistrate was set for May 6 and Culpeper police are to appear at that time to testify on the arson charge.

The jewelry store, on Culpeper's main street, was destroyed by fire January 31. An indictment returned by the Culpeper County grand jury April 19 charged Rubenstein with "feloniously and maliciously" burning the place.

Hard-Surfacing Urged for Pike

Annapolis, Md., April 29 (AP).—A Howard and Montgomery County delegation urged improvement of the Columbia Pike at a conference with Governor Lane today.

C. Ferdinand Sybert of Ellicott City, speaker of the House of Delegates, headed the group of seven men representing both counties.

He described the route as "one of Maryland's oldest turnpikes, running through scenic farmland."

It extends from Columbia, near Ellicott City, to the District of Columbia line, passing through Atholton, Burtonsville, Fairland and White Oak.

The pike is now gravel, except for a short stretch of asphalt.

Sybert said the delegation recommended a hard-surface road, built and maintained by the State.

Miss Wright, Of Prominent Family, Dies

Miss Rosalind Wright, daughter of Mrs. Elizabeth Washburn Wright and the late Dr. Hamilton Wright, died Monday at the Episcopal Eye, Ear and Throat Hospital, after an illness of several months.

Born in the Far East, Miss Wright's home had been in Washington since she was a child. She attended the Madeira School here, Miss Porter's in Farmington, Conn., and afterward studied in Paris and Geneva. Miss Wright traveled widely in Europe, the Near East and the Far East.

Won Flower Prizes

Following her return from Paris, Miss Wright's debut to Washington society was made when her family lived at 1521 New Hampshire ave. nw. As a member of the All Hallows Guild, for many years she won prizes for artistic arrangement of flowers in her booth at the annual flower shows at Washington Cathedral.

Miss Wright's father was appointed by President Theodore Roosevelt to handle problems of opium traffic for the Department of State. He represented the United States at the International Commission in Shanghai in 1909, and later at three International Opium Conferences at The Hague, from 1912 to 1914. He was a recognized international leader in the fight against the opium evil until his death in Washington in 1917.

Minnesota Family

Miss Wright was the granddaughter of the late Senator William Drew Washburn of Minnesota, and the great-niece of Elihu B. Washburn, who was Secretary of State in the Grant Administration for a short time and later Minister to France. She also was a descendant of Govs. Israel Washburn, jr., and Cadwallader Washburn, and Gov. Emory Washburn of Massachusetts.

She was a member of the Washington Cathedral Garden Guild, the Junior League, and was on the committee for the Home of Incurables. She lived at 2563 Waterside dr. nw.

Besides her mother, Miss Wright is survived by two brothers, Hamilton W. Wright of Cleveland, Ohio, and Washburne Wright of Detroit, Mich., and two sisters, Miss Barbar Wright of Washington and Lady Macfarlane Reid of England.

The Right Rev. Angus Dun, Episcopal Bishop of Washington, will officiate at funeral services to be held today at 4 p. m. in Bethlehem Chapel of the Washington Cathedral. Burial will be in the family cemetery in New England.

William S. Knudsen

Detroit, April 29 (AP).—William S. Knudsen, Danish-born production genius and American patriot, was buried today with simple Lutheran rites.

Big Bill could have had a military funeral or a huge Masonic funeral. Instead, because he wanted it so, the services were brief and there were no long eulogies. Knudsen, 69, died Tuesday following a cerebral hemorrhage.

A single symbol of his greatness went to the grave with him. It was the ribbon, in his coate lapel, of the Distinguished Service Medal, awarded to him for his wartime production achievements. Knudsen was proud of the medal.

Walks Into Pond

Elderly Man Drowns at Sanctuary

An unidentified elderly man who waded into an Arlington pond yesterday and drowned in 3 feet of water was called a suicide last night by County Coroner W. C. Welburn.

As the coroner prepared to issue a suicide certificate, Arlington police tried to identify the man, between 60 and 70 years of age, by his fingerprints, a laundrymark, and the initials "WWS" in his hatband.

The drowning occurred in the Bird Sanctuary just off Mount Vernon blvd. and immediately south of Highway Bridge shortly before noon yesterday.

Several witnesses present told police the elderly man got off a bus from Washington, walked to the water's edge, took off his tan-checked topcoat, folded it neatly, and waded 10 feet into the pond.

One witness, Maj. T. O. Roberts of 1734 Preston rd., Alexandria, said the man then sat down in the water and ducked his head beneath the surface.

While Roberts went to summon rescue crews, another witness, Archie Newman of Route 1, Alexandria, pulled the victim to shore. The Jefferson Fire Department Rescue Squad worked on the body for nearly an hour without result.

The A. B. & W. bus driver who drove the elderly man to the pond, Charles Turisko of Route 4, Alexandria, said the victim told him he had lived around Washington all his life and had been sick for "some time."

He also said he wanted to go "where it was quiet and there were no cliffs or roads," the bus driver said.

Arlington police said the drowned man was about 5 feet 8 inches tall, weighed about 130 pounds, had thin gray hair, a small mustache, and wore a dark gray suit, red tie, striped shirt and a brown hat.

The change in policy was decided upon at a state Welfare Board meeting here today. Under present rules, only private agencies were eligible for reimbursement, explained William L. Painter, Assistant Welfare Commissioner.

The board also adopted a policy urging all local city and county welfare boards to take positive and aggressive legal action when close relative of indigent persons refuse to provide aid when able to do so.

Mrs. Marshall, Sport Figure's Mother, Dies

Mrs. Blanche Preston Marshall, 79, mother of George Preston Marshall, owner of the Washington Redskins professional football team, died yesterday in her apartment at the Broadmoor, 3601 Connecticut ave. nw.

She died shortly after midnight following a heart attack, the third suffered within a few hours. Ill for several months, Mrs. Marshall had recovered sufficiently to take short walks out of doors recently.

A faithful fan of her son's football team, she had been forced to follow its activities by radio and television since her health began to fail.

Fled France at War's Start

Mrs. Marshall was traveling in Europe as World War II broke out. She got out of the country literally a step ahead of German troops overrunning France.

On her return to this country in August, 1940, with but a nickel in her pocketbook, she remarked, "Sure, they told me to get out, but I figured that if there was going to be anything happening, I wanted to see it myself."

Her flight from "fortress Europe" began in the Riviera the day Italy entered the war. She was in Bordeaux the day that city fell and was in Cannes when Paris was overrun. She eventually obtained steerage passage home through intervention of the State Department after she learned that her checks would not be accepted by the steamship line in Lisbon.

Born in West Virginia

Mrs. Marshall was born in Mason County, W. Va., and attended Mary Baldwin College in Staunton, Va. In 1888 she was married to T. Hill Marshall and came with him to Washington about 12 years later. Mr. Marshall founded the Palace Laundry here, which his son carried on until 1946 when he disposed of the business. Mr. Marshall died in 1919.

Since the death of her husband, Mrs. Marshall had lived in Florida and on the West Coast for short periods. She returned to Washington last August after living in Charleston, W. Va., for about five years.

She is survived, in addition to her son, by a brother, George Sebrell of Southside, W. Va., and two grandchildren.

Juror Swayer, Libel Suit Ends In Mistrial

A $70,000 libel suit in District Court brought by a Marine captain and his wife ended in a mistrial yesterday when a juror announced that he had formed a "very strong" opinion from the partial testimony presented so far.

The suit was brought by Capt. and Mrs. Joseph J. Reardon, 3203 Ravensworth pl., Alexandria. Named defendant was Walter K. Handy, jr., of Annapolis. He was charged with trespass and with sending a damaging letter about Captain Reardon to Gen. A. A. Vandegrift of the Marine Corps.

Justice Henry A. Schweinhaut announced the mistrial in the morning. He refused to divulge the name of the juror but said he was glad the juror had the courage to divulge his position. Justice Schweinhaut said the juror had approached him in chambers, saying that he could not hear the trial impartialy. The judge related that at first he advised the juror to hear the rest of the case, and that all persons formed impressions from partial testimony. But the man insisted he was prejudiced already and the mistrial was called, it was said.

Each of the fires started out with the thick, black smoke common to burning powder.

Alexandria Police Go to Show, Force It to Close 25 Games

Alexandria police closed 25 games of a carnival operating in the city last night after city officials moved toward strict enforcement of the State's gambling laws.

Police Chief Edgar Sims said, "We closed up all the games but the shooting gallery. Even the bingo game. Only things left open are the sideshows and rides."

City Manager Nicholas A. Colosanto earlier yesterday had ordered him to close all forms of gambling at the show.

The move toward strict enforcement of Virginia's all-inclusive gambling laws started at a City Council meeting Tuesday when members reported complaints of gambling at Prell's Broadway Shows, which opened a two-week stand Monday.

On order of the council, Colosanto sought an interpretation of the State gambling law from Commonwealth's Attorney Howard W. Smith, jr.

Smith told him yesterday any game is illegal which has in it the element of chance. He said it made no difeernce whether the prize was money or merchandise.

Sims said he didn't know how far-reaching might be the effect of this action. He pointed out that bingo and similar games are played widely in the city.

The carnival was brought to Alexandria as a benefit for the St. Mary's and St. Paul's Boys Clubs.

—With Shirley Povich

NEW YORK, APRIL 29.—No fighters are appearing in New York's hottest bout in months. They're confined to the gyms while the Managers Guild battles it out with Mike Jacobs and Madison Square Garden for a cut of the television receipts.

There hasn't been a fight in the Garden in weeks, and Jacobs' St. Nick's is also dark during the strife. The fighters won't fight until the Managers Guild gives 'em the nod, or the wink or whatever signal Charley Johnston, the John L. of the Guild may use to rescind his walkout.

POVICH

The Guild has already beaten Promoter Jacobs down. He has been panicked at the loss of gate receipts and, more important to him, the stoppage of cash from the radio broadcasts. Jacobs, who used to deal with the Managers Guild with contempt, is suddenly convinced that it means business and that their fighters won't fight for him unless the managers are appeased.

So Jacobs has agreed to give half of the television receipts to the fighters. The big battle has now shifted to a showdown with the Garden proprietors who also cut in for half of the television cash and won't give up anything.

THE GARDEN PEOPLE are proving tougher opposition for the Guild than Jacobs did. Ned Irish, the Garden's general manager, has his Irish up and is threatening to chuck boxing out of the Garden before he will accede to the Guild's demands.

Irish says he'll fill the indoor dates with pro basketball, a money-maker, and is complaining anyway that the Garden fights are not as profitable as the other promotions in the big place. Irish is a basketball man at heart and could mean what he says, but there's more to the picture than the piddling $2000 the television sponsors pay for the rights to Jacobs' promotions.

Right now the television profits are trifling compared to what the radio people pay for the coast-to-coast broadcast rights, but Jacobs, the Garden—everybody—is looking to the future when the television take will dwarf the radio receipts. The Managers Guild wants protection now for the fat days of the future.

THE MANAGERS GUILD is sore, too, at the State athletic commission which demands that the fighters and managers recognize that the radio and television receipts belong exclusively to the promoters. There's hell being raised about that.

The State commission is being accused of trying to serve the interest of the promoters to the exclusion of the fighters and that's what it looks like. It appears like a bit of high-handed business by the commission, which is supposed to be an administrative body, not a business agent for the promoters, and the Guild is raising a big fuss about that.

The Guild is feeling its strength, incidentally. Originally it demanded only half of Mike Jacobs' $1000 television fees. After winning that thought, it has turned its demands on the Garden's $1000 fee from television also asking half. The Garden was assuming that it would have no battle with the Guild.

JACOBS WAS DRIVEN to the wall for another reason. He was beginning to feel the pressure not only from the razor blade people with whom he had contracted to stage fights that could be broadcast weekly over a national hook-up, but radio people all over the country were squawking at the lack of fight broadcasts. They were selling very profitable programs adjacent to the popular fight descriptions.

The Guild is now stripped for final and decisive action against the Garden. It had a four-man committee to work out the agreement with Jacobs but with that one won, it dissolved the committee and gave all its negotiations with the Garden and the athletic commission over to Peter Lauria, its attorney, with full power to prolong the strike if terms are not satisfactory.

The Guild won't interfere with the Joe Louis-Joe Walcott fight in June.

Jacobs appeased him with a share of both radio and television cash for the fighters for that one. But it could be the first title fight staged without preliminaries. The Guild will keep its preliminary fighters in the barn, maybe.

Frederick Born

Maryland's Derby Hopes On Escadru

By Walter Haight
Post Reporter

LOUISVILLE, KY., April 29.—At sundown on Saturday, Frederick, Md., may have another name as famous as Barbara Fritchie. Perhaps someone will name a candy after Escadru or write a poem for it was on the outskirts of Frederick town that the colt, owned by W. L. Brann, first saw the light of day.

Washingtonians might have had a home town pride—Big Dial—to hope for in the Run for the Roses but hard luck in the form of shipping difficulties eliminated him.

Escadru, a name that means nothing but a conglemeration of letters, is the closest thing to a rooting interest for Washington turf fans. He is a Maryland-bred and could be the first from the Free State to win a Kentucky Derby.

Along with the win, place and show boys and girls from Bowie, Laurel, the Graw and Pimlico, I'm forced to cross my fingers on Calumet and hope for this son of Challenger 2d and Escalade.

In addition to the Frederick angle there's the upper Maryland influence, supplied by Trainer Ed Christmas, the youngest of the horse-training Christmas brothers.

Cornered this morning, Ed, who now makes his home in Laurel, had much to say about the 3-year-old in his charge, and his logic seemed to add up to something more than just an opportunity for Derby publicity.

"In the first place, we will have to forget about Coaltown being in the race and center our attention on Citation," he said. "If Coaltown its as fast as everyone claims, we will just have to let him open up his long early lead, then hope that he tires the latter part of it.

"It would be foolish—foolish for any horse in the Derby to help Calumet by trying to run down Coaltown and thereby permit Citation to come from behind to win. I have to gamble that Citation is the better of the two horses and try to win by beating him."

A victory for Escadru also would be a Virginia and, in a way, a West Virginia triumph. Jockey Arnold Kirkland, born in Petersburg, Va., is scheduled to be in the saddle, and it was at Charles Town that he obtained the foundation for his saddle career.

When Kirkland and Christmas put their heads together in the paddock here Saturday, the trainer will tell the rider to stick with Citation and let Coaltown go his way. The veteran reinsman will be told to stay with Citation, an arduous assignment if there ever was one, regardless of how Coaltown is handled.

Of course, jinxes and superstitions can be tossed out. However, if you believe in such things there's a precedent that could swing the pendulum Escadru's way.

No winner of the Derby Trial has ever won the Derby. Citation has that hoodoo to overcome. Last Tuesday, Citation won the trial, easy, the chart makers say, but not by a great lengths advantage. Second to the Calumet great was Escadru. Eddie Arcaro said, "I have nothing to fear from any horse that was behind me."

But let's turn back to 1940. Col. E. R. Bradley's Bimelech, the Derby favorite, was entered in the trial after winning seven straight races. He was backed down to a $2.20 mutuel and won as easily as Citation is said to have scored. The driving horse behind Bimlech that day was Gallahadion.

Along with the other turf "experts," I picked Bimelech but, unlike many of the others, I didn't write a pre-race story that Bimelech had won.

Followers of Derby doings wil remember that Gallahadion, who I described as "in the race only to advertise the Milky Way candy bar," was a going-away winner at $72.40.

I'll never forget how the reporters tore up their "Bimelech wins" stories, showered them like confetti out of the press box and turned to ask, "Who is this bum?"

I can't pick Escardu, but you can't blame me, and I can't blame you, if there's a lot of rooting for this Marylander.

'Missing' Bill Cox Just Visiting Sis; Joins Bums Today

Harrisburg, Pa., April 29 (AP).—Billy Cox, missing Brooklyn infielder, said tonight he will rejoin the Dodgers in time for tomorrow's game with the Phillies in Philadelphia.

"I came home to see my sister, who just underwent a major operation" said the young shortstop.

Cox said he received word of his sister's illness in Brooklyn and rushed here without leaving word at Dodger headquarters.

When told that Pee Wee Reese was unable to play today because of Charley horse Cox said "I had no idea that Reese would be out of today's line-up."

"I have no objection to playing second base, or any other position in the infield," declared Cox. "All I want to do is make good with the Dodgers. Ann and I are looking forward to a World Series check. She wants the money for a new fur coat."

Locke Fires 31, Five Under Par on Back Nine, Leads Capital Open Field With 65

Four Players Post 67s, Tie for Second; Worsham Cards 69

By Morris Siegel
Post Reporter

Bobby Locke shot a dazzling 65 yesterday, beating par by seven strokes and nightfall by an hour, to become the 18-hole leader of the National Capital Open tournament at the Prince Georges Golf and Country Club before 3000 onlookers.

Tapping in a 6-inch putt on the eighteenth green, Locke saved the cloudy afternoon for the big-game players in the field of 111. Before the knickered South African recorded his spectacular round, the first day's lead was practically conceded to three obscure players and Johnny Palmer, rising young North Carolina pro, who were in with 67's.

Playing with PGA Champion Jim Ferrier and Cary Middlecoff, Locke was the last of the favored players to come in.

He went out in 34 strokes, 2 under par, but gave no indication that he would play the more difficult incoming nine in 31 to record the second lowest score ever made on the country course.

Seven Birds, 11 Pars

Stone-faced and steady as time, Locke was in trouble only once. His tee shot on the 366-yard eleventh hole hit a tree guarding the fairway, but bounded back into a good lie. He whacked his second to within four feet of the pin and holed out for a birdie, one of seven he added to his eleven pars.

Locke's 65 matches the score Sammy Snead scored in this same tournament last year, but is two strokes shy of the scintillating 63 Ed Furgol made here last year. Furgol, incidentally, didn't approach that mark yesterday, having a 71 on his opening round.

In addition to Palmer, 31-year-old Badin, N. C., player, Tommy Wright of Knoxville, Tenn., Walter Romans of Baltimore, and Johnny Weitzel of Reading, Pa., also had 67's to share second place.

One stroke back came Texas-born Ben Hogan, Bob Hamilton, recently named Princes Georges playing pro, and PGA Champion Jim Ferrier.

National Champion Lew Worsham was grouped in the 69 bracket, along with "Skip" Alexander of Mid-Pines, N. C., Jimmy Thomson, Ralph Beach, of Pikesville, Md., and Middlecoff.

Demaret Around in 70

Jimmy Demaret, the flashily-dressed leading money winner of 1947 and another pre-tournament favorite, had a 70. The crooning Texan found himself in company with George Fazier, tutor of movie stars; Ky Laffoon, Johnny Bulla, and Roger Peacock, a local pro.

In the last sub-par bracket, 71, came National Amateur Champion Skee Riegel; Frank Stranahan, another simeon-pure; Charlie Bassler, of Baltimore; Ed Furgol, and Eric Monti, of Santa Monica, Calif.

In all 27 golfers shot either sub-par or par yesterday in contrast to the 29 on the opening round last year.

Locke Finally Blows Up, Plays Couple of Holes in Par Golf

By Roger Wolbarst
Post Reporter

Two threesomes drew most of the gallery at the National Capital Open yesterday at the Prince Georges Golf and Country Club. Lew Worsham, Ben Hogan and Lloyd Mangrum monopolized most of the attention until word spread that Bobby Locke was kicking par around. Then Locke, Cary Middlecoff and Jim Ferrier were the objects of the assorted "ohs and ahs."

Middlecoff's second shot onthe tenth hole buried itself deep in a sand trap. Te exposed surface of the ball looked like a dime. But after asking the spectators what to do, Cary blasted out to within 6 feet of the pin. Then he missed his putt . . . Locke racked up four straight birdies and four straight one-putt holes on the tenth, eleventh, twelfth, and thirteenth. After his fourth birdie, a wag remarked, "wonder what fun that guy gets out of the game." Locke finally blew up, though, and got a couple of pars.

With Locke, Jimmy Demaret and Mangrum sporting knickers, it looked like a tournament in the mid-twenties. Mangrum's pants were dark grey, Locke's light gray and Demaret's were fawn-colored. Locke, incidentally, wore his favorite baby blue sweater and socks. His caddy was attired in bright red. Together they looked like a sunset.

Worsham and Ferrier pulled off two of the finest chip shots of the day. Lew's was a twister that almost dropped on the fifth, and Ferrier curled in a 30-footer for a birdie on the tenth. But Locke's chip up on the eighteenth before the entire assemblage caused the longest moan of the day. It crept up to within six inches of the cup before deciding to stop.

When Middlecoff three-putted on the eighteenth green, it marked the only such occurrence in his threesome all day. But then, whenever Locke two-putted, it was a rarity. A source of amusement to the gallery was Locke's habit of lining up even six-inch putts. He studied them as though he were over on the edge of the green.

Locke says that his reason for studying those tiny putts is that he missed a 5-incher at Augusta, Ga., two years ago while playing with Bobby Jones. His putter, incidentally, is over 20 years old and as one spectator remarked, looks as though it belonged to William the Conqueror.

A man who can do tricks with a golf ball like Bobby makes golf look—as one gallerylte put it—"so easy that I think I'll buy me a set of clubs tomorrow."

Bums Wallop Giants, 17-7

Brooklyn, April 29 (AP).—The old Ebbets Field jinx and 20 Dodger hits smacked the league-leading New York Giants right between the eyes today as Brooklyn fashioned a 17-7 victory.

Three times the Brooks batted all the way around. Nine men faced the Giant pitchers in the first, nine more in the second and a big 10 in the sixth when they exploded six runs.

Preston Ward, the rookie first baseman who was supposed to be back in the minors long ago, hammered a grand slam homer in the second off Thornton Lee, a single in the fourth and a double in the sixth.

Catcher Bruce Edwards joined the fun with four hits, three singles and a double.

Kuhel Kids Lose Fight To Offset 3 Home Runs

By Shirley Povich
Post Reporter

New York, April 29.—When three Yankee home runs off Sid Hudson didn't subdue the Nats, today, they switched to something milder but more effective—a base on balls, two happy breaks in the luck and a long fly in the tenth inning. That turned the trick nicely, 5 to 4, for the Yanks and their 5630 customers.

Four times the Nats struggled from behind to tie the game with single runs euchered from walks, stolen bases and the desperate weapons of a nonhitting ball club, but relief Pitcher Joe Page closed the door on 'em after the seventh inning.

Rookie Forrest Thompson, the Nats' third pitcher, was the tenth inning victim of the Yankees and two nasty breaks. He took a 4-4 tie into the tenth inning and saw the winning run get on base right away whe Bobby Brow's routine grounder took a freak hop over Mickey Vernon's head for a single.

Kozar Injures Hand

The situation worsened immediately for the Nats. Eddie Yost grabbed up Tom Henrich's grounder and was routing it to second to start a double play when Al Kozar dropped the ball for an error. Kozar damaged his throwing hand on the play and was forced out of the game.

A walk to Charley Keller filled the bases with none out and Joe DiMaggio sent everybody in the park home with a deep fly to Wooten in center that scored Brown from third.

Up to that tenth inning, the Nats were sort of wonderful despite those Yankee home runs by George McQuinn, Charley Keller and Yogi Berra that gave the Yanks a one-run lead on three different occasions. Hudson pitched six-hit ball until he retired for a pinch-hitter in the eighth.

There was nothing wonderful about the Nats in the first inning when Kozar's double to right moved Yost, who walked, to third with none out. They couldn't score. Against Frank Shea, Coan poped up, Vernon struck out and Wooten popped up.

A Run on Brown's Error

After McQuinn lofted a home run into the right field seats with two out in the second, though, the Nats took advantage of a pair of the eleven on balls they got. Yost and Kozar walked with one out and Yost scored from second when Brown made a wild throw trying for a double play on Vernon's grounder.

In the fourth, Keller opened up with a long homer to right center to move the Yanks into a 2-1 lead, but the Nats got one back quickly in the fifth. Yost walked, and Kozar scored him all the way from first with a double down the right field line.

But the Yanks bounced out in front again, 3-2, in the same inning when Stirnweiss doubled to right and later scored on Henrich's fly.

Sherry Robertson helped the Nats to tie it up again by stealing third after he walked and was sacrificed in the sixth. He scored when Brown made a wild throw to the plate on Christman's grounder.

The Yanks had another home run left though. It was Berra's cheap thing into the right field lower deck just abaft the 296-foot sign and the Yanks were ahead again, 4-3, in the sixth.

But in the seventh Kozar walked once more, moved to third on Coan's single and, after Page relieved Shea, he scored on Vernon's double play grounder.

The Nats never did get another hit off the Yankee pitching.

The game would not have gone ten innings except for two sensational catches by Gil Coan who raced far into left for Keller's long fly in the seventh and then dashed far in for Johnson's short one in the eighth, to make a double play with a throw to first.

The Nats stole four bases today before the Yanks replaced Yogi Berra. The Nats resume at Griffith Stadium tomorrow night in the start of a five-game series against the A's, Walter Masterson pitching.

It's Not Who'll Win Derby, It's How Much Calumet Will Win By

Over Muddy Track

Soma Lad Wins Feature At 'Graw

Havre de Grace, Md., April 29.—Raymond B. Archer's Soma Lad, tenth in an eleven horse field in his last outing, showed a distinct liking for the muddy going this afternoon when he jogged home an easy three-lengths winner over the favored Stanley, in the Jarrettsville purse, sixth and best race of the day. Local Band was third, four lengths farther back.

Although the weather was threatening a crowd of 6433 turned out. The track was fetlock deep in mud but form prevailed with three favorites reaching the winner's circle in the first six races.

Woodhouse Sits Tight

Hedley Woodhouse, who usually does the riding for the Calumet Farm runners, was aboard Soma Lad and the leading rider of the meeting gave his mount a good ride. As Stanley stole away to a two-lengths lead, Woodhouse sat tight in the runner-up position with a snug hold on Soma Lad.

Stanley began to shorten stride in mid-stretch as Soma Lad ranged up on the outside. The Golden Voyage gelding caught the front runner within the sixteenth pole and drew out without much effort on the part of Woodhouse.

Soma Lad paid $13.60 straight and was clocked in 114 1/5 or the six furlongs.

Foul Claim Allowed

Favorite players received a break in the second race after Lord Hairan had apparently registered a victory by 2½ lengths over War Spy, the choice.

Lord Hairan led throughout the one mile and one sixteenth trip and appeared to have disposed of War Spy when the latter drew abreast on the stretch turn.

The two fought it out for about a sixteenth of a mile and War Spy chucked it after being carried slightly wide. Apprentice C. (Jimmy) Meyer, an importation from Kentucky lodged a claim of foul against Lord Hairan and the stewards reversed the decision.

There was a gnashing of teeth when Lord Hairan's number was taken down. Holders of the "2-8" double combination were anticipating a $197.80 mutuel before the result was changed.

Buddy V and War Spy returned a $26.60 double pay-off.

Only Four Others May Go to Post

Louisville, Ky., April 29—I rolled into Derby town today—sort of rolled oats fashion, if you know what I mean—and I found everybody and his cousin ready to strike a medal for Calumet Farm.

If you think, "Hello, Joe, what'd you know?" is the most used question hereabouts, you're wrong as Hitler. Every Tom, Dick and Harriet is asking, "How far do you think Citation and Coaltown will win by?"

But let's get serious. There's a Derby coming up Saturday—by the grace of Pilmico—the seventy-fourth.

And two loves hath the racing fan—Warren Wright's fabulous Citation, the winter book favorite, and Coaltown.

Four other 3-year-old are expected to head postward to the haunting strains of "My Old Kentucky Home." They are Ben F. Whitaker's My Request, hero of the Wood Memorial; William F. Brann's Maryland-bred Escadru, second to Citation in last Tuesday's Derby trial; Walmac Farm's Billings, runner-up in Coaltown's record-breaking Blue Grass Stakes triumph, and Mrs. John Payson Adams' Grandpere, the hope of the West Coast.

Due to the small field, the consensus today was that there would be only straight and place wagering Saturday, the latter a concession to the racegoing public.

But the winner's circle is already being groomed for Calumet and many feel that the Warren Wright sophomores, trained by plain Ben Jones, general manager of the million?dollar Wright enterprise, and Jimmy Jones, his son, will run one-two in the Louisville special.

Four Interhigh Games Top 30-Event Slate

Washington area schoolboys are in for a hardy 30-event sports program today including 20 baseball games, two tennis matches, two track meets and a lacrosse game.

Four local Interhigh League baseball games share top billing with the Northern Virginia Class A Conference game pitting Washington-Lee of Arlington against George Washington of Alexandria at G. W. stadium.

In Interhigh, Calvin Coolidge plays at Western, Central at Woodrow Wilson, McKinley Tech at Anacostia and Roosevelt at Eastern, all games beginning at 3:30 p. m.

Three-Way Tie

Wilson, Tech and Eastern are currently lodged in a first place tie, and only Wilson faces especially strong competition today. Don Snider of Wilson, league's leading pitcher with 2-0, will face two of the loop's top hitters from Central. Second Baseman Jim Pantos has the top batting average, .667, and Shortstop Bob Johnson the most homers, 2, most runs batted in, 6, and a .571 average.

Eastern will pitch either Frank Utley, who won a 1-hitter over Coolidge, or Lefty Joe Graves against Roosevelt's Don Keefer or Ken Murrell. Roosevelt, tied for last, has made only eight hits and one run in its two league games. Eastern's shortstop, Billy Kallas, leads the circuit with four runs scored.

Quinn Faces, Kerschboum

Tech will send Bob Quinn to the hill against Anacostia's Leo Kerschbaum or George Sengstack. Coolidge will pitch Ed Hughes against Western's Johnny Folk.

The G. W. vs. W.-L. game is the first of their two meetings this season which will most likely decide the Northern Virginia title. W.-L. has won eight out of nine starts, while G. W., last year's State titlist, has won seven out of eight. G. W. has received splendid pitching from its sophomore right-hander, Willie Zehring, who has tossed a no-hitter and one-hitter in his last two starts. He'll get the mound assignment today.

Coolidge Triumphs

Calvin Coolidge's Colts snapped their three-game losing streak yesterday with a 3-1 victory over Bethesda-Chevy Chase High at Coolidge. Dick Stewart, pitching his first high school game, yielded only two hits and struck out 11. Stan (Hank) Greenberg provided Coolidge's punch with a two-run homer in the fourth inning.

Phils Whip Braves, 4-2

Boston, April 29 (AP).—Freak homers by Dick Sisler and Harry Walker enabled the Philadelphia Phillies to pull out a 4-2 win over the Boston Braves today to split a two-game series.

Sisler put the Phils into a 1-1 tie in the seventh inning by lashing a drive against the right field foul line. It caromed back onto the playing field for an automatic four-bagger.

In the next frame, also against starter Johnny Beazley, Walker hit the first pitch into center field after Ralph Caballero and Richie Ashburn had singled.

Even Fishing And Hunting Costs Go Up

By Jack Walsh
Post Reporter

A CONCERTED HOWL of protest may be expected shortly when D. C. and Maryland sportsmen realize the high cost of living includes a sharp boost in hunting and fishing fees in Virginia.

After July 1, a non-resident will have to shell out $10 for fishing license and $15.75 for a hunting permit. This represents a sizeable boost over the combined $15.50 cost now. Another major change is that non-resident two-day licenses for both sports will be abolished.

Verne D. Close, president of the D. C. chapter of the Izaak Walton League, can't get too excited over the abolition of the two-day licenses, but feels that the $10 cost for the season is excessive.

"A sportsman should be willing to be taxed for more than just two days. However, I think $10 is entirely too much for a non-resident to have to pay," said Close.

Cost of a resident's license is only $3. I. T. Quinn, executive director of Virginia's Commission of Game and Inland Fisheries, says the increased fees will enable the commission to spend more on its wildlife program.

Said Quinn, "During the next fiscal year we will spend a minimum of $200,000 on wildlife habitat improvement."

"YOU DON'T HAVE to catch any fish to enjoy a pleasant day outdoors," says Max Bassin, 58 Allison st. ne., and he insists he isn't alibiing.

With three companions, Robert Wash, Clyde Duvall and Woodward Frye, all of nearby Virginia, he went on his first trout fishing expedition the other day. The party tried both the Rapidan and Hughes Rivers near Old Rag Mountain and failed to land a single trout after an all-dey effort.

"We had a lot of fun, though," Bassin reported. He claimed that climbing over rocks and walking up and down the streams provided relaxing mild exercise for a quartet of tired business men.

MISCELLANY—Weekend fishermen are happy the middle of the week was rainy. They're hopeful that this weekend will provide perfect angling weather . . . It won't be long before Chesapeake Bay salt-water fishermen will be getting in their licks . . . Favorable early reports have been received from Benedict, Md., on the Patuxent, a fore-runner to good fishing in the bay . . . Virginia still holds the fresh water carp record set back in 1930. R. W. Harris took a 42-pound carp that year from the Rappahanock, near Fredericksburg . . . With a host of newcomers taking to the outdoors, it doesn't do any harm to stress safety in boating . . . Student Editors Meet at W. & L.

Lexington, Va., April 29 (AP).—Student editors, 500 from 13 States, descended upon the Washington and Lee campus tonight for the 19th annual Southern Interscholastic Press Association convention.

The opening session of the two-day program of journalism clinics, workshops, lectures and entertainment begins at 9 a. m. Friday. A current-events contest, open to all delegates, will start things off.

Lectures scheduled for the opening round include a talk on "This Writing Game," by James Michener, author and editor of the MacMillan Company, and another on newspaper makeup and design, by Wesley E. Carter, editor of the Linotype News, printing trade journal.

Feature of the Friday program will be the address to the convention at 8:15 p. m. by Marquis Childs, national columnist, who will speak on "The Washington Scene."

Saturday's program will be devoted largely to criticism clinics.

Climax of the two-day affair is the convention banquet Saturday evening, at which trophies and other prizes will be awarded to publications chosen best in each group.

Soil Conservation Survey Sought By Virginians

Virginia Congressmen are trying for approval of a soil-conservation survey of the Nottoway and Blackwater River valleys.

Representative Hardy (D., Va.) said he is asking House Public Works Committee members to include the Virginia-North Carolina project in the rivers and harbors omnibus bill.

Cooperating in the move is Representative Abbitt (D., Va.), whose Fourth District also is affected.

Hardy, some time ago, advocated the move toward a soil-conservation program for the Meherrin, Nottoway, Blackwater and Chowan River basin as a flood-prevention measure.

Flooding is a considerable problem on the Meherrin and Nottoway and to a lesser degree on the Blackwater, Hardy said. Soil-conservation practices would serve to retard flooding.

Counties affected in the program include Charlotte, Halifax, Lunenburg, Mecklenburg, Brunswick, Greensville, Southampton, Sussex, Isle of Wight, Nansemond, Surry, Prince Georges, Dinwiddie and Nottoway, in Virginia; and Northampton, Hertford and Gates in North Carolina.

Per Capita Tax In Virginia Is 3d Lowest in Nation

Charlottesville, Va., April 29 (AP).—Virginia's per capita tax collection in the fiscal year, 1946 was the third lowest in the United States, according to State Tax Commissioner C. H. Morrissett.

Only Nebraska and Alabama were lower on the basis of the United States Department of Commerce figures, while 45 other States had a heavier tax burden, Morrissett said in a discussion of "tax problems in Virginia," published today in the University of Virginia news letter.

The average per capita for the Nation was $45.89 in 1946, while Virginia's per capita tax was $28.44.

Morrissett said that had the new tax rates enacted by the 1948 General Assembly been in effect in 1946, Virginia would have ranked eighth from the bottom.

P. W. Anderson Heads Marshall National Bank

Front Royal, Va., April 29 (AP).—P. W. Anderson, executive vice president of Marshall National Bank & Trust Co., Marshall, has been elected by the board of directors as president to succeed the late John T. Ramey, who had headed the bank for more than two decades.

Anderson, a former president of the Virginia Bankers Association, has been associated with the Marshall Bank for nearly 30 years.

Musselman Reburial Scheduled Saturday

Fredericksburg, Va., April 29.—The body of Sergt. Norris G. Musselman, 26, who was drowned April 8, 1945, while serving with the Army in the Panama Canal Zone, will be reinterred at Ramoth Baptist Church cemetery in Stafford County Saturday at 2:30 p. m. with military rites. A firing squad will be furnished by Fort Belvoir and local and Stafford veterans will act as an escort and pallbearers.

Musselman was the son of Mrs. N. G. Musselman of Chatham Heights near here.

Petersburg Man Fined In Automobile Death

Richmond, Va., April 29 (AP).—Newton L. Clements, Petersburg restaurant operator, has been fined $500 and placed on three-year probation in Federal District Court in connection with the death of William N. Walden, sr.

Clements pleaded nolo contendere to a charge of involuntary manslaughter. Walden was killed in an automobile collision June 7, 1947, in Petersburg National Military Park.

Education Directory Distribution Starts

Richmond, Va., April 29 (AP).—The State department of education today started the distribution of an educational directory of Virginia. It lists data pertaining to schools and school divisions in the State.

The directory, the first to be issued by the department, will be issued annually. The 57-page publication was compiled under supervision of Miss Frances Gee of the office of R. C. Haydon, assistant superintendent of public instruction.

Way Is Sought To Cure Cocker Of Broken Heart

A Baltimore veterinarian yesterday was seeking a way to cure a dog's broken heart.

The dog, Jigger, a black cocker spaniel, has eaten only a small bit of meat and a bowl of milk since his mistress died two weeks ago, according to the Associated Press.

The cocker was a Christmas present from Wilson Huffman of Luray, Va., to his wife, Joan McSheehy Huffman, a month after their marriage in 1945.

Mrs. Huffman, a native of Whitinsville, Mass., died in Johns Hopkins Hospital April 15. She had competed in the 1932 Olympics as a swimmer.

Huffman could always find him at the market where Jigger and Mrs. Huffman used to shop.

Now the dog is too weak to do much except lie on a sofa.

Until a few days ago, he spent most of his time finding articles of his mistress' clothing and piling them on the bed, and searching out her slippers and putting them beside the door.

Huffman says Jigger is dying "of a broken heart."

Huffman is a civilian employe of the Army's Baltimore signal depot.

Cheltenham Head Asks If He'll Get Permanent Title

Baltimore, April 29 (AP).—Hiawatha R. Harris, acting superintendent of the State Training School for Negro Boys at Cheltenham, wants to know whether he has a chance to be named superintendent.

He asked the State employment commissioner today to clarify his status.

Harris is eligible for the job but has been serving as acting or assistant superintendent of the Prince Georges County institution for nearly three years.

He was serving in that capacity when Calvin L. Kiah, former principal of a Negro high school at Cambridge, was appointed superintendent.

Kiah was fired six months later on grounds he was unfit for the job and Harris again became acting superintendent.

Employment Commissioner Walter D. Owens says he favors reconsidering Kiah for the job. He says he disagrees with the dismissal.

"If it be true," Harris asked Owens, "how and when will I or any other person ever come up for consideration?"

3 Taverns Lose Liquor Licenses

Towson, Md., April 29 (AP).—Baltimore County's liquor license commissioners today refused to renew the licenses of three taverns because they found a silent partner in the places has a criminal record and "large stocks of whisky for which he is unable to satisfactorily account."

W. Carroll Van Horn, chairman of the commissioners, announced the action in a prepared statement which identified the "silent partner" as Eugene L. Sawyer of Dundalk, a Baltimore suburb.

One of the places refused a license was the Colony Grill, a large nightclub and restaurant in Dundalk. The applicant was Linn M. Coleman, a former member of the Maryland House of Delegates.

The license commissioners considered license renewals for four other places with which Sawyer was reported to have been associated and granted the renewals when it found Sawyer no longer is connected with them.

15 Institutions to Be Represented in Debate

Williamsburg, Va., April 29 (AP).—Fifteen colleges and universities will enter teams in the debate tournament to be held here tomorrow and Saturday by the William and Mary intercollegiate debate council.

Most of the schools will send two teams. Institutions accepting invitations include West Virginia, Richmond, Virginia, George Washington, Georgia, Kent State of Ohio, Indiana, Lynchburg College, Randolph-Macon, Swarthmore, United States Naval Academy, Pennsylvania, Washington and Lee and St. Helena extension of William and Mary in Norfolk, in addition to the host school.

Topic for the debates is "resolved, that a federal world government should be established."

Midshipmen Debaters In Two Tournaments

Annapolis, Md., April 29 (AP).—Midshipmen are warring with words on two fronts this week.

Three are competing in the West Point national invitational debate tournament which started today. They are Robert K. Ripley, Rodney E. Eyster, and Howard M. Estes, jr.

'Lack of Interest' Kills Annapolis Play Group

Annapolis, Md., April 29 (AP).—The Greater Annapolis Recreation Association, formed two years ago to encourage play activities, has suspended, President Frank H. Kramer said today.

"Lack of popular interest" was the reason, Kramer said.

The Young Men's Club of Perkin's Chapel, Springfield (Md.) Methodist Church is sponsoring a farce to be presented in Bowie School auditorium tonight at 8:30 p. m.

Proceeds in the form of "free offerings" will go toward buying a new organ for the church.

THE FAMILY SCRAPBOOK

By Dr. Ernest G. Osborne

Let Your Baby Go on a Tear!

Around about 2 or even before, the pride of the family often finds out what fun it is to tear pages out of a book. And, of course, we have to protect our books and teach the young barbarian that he must not touch them. Usually there's a lot of "No," "No"-ing and perhaps some hand-slapping.

But it's still fun to tear paper. Even adults will admit that there's a kind of satisfaction in ripping a piece of cloth or paper. Why not let the youngster have some old newspapers that he may tear as much as he wishes? Allowing him to do this doesn't mean that he will strengthen the habit of tearing books. He is quite capable of making the distinction. If he knows you don't want books torn and yet permit him to tear newspapers, you'll seldom find that he will let you down.

But They'll See the Preakness

Fred Vinsons to Miss Running of the Derby

By Marie McNair

WHEN the band plays "My Old Kentucky Home" and the horses step briskly from the paddock on Derby Day at Churchill Downs, it will be the first time in many years that Chief Justice and Mrs. Fred Vinson will miss that thrilling sight.

MRS. McNAIR

No, they haven't transferred their allegiance to the Maryland turf, but Chief Justice and Mrs. Vinson will see the Preakness a week from Saturday as guests of Mr. and Mrs. John Franklin at Pimlico.

There'll be a weekend house party at the Franklins' home at Cockeysville, Md., with Assistant Secretary of the Treasury and Mrs. Ed Foley, jr., in the party.

The Vinsons have young Fred, jr., with them for the Washington and Lee baseball games against George Washington and Georgetown Universities. Captain of his team at Washington and Lee and a top athlete, Fred, jr., will graduate in June, has made application to study law at Yale University in the fall.

The Vinsons have every reason to be proud of their boy—in fact, their boys—for Jimmie is doing all right at St. Alban's School, too. Only reason he didn't see his brother play yesterday with George Washington was because he had a game of his own.

A few weeks ago Fred, jr., called his mother from school, said: "I've got a present for you." Mother, curiosity aroused, wanted to know immediately what it was.

"Remember," said her offspring, "you wanted me to do something for you at school? Well, I did it. I've just been elected Phi Beta Kappa!"

Now Fred, jr., can stand to with his father. The Chief Justice is an honorary member of the society, but only because his alma mater had no chapter when he was a student there.

THE Meredith Galleries in New York has been swamped with applications for admission cards to Friendship since an article appeared in The Washington Post on Sunday that the late Mrs. Evalyn McLean's furnishings will be auctioned off beginning May 8.

So—the gallery writes, will I please say that cards for the preview and the sale may also be obtained at Friendship, Wisconsin ave. at R st., prior to attending the exhibit or sale.

Capital Girls to Test New Sportswear Style

By Peggy Preston

WASHINGTON has won new laurels as a fashion center. It's been chosen as a testing ground for chapettes, a brand new idea in sportswear.

The local fashion press previewed chapettes this week at Woodward & Lothrop's. You'll be seeing them there in a few weeks and whether or not you like them will tell the story of their future. If these novel type shorts, slacks and pedal-pushers capture the fancy of Washington women, the manufacturer believes they'll be a hit in the rest of the country.

MISS PRESTON

His reasoning? Well, here we have a city populated by young women from every corner of America. They're here from small towns, big cities and country hamlets. They represent a cross-section of feminine tastes in clothes from New York San Francisco. So, what better spot than Washington for a test run?

At any rate, here is an idea of what is in store for you later on when the merchandise arrives here in volume. These chapettes are fashion news in that they are trousers, designed especially to flatter the feminine figure.

The trousers come in three lengths, short, medium and long. You wrap them on at the waistline and fasten them at the sides with concealed buttons. They swing gracefully as you walk and you see where they receive their name—they look like feminine interpretations of the chaps of our Southwest cattlemen.

Of course, the best thing about them is the easy cut over the hips. Here's where they really score. Even the most bitter male

Zonta Club Installs Officers

Mrs. Alice Colbert Sheldon, director, department of school attendance and works permit of the D. C. Board of Education, was installed president of Washington Zonta Club last night at a dinner and reception held in the Dodge Hotel.

Other officers installed include Miss Marguerite Rawalt, vice president, and Miss Florence E. Thompson, who was reelected treasurer.

Members of the board of directors taking the oath of office included Miss Helen Hastings, dean of Mount Vernon Seminary; Deaconess Margaret S. Bechtol, superintendent, Episcopal Eye, Ear and Throat Hospital.

During the reception honoring new members Mrs. Malcolm Scates, retiring president, presented each inductee with a corsage. Miss Mary Sigman spoke of "The Meaning of Zonta" and Miss Elizabeth Peet outlined "Zontians' Responsibilities." Mrs. Elizabeth Cox revealed the "Zonta code."

Among the new members present were Dr. Elizabeth Parker, Miss Marie Corrigan, Mrs. Violet Faulkner, Deaconess Bechtol, Mrs. Elizabeth Murray, Miss Gwendolyn Kidd, Miss Catherine Wilson White, Mrs. Tavio A. Erickson and Dr. Mary Dabney Davis.

One of the highlights of the meeting was the presentation of a silver bowl to Mrs. Scates.

Plan Lecture As Benefit for Frontier Nurses

The jeep may fast be replacing the horse in the hills of Kentucky, where the Frontier Nursing Service brings the blessings of modern medical care to hundreds of isolated mountaineers, but this charity is still "society's most rugged cause." And even if the helicopter some day replaces the jeep, it will still be rugged.

To further the charity, one of Washington society's favorites for many years, John Mason Brown, author, critic and now associate editor of the Saturday Review of Literature, returns on May 5, 4 p. m., at the Mayflower for his annual lecture for the benefit of the local committee of the Frontier Nurses.

Mrs. Harry S. Truman again heads the list of patronesses for the event. Mrs. John W. Davidge is chairman of the benefit.

The Frontier Nursing Service was founded in 1926 by Mrs. Mary Breckenridge, distinguished Kentuckian, who had the dream of bringing to expectant mothers in the deep reaches of the mountains of her native State medical care which was so desperately needed. The dream became a reality through the heroic efforts of Mrs. Breckenridge herself and the assistance of social leaders throughout the country.

The work center for this charity is located near the home of the founder, Wendover, near Hyden, Ky.

Debutantes Assist

To the center over the years have gone many debutantes from all parts of the country, including many from Washington, to assist in the work.

Called "couriers," these young girls have learned what life can be in its most rugged aspect. Riding

Area Women Nominated by Voters League

Tidings from Grand Rapids, Mich., tell that two Washington area women have been renominated for top posts in the National League of Women Voters. They are Miss Anna Lord Strauss of this city, who was the only person designated for the presidency at Wednesday's session of the organization's eighteenth annual conclave, and Mrs. Harold A. Stone of Arlington, Va., renominated for first vice president. Both are virtually assured of reelection.

Others renominated for their present office include Mrs. James G. Scarborough of Los Angeles, Calif., secretary; Mrs. Charles Heming, New York City; Mrs. Nelson Morris, Toledo, Ohio, and Dr. Mabel Newcomber of Vassar College for board memberships.

Two new officers nominated are Mrs. John Lee, Farmington, Conn., for second vice president, and Mrs. Bradford L. Patton, Chicago, for treasurer.

D. C. Federation Plans Annual Luncheon May 11

Vandenberg, wife of the Michigan Senator; Mrs. J. L. Blair Buck, president of the General Federation of Women's Clubs; Mrs. Mamie Lander, right worthy grand secretary, Order of the Eastern Star.

The invocation will be pronounced by Dr. Earl F. Fowler of the Sixth Presbyterian Church. A special musical program will be given by Mrs. Marie Deal, soprano, and Thomas N. Leaf, baritone.

TROUSERS that fit as gracefully as a skirt are noteworthy features of chapettes, a new line of sportswear which made its national debut in Washington this week. Shorts and slacks are also part of the line which will be available to the public within a few weeks at Woodward & Lothrop

Mr. Lacoste Lectures At Argentine Embassy

"One Hundred Million Argentines" was the subject of the talk given yesterday at the Argentine Embassy by Roberto Lacoste, former professor of Columbia University. Sponsored by the United States-Argentine Cultural Institue, the lecture was given in the ballroom of the embassy at 6:30 p. m.

What's New in Sportswear

critic of women who wear slacks will have to admit that chapettes don't commit the common sin of similar garments. They don't stretch or pull, and as a matter of fact, look more like a skirt than trousers.

They're practical, too. The trousers are all in one piece, can be opened and flattened out for easy ironing. Fabrics range from gabardine to a soft, washable shantung-type silk. Little bolero jackets are matched with them and cummerbunds worn in contrasting shades.

Like all modern sportswear they come in fetching colors. There are pink beiges, and off-whites for the tailored gabardines, brilliant greens, blues, yellows and red for the other fabrics.

FASHION tricks for summer: Bunches of artificial flowers tied to the handles of parasols or tops of wicker handbags . . . Pale pink, sheer stockings to match chambray frocks . . . Tailored panamas, gone completely feminine with a trim of flowers and veiling . . . New washable fabrics, recommended by Charles Armour, such as cotton taffeta (has the feel and texture of the real McCoy, but goes into suds like any reliable cotton) and salyns, a porous spun rayon. Both are good with open work embroidery trim.

Mrs. Nichols Reelected YWCA President

Mrs. Howard G. Nichols was reelected president of the board of directors of the YWCA at the election board meeting held this week at the association. This will be Mrs. Nichols' second term of office.

Others elected were: Mrs. Karl Fenning, first vice president; Mrs. Nelson T. Johnson, second vice president; Mrs. Seth Brooks, recording secretary; Mrs. Waldron Faulkner, corresponding secretary; Mrs. Sidney Morgan, treasurer, and Mrs. John F. Ladd, assistant treasurer.

Mrs. Nichols also announced at the meeting the results of the annual elections to the board of the YWCA. Those reelected for a term of three years included Mrs. John S. Burlew, Mrs. Karl Berns, Mrs. Seth Brooks, Mrs. Fred Buschmeyer, Mrs. G. N. Everett, Mrs. Frederick Feiker, Mrs. H. S. Irwin, Mrs. John G. Ladd. Newly elected to the board were Mrs. Leonard M. Elstad, Mrs. Robert M. Parke, Mrs. Robert VanDenbergh, jr.

Three members who are retiring from the board of directors this spring are Mrs. Albert Atwood, Mrs. Harold G. Moulton and Mrs. Stuart A. Rice.

Travel Tales From All Over

Fields Safari Discovers New Tidbit for Gourmets Who Own Blooded Cattle

—By Mary Van Rensselaer Thayer—

PERUSING an erudite New York Times reportage we learned that Dumbarton Avenue's own anthropologist, Henry Field, just returned from an intellectual African safari, had been palling around with tribesmen and tribesladies who lived solely on a mixture of cattle milk and blood. Further on, Mr. Field stated that said natives ate neither meat nor vegetables yet had magnificent teeth. This department, pretty well read in tooth paste ads, was startled, routed Mr. Field from his cafe-au-lait, asked if he'd been misquoted. The Times story was correct but their correspondent had missed one point. So here is how, even if your diet is limited to milk and blood, to maintain a wonderful set of teeth.

The trick, as all tooth paste ad readers already know, is gum massage! Some 45,000 of the Masai tribe, who live in beautiful grasslands around the Kenya-Tanganyika border, break their dietary monotony on rare occasions with a barbecue of eland meat.

But after their equivalent of breakfast they break switches from a certain kind of tree, rub their gums briskly with them. They keep the little sticks handy during the day and when bored, as they sometimes must be, massage their gums for want of something else to do. Simple?

Gourmets will probably like to know the mechanics of preparing blood-and-milk a la Masai. It's simple, too. Each family has a herd of around 400 small, piebald cattle. The bulls are tethered, a tourniquet applied, an arrow shot into a vein. After two or three tumblersful have been siphoned off, the wound is plugged with spit and earth, the bull released.

This happens about once a month to each bull. The blood is simply poured into a milk filled gourd. Any Masai with culinary ingenuity can think of a dozen delicious ways to serve this concoction.

The Masais, incidentally, have a cadre of about 6000 warriors, called Morans, who do the fighting, herd the cattle. They smear their faces with ochre, braid their hair at neck nape.

Henry Field, who was with the University of California expedition, measured 150 of them, amassed all sorts of less sensational information on his trek.

We are pleased to state that neighbor Field keeps no cattle.

Whimsey Book No. 2

CONSTANCE and Guy Jones, coauthors of "Peabody's Mermaid," have just emerged from a writing stint at Rattlesnake Manor, a shack hidden on a Florida cattle ranch. Their book on a Leprechaun, "There was a Little Man," is out and its movie version, starring Tyrone Power, is already "canned." Mr. Power is the mortal hero, Fitzgerald, the Leprechaun is played by Cecil Kelloway. Fascinated at being able to coin money from such intangible creatures as mermaid and leprechaun, we asked how come.

The leprechaun idea happened back in 1938, in Connecticut, just before the famous hurricane. Walking through the woods, the air still and ominous, they noticed dozens of small creatures, usually invisible, scurrying about anxiously.

"I think there's going to be a hurricane," said Mrs. J. "Nonsense," said Mr. J. flatly, "this is Connecticut, not the Bahamas." "But," said Mrs. J., "suppose there was a hurricane, suppose our cocker flushed a frightened leprechaun?" Mr. Jones remained noncommittal but Mrs. J. could see he was thinking.

They thought on and off for several years, inspired by Mr. J.'s success in writing about an invisible mermaid kept in a bathtub. Eventually the book was written, sold down the Hollywood river. Now, as an antidote to such whimsey, Mr. J. is deep in a book on the Navy, Mrs. J., who is tone deaf, has almost finished a musical comedy. This department has suggested a book about a unicorn and will outline same for a small fee!

Clubwomen Give Views to Congress 'On the Records'

Politicking by transcription is the latest vogue.

Evidence of this is the manner in which some Stuyvesant Town, N. Y., clubwomen let their Congressman literally hear the "Voice of the People" and the way he replied to his constituents. It was all done on phonograph records.

The Town and Village Chapter of Hadassah, national women's Zionist organization, sent Wednesday to Representative Arthur G. Klein of New York, a recording of its views on the Administration's recent reversal of policy on Palestine.

Then other members of the chapter voiced their views. They asserted that unless Palestine partition is supported and enforced, the Jews will become subjects of communism. They also declared they would actively campaign against President Truman if he should be nominated.

Representative Klein replied immediately—by transcription. He agreed with his constituents' stand on Palestine and vowed that he would continue to demand the establishment of a Jewish state there.

What Is Best Finish for Floors

We moved into a new house, which has oak hardwood floors. The floors are very poorly finished and I would like to refinish them. Can you tell me the best way to get light durable floors? From experience, I would not like to use shellac since it wears off too quickly. Varnish has a tendency to darken. Is there any other finish? E. N. S.

The finish for floors seems to be largely a matter of individual preference. As you suggest, shellac and varnish do wear off in the most used places and it is difficult to renew it without redoing the entire floor. For this reason, many people feel that building up a protective coating of wax is the best finish for much used floors. Wax can be easily renewed in the worn areas without the floor looking patched. I would suggest you apply several thin coats of wax, buffing very thoroughly after each coat is dry. Using an electric buffer will help you to get a hard finish. After this first application if you will be careful to touch up worn areas as they appear and give the floor a good all-over waxing whenever necessary to keep the floor sealed against dirt, you will soon build up a good protective coat which will need only occasional attention from then on.

I have several pair of white gloves that have rust on them. These spots have been on the gloves for quite some time. Could you tell me how I could remove the rust spots? K. R.

Rust spots can sometimes be removed by dampening the spot, sprinkling with salt and lemon juice and placing in the sun to dry. This treatment can be repeated if the stain is lightened but not entirely removed. Also, there is a rust remover which is very satisfactory for fabrics. It is sold in the housewares department of large department stores. Follow the directions which come with the product.

I have a silver gray bedroom suite. Can you tell me how to take care of it? Do I use polish or wax? And what kind—liquid, cream or paste wax? E. N. S.

Whether you use polish or wax on your silver gray furniture is a matter of your choice. Using paste wax, you are able to build up a more protective coat than can be achieved by liquid or cream wax. But unless the pieces have unusually hard use, I would say either cream wax or furniture polish would work well. Be sure to apply them thinly and buff thoroughly after each application.

Will you please tell me the difference between unsweetened evaporated milk and unsweetened condensed milk? Which one has the most calories? I always thought that evaporated and condensed milk were the same. P. C. M.

Unsweetened evaporated milk is the familiar unsweetened canned milk which is used so widely for baby feeding. The only condensed milk which is available to the housewife is the very sweet canned condensed milk which is sometimes used in cooking.

There is an unsweetened condensed milk made, but it is usually made only on specification for food manufacturers or other commercial use. This milk is perishable since it is not sterilized and sealed into cans. Of course, the sweetened condensed milk has many more calories than unsweetened evaporated milk. There are 100 calories in one and one half tablespoons of sweetened condensed milk, while it takes four tablespoons of evaporated milk to give 100 calories.

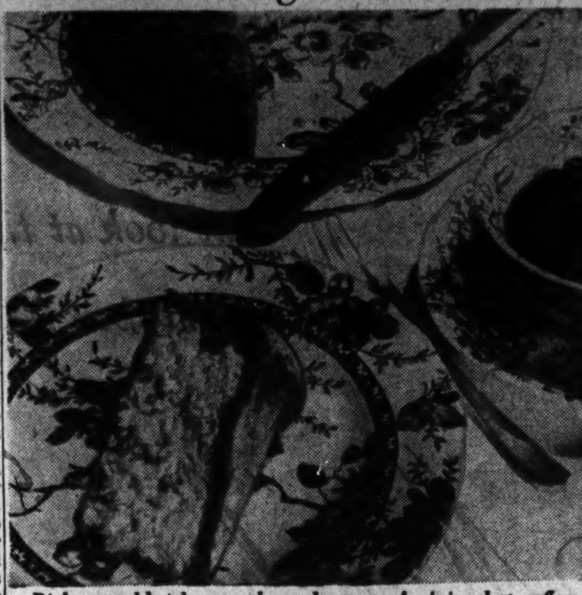
American Cheesecake Recipes Combine Foreign Favorites



Rich, crumbly cheese cake and a cup of piping hot coffee make a delicious ending for a meal. This is chiffon cheesecake with a crust of zweiback crumbs

By Lucia Brown

In Hungary, they call it "Turos Torta" and make it with vanilla sugar.

In the West Indies, they use coconut to give it a tantalizing nutlike flavor.

But, however and wherever it's made, smooth, moist cheesecake is a favorite dessert with many people in many climes.

Here in the United States—where people from all over the world have gathered—cheesecake is made by a great variety of recipes. One thing most of them have in common is a crust, either of buttered crumbs or rich cooky dough.

The crust crumb can be most conveniently made nowadays with zweiback, which seems to possess the crisp but crumbly quality required. Crush the zweiback with a rolling pin, then mix 1 cup of the crumbs with ¼ cup powdered sugar and ¼ cup melted butter and blend thoroughly.

CHIFFON CHEESECAKE

½ pound cottage cheese
2 tablespoons flour
3 tablespoons butter
Dash of salt
3 eggs, separated
1/3 cup sugar
½ cup heavy cream
1 teaspoon lemon juice

Rub cheese through coarse sieve. Blend in flour, soft butter, and salt. Add egg yolks one at a time. Beat until well blended. Add half the sugar, the heavy cream, and lemon juice. Beat egg whites until stiff, then beat in remaining sugar. Fold into cheese mixture. Turn into crumb-lined spring form (5 inches wide, 2 inches deep), bake in slow oven (275 degrees Fahrenheit) 1½ hours, or until firm. This will shrink and fall in center on cooling. Serve when perfectly cold. This recipe makes one small cake. (To line pan, pat crumb mixture against buttered sides and bottom of pan.)

CUSTARD CHEESECAKE

Pastry:
1½ cup sifted flour
1 teaspoon salt
½ cup shortening
1 egg, slightly beaten
¼ cup milk

Filling:
½ pound cottage cheese
1/3 cup melted shortening
1 cup sour cream
4 eggs
3 tablespoons raisins
½ cup sugar

Mix and sift flour and salt. Cut in shortening with pastry blender. Combine egg and milk and add in small amounts to dry material, stirring lightly with fork until all flour is moistened. Shape lightly into a ball. Roll out about 1/8 inch thick on lightly floured board and line a 7-inch spring mold. Combine cheese, shortening, cream, eggs, raisins and sugar, and mix well. Turn into pastry-lined pan and bake in moderate oven (350 degrees Fahrenheit) 45 minutes, or until custard is set. This recipe makes one 7-inch cake or six portions.

Author to Talk At Benefit

horseback through the hills at midnight, fording creeks in pitch black dark, skirting feuding cabins—all this to take medical care to an expectant mother on the other side of the mountain.

The core of the service, of course, is formed by the group of trained midwives plus a resident physician.

While the horse and the mule formerly were the only possible mode of transportation in this section, modern mechanism in the form of the jeep has begun to supplement the horse. The center now employs five jeeps, which perform excellently—but which will never completely replace the horse.

Mr. Brown's return to Washington for a lecture each spring is in the nature of a "sentimental journey." A native of Kentucky, he is personally acquainted with the work of the nursing center and lends his services gladly for the cause. He has been coming to Washington since 1939, with the exception of two years when he was serving in the Navy. This year he has titled his lecture after his latest book, "Seeing Things."

As is the custom, tea will be served following the lecture, and Mr. Brown will be present. The tea is included in the price of the ticket. Information on tickets may be obtained by calling Mrs. Reeve Lewis, jr., Hobart 2121, or Mrs. John W. Davidge, North 0429.

Tricks for Dark Circles

Those dark circles under the eyes will look less noticeable if you practice this simple trick. Blend a tiny amount of cream rouge under your eyes, then cover lightly with powder. By bringing back some of the natural warm skin tones, you'll find the hollows are less obvious.

Engaged Since 1946, and Content to Postpone Marriage Indefinitely, Girl Feels Aggrieved As Younger Sister's Nuptial Plans Take Shape

DEAR MARY HAWORTH: I am having quite a disagreement with my family and I am hoping that your disinterested opinion will promote a fair solution.

I am 21, my sister is 20, and I have been engaged since August, 1946. My fiance (who is 23) and I have tentatively fixed a wedding date several times, but then would agree in favor of postponement, feeling that we were still young enough to wait until we could be more secure financially.

Alice, my sister, became engaged last Christmas; and for a time she and Jim (her fiance) jokingly talked of being married as early as February. Now here is the disconcerting development:

Thinks Sister Is Discourteous

ABOUT a month ago, Jim asked me if Tom and I had settled on a wedding day. I told him it probably would be in August, this year, which is pretty definite; and now I hear that Alice and Jim intend to be married in July,—not a formal wedding such as I want, but a small informal church ceremony.

I feel their plan is unfair, as it will undoubtedly interfere with my plans, and everyone will wonder why we didn't have a double wedding, as is customary. Jim will be barely 21 and has no definite security to offer Alice if they marry in July, and I feel that for their own good, as well as in courtesy to me, they could postpone their wedding until some time after mine.

However, our family is in accord with her plans; and for peace of mind, I would like your estimate of my views. D. L.

Pace Compares To Road-Hog's

DEAR D. L.: You've heard of a road-hog, haven't you?—the motorist who meanders along in the middle of the pike, making no allowances for others approaching from the rear, going in the same direction, who might wish to proceed at faster pace.

Assuming you've ever been out driving, surely you've encountered the breed and thus would testify from experience that their behavior is inconsiderate and tiresome indeed; which will give you some idea of how your emotional resistance to Alice's more decisive temperament looks to me.

At the ages of 20 and 21 respectively, both you and Alice still have time for loitering en route to marriage, if you find single blessedness an enjoyable estate. And it is commendable that you and Tom are content to wait on some measure of financial security before tying the knot—if such is the true explanation of your stalling.

Complainant Is Difficult

BUT if the family cordially approves Alice's choice of husband-to-be, and is in accord with her plan to be married a few months hence, your oft-revised prospectus, whatever it may be today, cannot be argued as sound cause why she should adapt her mate-getting pace to yours.

In all probability neither Alice nor your parents, nor Tom nor you yourself, would bet for sure that you will carry out your present tentative purpose to get married next August, but in the event you do, Alice is taking steps to make things easier on the family budget by having a modest ceremony: that you may splurge on a formal scale, if summer finds you in a mood to say goodbye to maidenhood.

So, to sum up my estimate of your views, it seems to me the gist of your alleged grievance signifies that, characteristically, you are a subtly selfish, difficult personality,—always wanting, and by plausible argument insisting upon, more consideration of your whims than you ever see fit to extend to others' manifest rights. M. H.

Soiled Shades

When window shades become soiled and faded at the lower end, it is by no means the end of their existence. Remove them from the rollers, make a hem in the good part of the shade and tack the shabby end to the roller. They will look like new as the shabby part will show only when the shade is pulled all the way down and the soiled hem will be done away with entirely.

On the Town

DRUMMER MAN GENE KRUPA will put on a one-night stand at the Nightingale Monday night, inagurating the club's new policy. The Nightingale will book as many big name bands at it can get its hands on this summer. . . . Sounds like the town's going band crazy, with all the aggregations moving in for one-night and one-week engagements.

A lot of old timers walked out of the Club Cairo with a nostalgic look in their eyes the other night after the Duncan sisters put on their first show in this town in some years. They went through pretty much the same routine that made them popular with the flappers and their beaux in the "Roaring Twenties." July will mark their twenty-fifth year in show business . . . The Mayo Brothers gave a very good exhibition of precision dancing on a very small stage. It's our bet that Sam Schanker could build a whole show around them . . . Senor Pablo and his magic have been held over from last week, as well as the Henderson dancers.

THE CASINO ROYAL has another dancing show this week with the Three Wellingtons, who do a dance step or two and then make your back ache sympathetically with their acrobatics . . . They're almost proof that the law of gravity can be beaten . . . Charles Kraft, who did very well in London, has a snappy tap routine, and the Virginia Tiff girls get a hand with costumes that have little electric lights in the skirts . . . Of course Pat Lane is femceeing, with Jack "Jive" Shafer providing dance and show music.

The Quonset Inn is getting ready to open its outdoor terrace the last week in May. Meanwhile Lee Carroll is keeping the folks happy with her singing and piano playing . . . If that combination doesn't bring you out for a little night clubing, her good looks certainly will.

Another terrace being readied is the one at Normandy Farm . . . The wisteria is blooming out there and pretty soon the diners will be enjoying the view almost as much as the food.

Tonight Club Kavakos should be jammed with boogie-beat fans. Nellie Lutcher, the recording pianist star, will be there for a week. Nellie has progressed from organ player in a church to one of the top rhythm gals in the country. Her following is large and devoted. Ken Barry is being held over for another week. On occasion Ken will stay on the floor for an hour and keep the crowd in stitches.

WITH shad now in season, a great deal of discussion has taken place as to whether it should be served boned or not. Chef Roux at Olmsted's maintains it should be served with the bone in to preserve the moistness of the fish.

Patrons in the Old New Orleans' Sazerac Room have noticed a greater degree of cooperation between Rita Dimitriou, the singer, and Bob Simpson, the orchestra leader. It's because Rita has made great strides with her English and Bob has been parlez vousing with something akin to a decent accent. Makes for songs in which orchestra and singer finish at the same time—a distinct blessing.

Pop Advises Question Poppers On Leap Year Dangers

This is hard to believe, but I'm told that an old Maryland law states that six visits to the home of an eligible young lady constitutes a legal proposal of marriage.

Will some kind lawyer in the audience please cite chapter and verse?

(Stand by, fellows. Don't make any commitments until we get some expert advice.)

It's good to have them here.
It's kind to send them flowers,
It's nice to say "Yes, dear."

But wise men should show caution
In knowing when to stop.
For many girls are waiting
To hear "that question" pop.
Pop Grey.

MAIL BAG

Dear Bill:

I'm an ardent baseball fan, but each year I get more disgusted with the way the Nats are run.

I'm glad Bluege isn't managing them any more; it's unbelievable that he could be in the game so long and not know any more than he does. Let's hope Kuhel does better.

But even if he does, Griffith will probably continue to trade or sell every good player he gets.

At various times my favorites have been Priddy, Spence, Heath, Newsom, and many others. They're all gone now, and I've shifted my support to Eddie Yost—so I suppose he'll be the next to leave.

Do you think I ought to hook onto Robertson, to be sure that my favorite won't be traded?

Mrs. Margaret Evans
3201 Commonwealth ave.
Alexandria, Va.

Dear Mrs. Evans:

That's not the solution.

Son-in-law Joe Cronin was sold to the Red Sox; Son-in-law Joe Haynes went to the White Sox; and Bucky Harris, who is almost like a son to Griff, also got his walking papers.

So Sherry Robertson might be traded some day, too. Being Griffith's son-in-law plus 5 cents will get a fellow a cup of coffee, but no lifetime job.
Bill.

NICE FOR MAKING CHOPS, STEAKS, BOMBERS

The cook at our house tells me that local grocery and department stores are now selling a new product which should be in every kitchen.

This boon to cookery is nothing more than a thin sheet of aluminum, 1-foot wide and 25-feet long.

Its gauge is so thin (slightly heavier than cigarette tinfoil) that it is packaged in a roll, like paper towels. You tear off as much as you need, leave the remainder in the carton.

Like waxed paper, the aluminum sheet can be used to seal jars and containers of all kinds. But you don't need a rubber band, because it is both pliable and firm. It holds whatever shape you give it, and can be used many times.

In addition, aluminum can be used in broiling, where waxed paper would burn. The pan under the broiler rack can be lined with aluminum to catch drippings and eliminate scouring.

It can also be used as a covering for roasts, to prevent sputtering. This does away with the necessity for cleaning the oven—a feature highly praised by the maid at our house.

So, to humor the cook and maid, I've been buying the stuff. It's much cheaper than hiring a cook and maid.

POWER OF SUGGESTION.

Raleigh Riddle fans may get a clew or a laugh or both from a note from M. Louise Evans of Warrenton, Va., who says:

"I think Big Chief Wind Bag is Washington, D. C., but I can't figure out why."

175 YEARS OF SERVICE

Three more District Liners ask recognition for faithful domestics who, among them, have a record of 175 years of loyal service.

Mary N. Barrow of 515 Cumberland ave., Chevy Chase, Md., reports that Rosie Bumbry has been with her family for the past 55 years.

S. B. Barber of 900 N. Wayne, Arlington, Va., has a word of praise for Margaret Ferrier, who has been his grandmother's cook for 60 years.

And Mrs. E. G. Campbell of 6300 Connecticut ave., Chevy Chase, Md., ties that record with the story of Wilson Butler, who has been with her family through five generations.

Wilson has been at it for 60 consecutive years, and the last time he asked for a day off was in 1922—when he went to the hospital.

The next time I take a day of sick leave to play golf I'll probably think about that story, and feel so ashamed of myself that I'll have to quit after the first 36 holes.

NEW YORK.—Dr. Abraham H. Feller, counsel to the United Nations, gave a dinner party at his home one night for some U. N. officials. While the cocktails were being served, his daughter, Caroline, kept tossing a ball against the wall and catching it. When her father asked her what she was doing, Caroline explained: "Practicing. They put me on the baseball team at school. They made me pitcher" . . . "But why?" asked her father . . . "Well," explained the girl, "my name's Feller."

After Warren Austin's speech at the U. N., reversing the USA stand on the partition of Palestine, some of the delegates seemed puzzled at this strange switch. "The U. N.," said one, "is at the double crossroads" . . . "As I understand it," said another delegate, "the speech said, in effect: 'The United States Government's position is that we must do nothing—at once.'"

In his forthcoming memoirs General Eisenhower will tell the story of how he once put a stop to news leaks by the war correspondents, on the eve of a campaign. Eisenhower called in all the correspondents and revealed to them the complete plans of the campaign—every detail, including the generals involved, their targets, the number of men and weapons, etc. All this, of course, was off the record . . . There wasn't a single news leak. And when the campaign was over a correspondent told Eisenhower: "Don't ever do that to us again. From the moment you confided the plans none of us was able to take even one drink, for fear of talking too much."

The Fate of the Nazis Is Weighed

By Drew Pearson

During the closing months of the recent war, former Secretary of War Robert Patterson remarked to this writer:

Robert Patterson

"I am worried for fear our present determination to punish the Nazi war criminals will cool off. If we are to prevent future war we must convict and punish several thousand of the guilty, and do it right away. If we don't do it quickly, it may never be done."

Secretary Patterson was referring to the tolerant spirit of the American people. What he didn't foresee was that the chief exponent of letting the Nazis off easy would be his own successor—Kenneth Royall, now Secretary of the Army.

During the war, Royall made a brilliant defense of the Nazi saboteurs who landed on Long Island by submarine. Appointed as attorney for the saboteurs, his argument was so able that some people seemed almost convinced they should go free.

Now, before the House Appropriations Committee, he seems equally anxious to forgive other war criminals. In addition, he has summoned Gen. Telford Taylor, able war crimes prosecutor, back to Washington.

Republicans Defend Nazis

Royall's testimony before the House Appropriations Committee, hitherto secret, has now been made public. It reveals that GOP Congressmen John Taber of New York and Richard Wigglesworth, Boston blueblood, were just as anxious as Royall to let Nazi criminals down easily—possibly more so.

Cross-examined by these two Congressmen as to why the anti-Nazi trials weren't stopped, Royall replied:

"Last August we eliminated approximately three fourths of the cases. When I went over there (Germany) I approved that elimination. The reason they were not entirely stopped was that General Clay felt, and convinced me, that to stop suddenly would create a disparity between people who had been de-Nazified and those who had not."

"It is very much of a headache, I think," growled Taber.

"I had very firm views against the whole approach to it originally," chimed in the Secretary of the Army. "When I was there in August I prescribed that only those cases of a limited class could be tried. No additional war-crimes trials will be held except those now in process."

Save Money—Save Nazis

"What would happen if we just pulled the curtain down tomorrow," asked Congressman Wigglesworth, "and said 'no more money'?"

"I don't think it would be terribly serious if we stopped them at all," was Royall's amazing reply. "But I believe the better policy is to let those that are being tried be continued. My initial reaction when I went there in August was exactly what you intimate, that we ought to stop these immediately. I do think the reasons advanced by General Clay were sound."

Cross-examined further by the two Republican Congressmen, the Secretary of the Army made this significant statement about United States policy in Germany:

"I agree entirely," he said, "that the prime objective we have in Germany is to build up a strong Germany both politically and industrially. I fully realize that too great an extension of the de-Nazification trials is a danger that must be reckoned with on both these grounds."

Meanwhile, some of the indictments against the famed Krupp munitions executives already have been dropped, while wires are being pulled to let off executives of I. G. Farben. The latter operated a slave-labor camp where thousands of people were killed.

Capital Chaff

Russell Brines, AP correspondent in Tokyo, reported to AP publishers that General MacArthur has lost a lot of face since the Wisconsin primary. . . . Congratulations to Paul Webb, the Atlanta prosecutor, for his quick crackdown on the Ku Klux Klan . . . The Securities and Exchange Commission is considering the perjury prosecution of a high official of Otis & Co. for his testimony in the Kaiser-Frazer financial deal on which Otis & Co. took a runout powder. . . An orchid to Kiwanis president Dr. Charles W. Armstrong and all Kiwanians for reminding us of Canadian Goodwill Week. Sometimes we forget our best friends. . . . A blue ribbon to the police of Wilmington, Del., for having the safest traffic city in the USA . . . Thanks to Ernie Gross, the State Department has reversed its former reversal on genocide. That's the mass killing of people because of race or religion. We are now demanding a prompt and strong treaty to prevent mass murder. This should make future Nuernburg trials easier and less susceptible to brass-hat or GOP sabotage.

Though Judge Sam Rosenman denies that he even considered taking a job as Truman's counsel and ghost writer, he made two secret trips to the White House recently.

Too late for love

A long, long time ago today . . . I said some things to you . . . To let you know I had my doubts . . . That you were really true . . . I well remember all my words . . .
